way leading from a point at the Corner of

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

SAILOR'S SING HARBOR. Rev. George G. Channing, of Milton, has recently been appointed Chaplain of this Institution—which, under the charge of Superintendent CRANE, is at present in a very flourishing condition. Several acres have been added to the farm which surrounds the buildings, and a large crop of vegetables for the use of the inmates will be raised during the present season. A considerable number of fruit and ornamental trees have also been set out, which, in the process of time, will vastly heighten the natural beauties of the place. There are now thirty-seven inmates of the Institution; a great many of whom are able to work on the farm, and to go fishing down the harbor. Mr. Crane conducts a Sunday School composed of the children of the District.

It may not be generally known that Jefferson Davis may always be seen diligently at work on the grounds of this pleasant retreat. An old poet says:

"It is an ill wind turns none to good."

but whichever way the wind blows, still tells the unfortunate Jeff. in the garments of his wife, by the side of his constant sable companion. On Sundays alone he is chained up, and allowed to rest.

*PERSONAL. We noticed in our streets, a few days since, the familiar countenance of our fellow townsman, Hon. Francis M. Johnson. He has been sojourning in the Old World for some time past, seeking health and pleasure. He has recently returned to his native land, after his trans-Atlantic tour, after an absence of many months—and we are gratified to learn with health greatly improved. May he live long in the enjoyment of it.

THE FOURTH. Before we shall have the opportunity of again greeting our readers, the return of the anniversary of this time-honored day will be numbered with the past. The restoration of peace and quiet to the country, after its tribulation and war, is a befitting subject, on an occasion like this, to call forth our warmest gratitude and thanksgiving. The indications are, that it will receive such a response from the whole people, as preparations are making, in many places,

COMPLIMENT TO OUR TOWNSMAN. The London Examiner, after complacently asserting that Mr. Adams was for the most part educated in England, proceeds to say, that "no man can be freer from boast or bounce, flourish or swagger, exaggeration or shallow enthusiasm than the well-informed and well-bred gentleman, who, fortunately for both countries, has during the last four years represented the Republic here."

ACCIDENT. Dr. Chas. A. Guilmette, with his brother, Dr. James Guilmette, of Dorchester, were thrown from their carriage and severely injured, on Saturday evening last, while riding from Boston to Commercial Point, in consequence of the wheels getting locked in the railroad track.

LIFE IS SHORT AT BEST. It will be noticed under the obituary head, that Dr. L. W. Spear, the celebrated Electric and Magnetic Physician, who has relieved many in this town and vicinity, of their aches and pains; and, we might say, in some instances cured the lame, deaf and blind, has quickly passed from earth. He was taken some ten days since with the pleurisy, and so far recovered as to be able to ride out, and it was thought by his friends to be out of danger; but, alas! he had a relapse, which quickly finished the work.

HE WAS A SON OF THE LATE LEMUEL SPEAR, of this town, and was highly respected for his frank, generous and kind-hearted disposition. He leaves an affectionate wife and daughter; a beloved mother, sister and brother, and a large circle of friends to mourn his sudden departure.

THE HIGH CONSTABLE. On Saturday last Colonel William S. King was sworn into office as Constable of the Commonwealth, under the Police Bill passed by the last Legislature. His headquarters will be at the State House, and he is to have twenty deputies in Suffolk, and one in each of the other Counties of the State. Colonel King has determined to appoint no one to office who has not seen military service during the rebellion. This rule, which will be added to, is an excellent one, and will save applicants much trouble.

THE SEASON. A most glorious one. Hope gladdens the hearts of all. Plenty of moisture—and a bright, brilliant, summer sun, which is drawing vegetation from mother earth, rapidly toward maturity. Our farmers are now harvesting their hay crop, with the prospect of an abundant yield.

ACCIDENT. Rev. Nathaniel W. Hall, of Dorchester, fell and broke his right arm near the wrist, while engaged in trimming a grape vine, on Wednesday last.

Soldiers' Reception in Weymouth.

The citizens of Weymouth will give a grand reception to their returned soldiers on Tuesday next, Fourth of July. A procession will be formed, consisting of temperance organizations, soldiers, citizens and school children, at South Weymouth, another at East Weymouth, which will march to Lovell's Corner, where they will unite and proceed to the Town Hall. The exercises in the hall will be very interesting, we should judge by the programme. Ex Gov. Boutwell will deliver the oration. Near the Town Hall is to be erected a mammoth tent, where the appetite will be tempted by a bountiful collation. A large gathering and a good time is anticipated by our neighbors, and we doubt not that it will prove pleasant to all. Weymouth has done nobly throughout the war. Only a few towns in the State have sent more or braver men to the bloody field of strife. And now, in this, their last act, let it be all, and even more if possible, than the brave heroes really expect, and the crowning glory of Old Weymouth will be complete.

LADIES. Many of our readers have an idea that dry goods are as high now as they were two and three months ago. It is a mistake. Many articles have fallen twenty-five, thirty and forty per cent. during that time. You will be convinced of this fact easily, if you will drop into Cushman & Brooks, on Tremont street, the next time you go to the city. We were surprised one day the present week to find goods offered at such great reduction. Their prices are very reasonable.

RECOVERING. We are pleased to learn that Wm. S. Morton, Esq., who has been quite dangerously sick with erysipelas, is once more able to be up and dressed. May we soon be able once more to see his portly form in our streets, as his pleasant countenance always carries with it pleasure and happiness.

ICE CREAMS. Don't fail to supply your tables with this delicious beverage. Our friend Carver, on Temple street, succeeds most admirably in making a good article—and our friends should send in their orders in season to make sure of their supply for the Fourth.

STATUTES OF MASSACHUSETTS. Ellis on the Commission to prepare for publication the Statutes and Laws of the Province of Massachusetts Bay from the date of the Province Charter, (1692,) to the adoption of the Constitution.

OUR MILITARY STRENGTH. The country is now divided into five grand military divisions. The following are their names and commanders. Military Division of the Atlantic, Major General Meade; Military Division of the Mississippi, Major General Sherman; Military Division of the Tennessee, Major General Thomas; Military Division of the Southwest, Major General Sheridan; Military Division of the Pacific, Major General Halleck.

MIRROR OF FASHIONS. Demorest's Illustrated Monthly for July, is the Grand Jubilee number. It contains the "National Jubilee Prize Song." Illustrated Scenes on the Hudson River. Elegant Steel Plates. Fashions. Poems. Household Guide, and Full Sized Patterns. It is decidedly the richest magazine devoted exclusively to the ladies published.

FOURTH OF JULY. The coming anniversary of our National Independence will be celebrated in Boston with becoming services, and rejoicings. There will be the usual regatta, balloon ascension, concerts, fire-works, procession, oration, dinner, etc. Rev. Mr. Manning of the Old South Church, will be the orator of the day. Admiral Farragut, General Grant, and General Anderson, are to be among the guests of the city on that day. All over the country the day will be observed in a patriotic manner.

MRS. SIGOURNEY. Mrs. Lydia Huntley Sigourney died at her residence in Hartford, on the 10th ult. For half a century her name has been a household word in all American homes. She has been a most voluminous writer, both in prose and verse, having published nearly or quite fifty volumes.

NOTICE. The Directors of the United States Sanitary Commission, in a circular recently issued, suggests that the various Aid Societies throughout the country, be continued for the present, in order to preserve to the Commission the means of communicating with the people, from time to time, upon such topics as concern the continued welfare of returned soldiers; and especially in regard to the more permanent provision which it will be necessary to make for disabled soldiers, incapable of self-support. It is proposed to establish, all over the land, Sanitaria, or homes, for disabled soldiers.

THE Republican State Convention will meet at Worcester, Sept. 14th.

Gen. Grant is report in poor health. He has worked hard, and is now entitled to rest.

NEW STEAMER. The new and splendid steamer City of Newport is expected upon the New York and Newport line in a few days. She is said to be in every respect the most magnificent specimen of naval architecture afloat upon our inland waters. Capt. Brown of the Metropolis will have command of her.—N. Bridgewater Gazette.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT. The expenses of the Soldiers' Reception in Randolph last week were borne by Seth Turner, Esq., who generously appropriated for the occasion the "extra pay" which he received as a member of the Legislature last winter, but against which he persistently voted.

LIFE INSURANCE. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue decides that money received on Life Insurance Policies is not by law either legacy or income; consequently not subject to tax.

FIREWORKS. The young and old will find a large assortment of Fireworks at J. A. McLELLAN'S. Such a collection was never before offered to our citizens, we believe, as now at the store of our townsman. Give him a call.

CHANGE OF TERMINUS. The Newport Line of Steamers hereafter start from pier No. 28, North River, instead of No. 3. This change not only gives additional accommodations to the large and steadily increasing freight business of the line, but will prove a great convenience to passengers; being much nearer the principal hotels, and the chief centres of business.

WORTH REMEMBERING. The explosions of kerosene lamps, which are so common and disastrous, arise from blowing the lamp out from the top, by which means the flame is forced through the tube and ignites the gas generated in the inside of the lamp.

A GOOD EXAMPLE. All minor places at Washington are being filled as they become vacant, with wounded or disabled soldiers; and applications from others are useless.

DIVIDENDS. The Old Colony and Newport Railway Company have declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent, payable on and after July first.

THE Boston, Newport and New York Steamboat Company pays a dividend of five per cent.

NO. V.—PROVERBS FOR THE PEOPLE. "Take heed of an Ox before, an Ass behind, and a Kite on all sides" You will be equally well by avoiding the pernicious mixtures which a skillful bar-server can compound, and are palmed on the public under the name of Bitters. CRIMEAN BITTERS have passed the ordeal of trial in United States Hospitals, and wherever introduced, approved by reputable physicians. Nothing can compare with them as a tonic and alternative. For female weakness, and complaints resulting from it, the Bitters are unequalled. All the organs are strengthened, and a healthy and regular action ensues. See advertisement.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

All the banks of Boston are now National except the Traders.

Over a hundred and twenty thousand soldiers have been disbanded within three weeks; and eighty thousand have, since the 1st of June, passed over the railroads from Washington.

The records of the Libby Prison, with the names of the regiments, date of capture, &c., of every Federal officer and private that ever passed the doors of that prison, have been sent to Washington. The whole number of prisoners there since the war, in round numbers, is 125,000.

A negro washer-woman in Richmond is entitled to the credit of the re-capture of the infamous Dick Turner, the Libby Prison jailer. She discovered his hiding place by finding his name on clothing sent her to wash, and reported the fact to the authorities. Turner was caught in his bed, having a brace of pistols under his pillow.

The total strength of the future "Standing Army" of this country will be nearly as follows: Regular Infantry 45,000; regular Cavalry 14,400; regular Artillery 12,000; colored Troops 50,000; Hancock's Corps 30,000; Veteran Reserve Corps 25,000. 177,000 men.

It has been judiciously decided that passengers alighting from horse or rail cars have the right of way, and those who wish to get into the cars must first give the outcomers reasonable time to leave the cars.

There are said to be six hundred miles of streets in the city of Brooklyn; nearly enough to reach from Brooklyn to Boston and back again, three times by air line.

Never buy goods, says Prentice, of those who don't advertise. They sell so little that they have to sell dear.

The number of engagements in which the army of the Potomac, and detachments of that army, have fought, is one hundred and fifteen, all of which, with four exceptions, were in Virginia.

Samuel Canard, the founder of the Canard line of ocean steamers, died in London, April 28, aged 78. His son, Edward Canard, of (N. Y.) will hereafter manage the steamers.

The Charleston Race Course, where so many Union prisoners are buried, was recently dedicated as a cemetery; the graves having previously been mounded, and a substantial fence erected.

There has been a larger amount of logs got to market on the Kennebec waters this season than for any previous year for several years.

The issue of five cent fractional currency was suspended by the Secretary of the Treasury, with a view to bring into circulation the two and three cent nickels which have been hoarded. Further issues of three cent notes were forbidden by an act passed by the last Congress.

They kill pigs by steam in Chicago. A great iron claw, with five fingers, hooks out the pigs which are quarrelling in the pen below, and lifts the porkers to a gibbet near by, and then plunges them again into scalding water. By the machine fifty porcines are killed, scalded, scraped, cleaned, split and hung in rows ready for salting within an hour.

William Hutchins, of the town of Penobscot, Maine, and a soldier of the Revolution, over one hundred years old, will be in attendance at the Bangor celebration on the Fourth. There are but four of these old patriots living.

The government bounty of three hundred dollars is still paid to men enlisting in the regular army.

Ford's theatre at Washington is to be dedicated on the Fourth of July as the "Lincoln Memorial Temple;" the military authorities having relinquished possession, after holding it seventy-five days.

Funds have been sent to Louisville for the payment up to the first of June, of all troops in Sherman's army who do not go out of service under existing orders.

HAY hardly commands any price in the market now, in consequence of the certainty of an immense crop this season. In some parts of Maine it is freely offered at one dollar per ton. Four months ago it was as high as thirty dollars.

The number of witnesses examined by the government in the assassination trial case was 193; for the defence 163; total number of pages of testimony, (legal cap.) 4,300; making a solid pile of manuscript, somewhat over twenty-six inches high; the arguments will make in addition, 700 pages.

It is said that the shipbuilders of Waldo-boro' Maine, intend to put up this summer, at least ten vessels; from ships down to schooners. Six are now on the stocks, and a barque was launched last Saturday.

The Sun has already crossed the line, and the days will gradually shorten now till the 21st of December.

It is said that a foreign photographic house now makes pocket handkerchiefs with the photograph of the owner in the corner.

In Troy they are inaugurating a new style of pavement with alternate lines of flagstones, two feet wide and six inches thick, divided from each other by three feet of cobble stones. The wheels run on the former, the horses travel on the latter.

The throng of visitors to the tomb of President Lincoln, near Springfield, is so great that a line of omnibuses has been started from that city to accommodate them.

The wife of a South Boston soldier recently gave birth to four children. Such a soldier's wife as that, is worth having.

John Van Buren is said to be one of the confidential friends of President Johnson.

HARPER'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.

The July number of this deservedly popular magazine, from the ever teeming press of the Harper's, has been received. The contents of the number are of an exceedingly interesting character. It opens with a vivid picture, (illustrated) of Prison Life 'at the South, during the rebellion, by a victim of that scourge; followed by another article on "Washoe," (also illustrated,) where the reader is inducted into the secrets of mining in California; Personal Recollections of Abraham Lincoln; and chapter XI in "Our Mutual Friend," by Dickens, etc., etc., interspersed with gems from the Editor's Drawer, sparkling with wit and humor. The July No. commences a volume.

A CARD.

The Officers and Members of the Vulture Engine Company, return thanks to their friends who so kindly furnished them with BUCKETS, and also to the ladies who so kindly assisted in trimming their Engine on the day of the "Soldier's Reception." Such acts of kindness will always be remembered.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN THIRD SERIES, $230,000,000.

By authority of the Secretary of the Treasury the undersigned, the General Subscription Agent for the sale of United States Securities, offers to the public the third series of Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest per annum, known as the

7-30 LOAN.

These notes are issued under date of July 15, 1865, and are payable three years from that date in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U. S. 5-20 Six per cent. Gold-Bearing Bonds.

These Bonds are now worth a handsome premium, and are exempt as are all the Government Bonds, from State, County, and Municipal taxation, which adds from one to three per cent. per annum to their value, according to the rate levied upon other property. The interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest at 7-30 per cent amounts to
One cent per day on a $50 note.
Two cents " " " $100 "
Ten " " " $500 "
20 " " " $1000 "
$1 " " " $5000 "

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscription.

The Notes of this Third Series are precisely similar in form and privileges to the Seven Thirties already sold, except that the Government reserves to itself the option of paying interest in gold coin at 6 per cent., instead of 7 3/10ths in currency. Subscribers will deduct the interest in currency up to July 15th, at the time when they subscribe.

The delivery of the notes of this third series of the Seven Thirties will commence on June 1st, and will be made promptly and continuously after that date.

The slight change made in the conditions of this THIRD SERIES affects only the matter of interest. The payment in gold, if made, will be equivalent to the currency interest of the higher rate.

The return to specie payments, in the event of which only will the option to pay interest in Gold be availed of, would so reduce and equalize prices, that purchases made with six per cent. in gold would be fully equal to those made with seven and three-tenths per cent. in currency. This is now offered by the Government, and its superior advantages make it the Great Popular Loan of the People.

Less than $230,000,000 of the Loan authorized by Congress are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within sixty days, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and Private bankers, throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

JAY COOKE,
Subscriptions Agent, Philadelphia.

Subscriptions will be received by the National Mount Wollaston Bank of Quincy. National Granite Bank of Quincy. First National Bank of Dorchester. Blue Hill National Bank of Dorchester. Union National Bank of Weymouth.

Be Near Me, Lord.

Be near me, Lord, my light and stay,
When fears and doubts perplex my way;
Be near me, when the tempter's wile
Pleads craftily my own heart's guile;
As sunlight breaks through clouds and rain,
Be near me in my grief and pain.

I know thou art not far, O Lord,
From him who walks by thy Word;
I know 'tis but the cloud of sin
That hides Thee from my heart within;
I know Thou dost not veil Thy face
From him who trusts Thy plentiful grace.

But, Lord, my flesh doth faint and fail;
My weak heart sinks; my fears prevail;
Mine eye grows dim; I cannot see
The presence that is life to me;
Hold me, O Lord, that I may know
Thou still art near me here below.

For without Thee, my Christ, my Lord,
I find no joy 'e'en in Thy word;
No promise that is clear to me,
No strength, or hope, or victory;
But all is darkness, doubt, and fear,
In heaven and earth, till Thou art near.

Be near me, Lord, that I may do
At once with all my cares to thee;
And when the traitor thought within
Would parley with the lust of sin,
Thy strength unto my weakness bring;
And keep the fortress for thy King.

Miscellaneous.

A Girl that Would be Married.

Mr. Watts had by industry and economy accumulated a large property. He was a man of rather superior mind and acquirements, but unfortunately became addicted to habits of intemperance. Naturally fond of company, and possessing superior conversational powers, his company was much sought and he became eventually a sot. His wife was a feeble woman, without much decision of character; but an only child was the reverse; illustrating one of those singular laws of nature, that the females oftentimes take the father in character and personal peculiarities, and the males after the mother.

Mary was well aware of the consequences that would inevitably follow her father's course, and had used every exertion of persuasion and reason in her power, to induce him to alter his habits, but without avail; his resolutions and promises could not withstand temptation, and he pursued his own downward course, till the poor girl despaired of reform, and grievously realized what the end must result in.

John Dunn was a young man from the East; possessed of a good education, as all our New England boys are, and possessed their indomitable industry and perseverance, and was working on the farm of a neighbor by the month.

Mary, on going on some errand to the next house, met him on the road with the usual salutation: Good morning, Mr. Dunn!

Good morning, Miss Watts. How is your health?

Well, I thank you; but to tell the truth, sick at heart.

Pray, what is the trouble? said John.

What can effect you? a cheerful, lively girl like you, possessing every thing that can make you happy.

On the contrary—there is enough to make me miserable. I am almost weary of life, but it is a subject I cannot explain to you; and yet I have sometimes thought I might.

Watts, you may freely command.

That is promising more than you would be willing to perform. But to break the ice at once, do you want a wife?

A wife! Well, I don't know. Do you want a husband?

Indeed I do, the worst way. I don't know but you may think me bold, and deficient in that maidenly modesty becoming a woman; but if you knew my situation, and the afflict

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRIETORS OF THE CELEBRATED

MACHINE-GRAINED

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber

Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins

and fibres of the natural grains are molded

from the real wood, from which is impressed

a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus producing upon any painted or bare wood surface

a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity

and with natural and more artistic beauty, than

can possibly be created by the most skillful

hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call

and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Crimean Bitters.

The basis of Romaine's Crimean Bitters is Calceola—the most efficacious variety of Peruvian Bark—with which are combined other Medicinal Plants, Roots and Extracts, chiefly the products of Asia and South America, and each of the highest scientific repute for the cure of diseases for which this is recommended.
No article in the least degree pernicious is used,
and the utmost caution is exercised in the selection of materials to insure the highest degree of curative value, and in all respects the present high standard of this preparation will in no case be departed from.

REGULATES THE BOWELS.
CORRECTS MORBID SECRETIONS.
PURIFIES THE BLOOD.

We do not ask you to credit our own assertions, therefore read the TESTIMONIALS.

TESTIMONIALS.
TONIC AND RESTORATIVE.

Dr. J. A. Mendenhall, Surgeon in charge of United States Hospital, New York, N. Y., says, "I experienced very much benefit from the use of your Bitters, after a severe attack of typhoid fever, and was enabled to resume my duties in a much shorter time than I expected after so severe an illness. My appetite was restored, and Digestive Organs resumed their functions quickly. An article prepared so carefully as it is, and from so many valuable ingredients, cannot in my opinion, fail to do good when properly used."

In Dyspepsia, with its attendant symptoms, Indigestion, Nausea, Loss of Appetite, Lowness of Spirits, Flatulence, Sick Headache, Lassitude, Dyspepsia, etc., its efficacy is abundantly attested by the certificates appended, and will be immediately apparent upon a trial. Do not expect that Crimean Bitters will cure every case of Dyspepsia. In such as have become Chronic, we can only promise relief; but in ordinary cases, we can only say, "I have cured you." By the use of our Bitters, you will find that we are not only a few years' stand, but we are in the use of our Bitters, and a proper regard to exercise and regimen, when either essential to the cure, or as a tonic, when the system is weak.

Dyspepsia—From the Hon. Robert Morris, of Kentucky, so extensively known to the Medical Faculty of the United States.
N. Y. N. Y., July 15th, 1864.
Dear Sir: I have lived in the Southern States much of the time in Mississippi—for more than twenty years, and have had my share of those complaints that affect the liver and produce Dyspepsia. They have rendered a regular use of your Bitters a medical necessity to me, and I am familiar with the action of all the standard Bitters of the day. In my opinion none of them is so efficacious as the Crimean Bitters. I have cured myself of Dyspepsia as Chronic Bitters. I say this after a trial upon my own system and upon others to whom I have recommended them. I believe, if they were freely used by persons whose systems are deranged, they would relieve and eventually cure large proportions of such cases.

Hon. J. A. Mendenhall, United States Senator of California, says, "Your Crimean Bitters are excellent for indigestion, correcting disorders, irritation of the stomach, and the creation of a wholesome appetite. They pleasantly excite, but follow by no means excessive reaction.
They are the best Bitters I have ever used."

The above are written records, and thousands of verbal statements echo them from other sources.

G. W. PLATT, Esq., Assistant Assessor Inter-tax, New York, Fourth District, New York, says:
"I am from the nature of my duties, exposed to all the different phases of weather, often saturated to the person, wet feet, etc., and have, as a consequence, been afflicted with colds, chills, etc., and for a long time with Rheumatism; but since using the Crimean Bitters, I have felt none of the effects of bad weather, and my Rheumatism is entirely disappeared."

My son, who is in the army of Gen. Grant, writes to me as follows: "Father, when an opportunity offers, do not fail to send me some Crimean Bitters, for you cannot imagine what a valuable relief they are after exposure. I am never without them sleeping on the ground, or getting wet, and I use them."

NEURALGIA.
JERSEY CITY, Jan. 26th, 1864.

DEAR SIR, I have been for two years past much afflicted at intervals with neuralgia in the back of neck and head, and had used all the usual remedies for that disease, as prescribed by my physician, but without permanent relief. I am happy to state that the use of a bottle of your Crimean Bitters has completely subdued the affliction, and I have not experienced any attack since.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN THIRD SERIES, $230,000,000.

By authority of the Secretary of the Treasury
the undersigned, the General Subscription Agent for the sale of United States Securities, offers to the public the third series of Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest per annum, known as the

7.30 LOAN.

These notes are issued under date of July 15, 1865, and are payable three years from that date in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U. S. 5-20 Six per cent. Gold-Bearing Bonds.

These Bonds are now worth a handsome premium, and are exempt as are all the Government Bonds, from State, County, and Municipal taxation, which adds from one to three per cent. per annum to their value, according to the rate levied upon other property. The interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest at 7.30 per cent amounts to
One cent per day on a $50 note.
Two cents " " " $100 "

Ten " " " $500 "
Twenty " " " $1000 "
$1 " " " $5000 "

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscription.

The Notes of this Third Series are precisely similar in form and privileges to the Seven Thirties already sold, except that the Government reserves to itself the option of paying interest in gold coin at 6 per cent, instead of 7 3-10ths in currency. Subscribers will deduct the interest in currency up to July 15th, at the time when they subscribe.

The delivery of the notes of this third series of the Seven-thirties will commence on the 1st of June, and will be made promptly and continuously after that date.

The slight change made in the conditions of this THIRD SERIES affects only the matter of interest. The payment in gold, if made, will be equivalent to the currency interest of the higher rate.

The return to specie payments, in the event of which only will the option to pay interest in Gold be availed of, would so reduce and equalize prices, that purchases made with six per cent. in gold would be fully equal to those made with seven and three tenths per cent. in currency. This is

The Only Loan in Market

now offered by the Government, and its superior advantages make it the Great Popular Loan of the People.

Less than $230,000,000 of the Loan authorized by Congress are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within sixty days, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and Private Bankers, throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

Subscriptions will be received by the

Quincy, Dec 10

For the Patriot.
Fourth of July, 1865.

BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

Ding, dong, ding, the sound comes on the gale,
Boom, boom, boom, the cannons tell the tale;
"Tis Independence day, huzza!
Huzza, huzza, huzza!"

Our fathers, sons, and brothers come Triumphant from the war,
They bear aloft a broken chain,
A banner purged from Slavry's stain.

Sound, sound, sound, the tramp of Liberty,
Shout, shout, shout, 'tis Freedom's Jubilee;
The bloody battle-cries are o'er,
And stilled the 'larum drum.

Sweet smiling peace returns once more
To lead our warriors home,
Bring garlands for the conqu'ring brave,
Who broke the yoke and freed the slave.

Stand, stand, stand, again 'tis Freedom's call,
Stand, stand, stand, for Freedom's rights to all;
Let all who honor righteous laws
Who bear our father's seal

Have equal rights, and equal care,
To seek the coming wage,
And cursed be the traitor clan
Who trample on the rights of man.

Now, now, now, on Independent day,
Vow, vow, vow, to give no rights away;
To make the wrongers cause your own,
And guard with jealous care,

To beat th' accursed oppressor down;
And break the traitor's snare,
Sustain the cause for which you fought,
And guard the prize your valor bought.

Scraps.

A good story is told of a Yankee hackman who was engaged to convey two Englishmen about the environs of Boston, including, of course, Bunker Hill. After going up and inspecting the monument the Englishmen returned to the hack, where the driver was quietly waiting for them. "I say, driver," says one of the Englishmen, "this is the place where we Englishmen gave you Yankees a thrashing about eighty years since."

"Well," says the driver, "don't know as I ever heard tell about that; but who owns the land now?"

How little do we know the real state of those whom we say are our companions. We are apt to think of their outward circumstances, not their inward feelings, when we speculate on their happiness or their misery.

A pious utterance, resulting in the voice of a long and dreary death, being asked by a Christian visitor, "Are you not sometimes afraid in your lonely situation, especially in the winter?" replied, "Oh no, for Faith shuts the door at night, and Mercy opens it in the morning."

"The human race is divided into classes—those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit still and inquire—'Why wasn't it done the other way?'"

"What a passion you are in?" said the Rain to the Brook, "splashing and fussing and making such a noise." "I was quiet enough until you came, said the brook—" but that's the way with people that pick quarrels; they always throw the blame on those they trouble."

A Quaker once hearing a person tell how much he had felt for another who was in distress and needed assistance, dryly asked him,
"Friend, hast thou felt in thy pocket for him?"

Without temperance there is no health, without religion no happiness; and the aim of our being is to live wisely, soberly, and righteously.

If the wife of a Japanese don't suit him,
he can send her back to her parents and try again. That is to say all wives are "warranted" in Japan.

The most beautiful results are produced by the conjunction of opposites; it is the sunshine and the cloud that make the rainbow.

Let that which is out of your power be out of your care.

A little boy hearing his father say, "There is a time for all things," clung up his hand his mother's chair, and, whispering in her ear, asked:

"When is the proper time for hooking sugar out of the sugar bowl?"

An unsophisticated countryman, the other day, coming to Washington, saw a military officer, followed at a respectful distance by two orderlies in full gallop. "Good gra-tious?" said he, "haven't they caught him yet? I was in about three weeks ago, and they were running after him then."

An accident occurred on one of the English railroads recently and several persons were killed. A young nobleman was seen running about in search of his valet, whom he feared was among the victims. Presently one of the guards came up and said to him:

"My lord, we have your servant, but he is cut in two." "Then," said the titled lord with a regular Duncey drawl, "be good enough to see in what half he has got the key of my carpet bag?"

A thick-headed squire being worsted by Sydney Smith in an argument, took his revenge by exclaiming, "if I had a son who was an idiot, I would make him a parson."

"Very likely," replied Sydney; "but I see your father was of a different opinion."

"Good morning, neighbor Snooks; a fine rain we had."

"Yes, neighbor, delightful."

"If it comes warm after this, we shall have everything coming out of the ground directly."

"Heaven forbid—I have two wives under it."

Miscellaneous.

The South.
To the Publisher of the Patriot:

We make the following interesting extracts from a Discourse lately preached by Rev.
Charles Lowe, of Somerville, on the Condition and Prospects of the South, which we believe would be interesting to your readers.

"I do not pretend to any political knowledge, but I do claim to have had a good opportunity for observing Southern people as they are to-day in South Carolina and Georgia, as I have seen them, in their homes and in their public meetings, and I have no hesitation in saying that, in my judgment, to give them now their wonted political rights, would be, if not to imperil again all for which we have fought, at least to retard unnecessarily
the establishment of peace and order."

"I believe the only safe course is to continue to hold military control of the conquered States until the condition of things shall have changed."

"They are as easily influenced and versatile as they are intense in the feelings they chance to hold; and I see no reason why, if a proper method of dealing with them is pursued, we may not expect within a reasonable period, a pleasant harmony between the people of the two divided sections of our land."

"I say, if a proper method is pursued; and this method I believe to be, while affording them protection and kindness, and unrestricted business and industrial opportunities,—to keep a firm hold upon them that shall restrain them from every act of disobedience, and continually compel their respect."

"A little consideration of the principles of human nature, I think, makes the good sense of such counsel to appear. We know that if a man under excitement is allowed to speak his mind and act his will, the very giving vent to his feelings increases them, while it occasions antagonism on the part of their object, such as might lead to violence and harm. I could see at the South many points of irritation where, if the Southern people were allowed to act untrammelled, they would be led to say and do what would lead to equally excited acts and words on the other side; and finally, to serious difficulty, when I was sure, that, if the feeling could be repressed, until familiarity with the new state of things enabled the irritation to subside, a gradual acquiescence would be ensured. In fact, it is a simple application of accepted principles of surgery. The treatment of a ragged wound is, while trusting chiefly to nature's recuperative power—yet first to bring the parts together, and bind them by a firm bandage in their place till there has been time for the flesh to heal, and the ligaments to unite. Precisely the same principle holds for the cementing of these torn ties of sentiment and brotherly feeling. The natural working of social intercourse will be the proper cure; but the parts need bandaging for a while. And the simplest compress is a strong military force."

"I did not hear of an instance of intoxication among the blacks during the whole of my stay; and hardly did I hear an angry or excited word. Colonel Woodford, who commanded Charleston the first month after the evacuation, told me an incident that illustrates the good behavior of the blacks. The first few weeks of our occupation were attended with much excitement, and the negroes could do little else than manifest their joy. They had frequent meetings, at which many enthusiastic speakers, from the North, made congratulatory harangues. And soon it was proposed to have a grand procession to celebrate the glad event. While arrangements for this were in progress, a committee of the former citizens of Charleston waited upon Colonel Woodford, and made earnest protestations against his allowing this procession. They said they knew, as no one could know who had not lived among them, the nature of these people, and that such a procession would greatly endanger the security of the city. They said their own people, irritated by the sight, might be led to do some indiscreet things, which might lead to disturbance, and no one could tell where it would end. They entreated him at any rate to put a formidable guard along the whole route to be proposed to take. Colonel Woodford replied somewhat curtly to their representations. He said the procession should take place, and instead of making the additional precautions they proposed, he should remove the usual guards from all the streets through which it was proposed to pass; and he warned them if the white citizens should attempt any of their indiscreet things, it would be worse for the city. The procession was held, and numbered thousands of people. They carried garlands and banners,—and sang "John Brown," and "Star Spangled Banner," and "Union Forever," and made the streets echo with their cheers; but there was no more disturbance of the peace than there was this last week, at the funeral procession in Boston. I attended a holiday festival in Charleston, at which ten thousand blacks were assembled, with not a single policeman on the ground, and did not hear of a single accident or breach of order.

"On the islands their capacity for good demeanor under freedom has been yet more effectually put to the test. According to the policy inaugurated by General Sherman, a certain portion of land, such as they may select, is assigned to the colonists, and they proceed to plant and prepare a home. It is inevitable that, in the confusion of locating scores in a day, mistakes may be made in the boundaries of land, and a thousand occasions of dispute may arise out of such hasty arrangements. Yet during the whole process, no serious difficulty has occurred. And out of the whole number thus provided for, thirty thousand are already self-sustaining."

"In Georgia the policy has been tried of local government on the various islands, managed entirely by the blacks, and with gratifying results. The people of the island choose their governor, and their other officers from among themselves, and frame their own municipal regulations. I made minute enquiries into their condition, and so far as I could learn, it is very creditable."

Artemus Ward down East.

Artemus Ward said that he only wanted to make enough to buy a farm and then he should feel he had not lived in vain. I don't want to live in vain. I'd rather live in Westbrook! I show my picture shop;
I do not sing. I give my pianist five hundred dollars a night and his washing; but as I said, I'm not a singist—not a success in that line. My agent once got a loan of me of sixteen hundred dollars to lift a mortgage. A good fellow he was, and it was gratifying to me to accommodate him;
to see him "lifting" that mortgage. When I came to settle, I told him I would do the fair thing by him, and as he had always been a good fellow, I would throw off half and call it eight hundred dollars. He was grateful, and declared that he would reciprocate my kindness, throw off the other eight hundred and call it square!

Brigham Young has eighty wives, besides those which are only "sealed," and not with him.

"He loves not wisely,
And too [hundred] well."

The Vice President has two thousand head of cattle, and two hundred head of wives.
They have an awful appetite. I once thoughtlessly gave a family ticket to an Elder, to attend my lecture. He came and filled the whole house. 'Twas a success that night, but I didn't get any money. The seventeen wives of a deceased Elder tried to weep; they have a sigh—(seventeen sighs—a sigh of considerable size.) They put their soft white hand in mine, (seventeen hands!) surrounding me. There I was alone, away from my parents! I exclaimed, I hope you have no dishonorable intentions! As I took myself away, they said in their grief, It is too much.
That was just the thing that troubled me in their request—and so I said, It is too much.

When captured by the Indians, I saw descending on me, the glistering thomas hawk in the morning light. I had no reinforcements—no pontoons—no last ditch with me, and I had no female alive, so I set boldly,
I surrender! I was allowed to march out with my side-arms, and green cotton underneath my aunt at Saccarap had given me.
I didn't feel afraid—not I—for I had exposed my life before. I once stood at Centerville and saw thousands of bullets—those leaden messengers of death! thousands of them passing close by me—packed in boxes and wagons.

Scolding People

There is a very unanimous conviction among all classes of persons that a scold in the household is one of the most uncomfortable nuisances with which a family can be plagued. This being so universally agreed upon, it is a wonder that scolding people are not afraid to risk themselves in our families;
that they do not hide themselves from human observation. The trouble seems to be that scolds seldom suspect themselves of being scolds. They do not see themselves as others see them, or they would betake themselves to the woods or the wilderness.

It is a great misfortune to have children reared in the presence and under the influence of a scold

country, and has been wonderfully stimulated by an extensive system of railroads. When it is remembered that the entire American population in the Pacific States and Territories does not probably exceed 600,000, the number in San Francisco is the more astonishing.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, July 15th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

A National Sailors' Home.

We are pleased to learn that the Trustees of the National Sailors' Home have purchased of Messrs. Dehon and Eaton, a large tract of land in this town, for a home for the aged mariners, belonging to the United States' service. It comprises from seventy-five to one hundred acres, and consists largely of land which in former times was well known as the Fenno Farm. It is bounded northerly by land of Hon. Josiah Quincy, easterly by the Bay, southerly by the marshes bordering on Black Creek, and westerly by a line running between the residences of President Eaton and William Dehon, Esq. Thus our readers will notice that the pleasant home of Mr. Eaton, President of the Horse Railroad, and most of the land now occupied by his fine nursery, is included in the sale. The Trustees have two hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars to start this great institution, and have the brightest hopes of obtaining from Congress, when the Home has been well established, three to five hundred thousand dollars more. Our readers will thus perceive that there is a good prospect of having one of the greatest institutions of the country in our midst.

The Trustees in purchasing this property have made one of the best selections that could be found in the State. It is only six miles from the city; within a few minutes' walk of the steam and horse cars; bordering on one of the most beautiful bays in the country, and in fine view of the beautiful islands in Boston harbor.

It is expected that a thousand men will be employed on this farm when it is under full success.

The Trustees have also purchased the handsome buildings on the Turnpike, formerly owned by Mr. Josiah Bass, and are moving the same upon their new premises, where they will be used to house the sailors in their present size.

PUBLIC SCHOOL. The School Committee have been very busily engaged the past fortnight in examining the public schools in this town. Having completed their labors the teachers and scholars bid adieu to their school rooms yesterday, and went to their homes with light hearts; their minds undoubtedly filled with pleasant thoughts of the good time they are to have during their long summer vacation. Before another week closes many will be miles away; others perhaps will spend many hours pleasantly in the bushes in this town and vicinity, which are said to be loaded with berries.

OUR SERENADE. We would offer our acknowledgments to our friends for the delightful serenade they gave us on Wednesday night. Their exquisite music so rang in our ears that they lingered around our slumbers, and were first in our thoughts on our awaking.

THE QUINCY FARM. Through the kindness of a friend we had the pleasure on Saturday last of visiting this model milk farm of Norfolk County, for a few moments. We were much surprised and pleased, to find so much order, system, and many modern improvements for carrying on the business successfully. Mr. Rice, a king in the way of a farmer, understands this business to perfection, and a lucky gentleman was Mr. Quincy when he secured his services. There are but a few cows on the farm at the present time, which are kept in the barns most of the hours of the day and fed with grass, grain &c. The average amount of milk made on the farm through the winter season is nine hundred quarts per day.

THE SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE SEVEN-THIRTEES Wednesday were over six millions. Only about eighty-five millions of this loan are now left, and, at the present rate of subscription, the whole sum will be absorbed in fourteen days. The probabilities is, however, that the remaining portion of the loan will be exhausted in a week, and there is no likelihood that the Government will offer so large a rate of interest again.

SUMMER HATS. A better assortment of Summer hats of all kinds, qualities and prices, we believe was never offered our citizens, as can now be found at the store of Mr. Geo. L. Gill. Adapted for gentlemen, for youth, and for children. Those in want will do well to examine.

DOGS. The slaughter of unlicensed dogs still continues in Boston and all the towns and cities of this Commonwealth. The average number killed per day in Boston is 200.

The Quincy Horse Railroad.

FOURTH ANNUAL DINNER.

On Saturday last the employees of the Quincy Horse Railroad, with the reporters of the press, partook of a bountiful dinner, at the residence of the Superintendent. It was prepared in an excellent manner under the direction of a skilful Cook, by order of the President and Directors. The managers of this road, we are happy to say, know how to do the agreeable to the men in their employ; and by their generosity, kindness, and straightforward dealing, have won the confidence of the employees; and, not only this, but have been able to secure the best of workmen. No horse railroad in Massachusetts can boast of more courteous and obliging conductors and drivers—such names as McRea, White, Beckford, Gould, Moore and Brackett—Hardwick, Foster, Wiley, O'Brien and Cunningham are familiar to the travelling community, and may their smiling countenances continue to greet us for years to come.

After doing ample justice to the repast, the company past a vote of thanks to the officers of the road—most of whom have been connected with it since its commencement. It is also a remarkable fact, and very commendable to the road, that nearly two-thirds of the men employed, were present at the opening of the road. Railroad men are apt to be changeable like printers.

The Regular Toast.

The Officers of the Road—here's health to them all, respect to their wives, peace to their descendants and may they be blessed with long happy lives.

This brought forth the indefatigable Superintendent, Mr. Cook, who in behalf of the employees paid a high tribute to the officers, and gave a very interesting account of the road from its opening. From which we give the following items:—

The road has been in operation upwards of three years and is now well started on its fourth. It is managed by one superintendent, six conductors, six drivers, three engineers, one wood-worker, two blacksmiths, one painter, six hostlers, four repairers of track, and two watchmen; the business of the last mentioned is to see that everything is well cared for at all hours of the night. Total number employed is thirty-two.

During the last winter they were compelled to keep ninety horses, in order that all their trains might be carried through with promptness and despatch. Twelve horses were kept in such stables, which young almost constant employment during the tedious hours of the long winter nights, while their most worthy patrons were generally sleeping in their warm and delightful beds; eighteen were kept as leaders so that there should be no delay; and sixty were kept for their regular business—these, too, at a time when hay was from forty to forty-five dollars per ton and meat at two dollars per bushel. Each horse consumes seven quarts of meal per day, and about one hundred pounds of hay per week. The first car leaves at twenty minutes before six in the morning, and the last gets in at twenty minutes past one at night; at half past two o'clock all is still and quiet; at three o'clock they commence feeding for the day.

Since the return of Spring the Company have placed on their track two dummy engines at a cost of upwards of twelve thousand dollars, together with their expensive alterations, turn-tables, &c., will amount to upwards of twenty-two thousand dollars. Yet with all this heavy amount of outlay, and the enormous expenses of the past year, when the cost of carrying on horse railroads have been nearly treble of ordinary time, they have been unable to hire, purchase, or procure in any way or manner a suitable and convenient piece of land, twenty feet square, for a turn-table, at the terminus of the road. The public street being too narrow, the only place that would answer the purpose being the land of Hon. Charles F. Adams.

The Second Regular Toast.

The ancient town of Quincy—the birth-place of two Presidents—the Adams family; may they soon appreciate the duty which they owe to the public, and furnish without delay a few feet in a remote corner of their vast estate, for the use of a turn-table. This again brought forward the Superintendent, who spoke of the great inconvenience the public are subject to, in changing cars; and, the great expense of the Company in keeping horses to travel over two miles of road which might be done by the dummy engines. He also returned thanks of the Company to Francis Williams and Adams Curtis, Esqs., for their generous offers of land for a turn-table, which would have been kindly accepted if it had been convenient and suitable.

The Third Regular Toast.

The patrons of the road—the Ladies. May they never want for homes, nor friends to cheer them.

This brought forward one of the oldest conductors, who spoke in high terms of the praise which they had received on all parts of the road.

CLOTHING. Gentlemen visiting the city in pursuit of Clothing will find Bennett & Co., 14 and 15 Dock Square, one of the most honorable and upright places to trade, there is in Boston. It is a one price house, and the goods are all plainly marked.

The West Roxbury Murder.

The terrible deed which so shocked the community a few weeks ago, and made a deeper impression upon the public mind than almost any other domestic crime, is likely to be brought to the light and the murderer punished. Some three weeks since the Chief of the Police of Boston, received information that one John Stewart, who had resided in West Roxbury with an aunt, was the guilty party; later he received from two other independent sources, information to the same effect, with the addition that Stewart had confessed his guilt. Detectives Heath and Jones immediately proceeded to the Aunt's residence, where Stewart is said to have called on the evening of June 12th, the day of the murder, with one of his hands cut and his clothing covered with blood. It was ascertained that Stewart had enlisted in the 11th regiment regular infantry, U. S. A., and that he was at Fort Independence, the headquarters of the regiment, where he was arrested on Saturday last, and carried to Boston. On Monday he was taken to Dedham and arraigned before Justice Worthington. As the case was not ready for examination, the prisoner was fully committed to jail for his appearance on Wednesday the 19th inst. In the mean time the Grand Jury for Norfolk County will convene, and this matter will probably be acted upon by them.

Stewart is an accomplished bounty jumper and has followed that rascally business some time. He denies all knowledge of the crime, and when spoken to about it said, "I am bad enough, God knows, but I was never bad enough to commit a murder." He says he has ample evidence to prove where he was at the time of the murder, to establish his innocence. He acknowledges to having enlisted and deserted once, and says his greatest fault is drinking.

The accused says he is twenty-two years old, and that he was born in Ireland. He has a mother living in Pennsylvania. He is of small stature, weighing 145 or 150 pounds, has a light complexion and wears a light moustache and whiskers. He is not a dangerous looking fellow.

Counterfeit one hundred dollar bills, United States greenbacks, are in circulation.

Last hours of the Conspirators.

However painful to the community may be the narration of the following facts, the justice of which cannot fail to command the approval of all who have taken pains to follow the evidence as it has been presented, and who have learned the desperate character and undoubted criminality of the culprits. The people breathe freer after its accomplishment than they did while the sentence was pending. The President has had a hard duty to perform. He has shown great firmness in discharging it; and once more the country feels that there is a Government; and traitors, that their crimes will not be permitted to go unwhipped of justice.

The execution of the conspirators passed off in a quiet manner, the arrangements being carried out with military precision.

In their interviews with their spiritual advisers, all of the prisoners acknowledged their guilt, except Mrs. Surratt, who to the last maintained that she had nothing to do with the murder of the President.

The condemned were brought to the scaffold about half past one o'clock, accompanied by officers and soldiers.

Mrs. Surratt was on the scaffold next to the Penitentiary; then came Payne, Harold, and Atzerott.

A clergyman attended each on the scaffold. Harold shed tears before the cap was drawn over his face.

Payne was stoical and said nothing, looking mostly towards the sky.

Atzerott cried and kept saying: "Gentlemen, take care, (or beware); good bye. I hope to meet you in a better world."

Mrs. Surratt said nothing. She seemed to be very weak. The priest held the cross to her lips until the last moment.

Payne's clergyman returned thanks at his (Payne's) request, to General Hartraut and other officers of the prison, for kindness shown him.

All were hung in manacles, save Mrs. Surratt.

The bodies hung until two o'clock when they were cut down. Life was found to be extinct on examination by the army Surgeon. The moment the execution was over, all civilians were ordered out of the prison yard. Four soldiers performed the execution.

Graves were dug near the scaffold and coffins were beside them, ready for the occupation.

The military authorities at Washington, after due deliberation, have concluded to deliver the bodies of the four executed convicts to their friends for burial.

New Music. We have received from the publisher, W. J. Demorest, 39 Beekman street, New York city, "The National Jubilee Song" which is a one hundred dollar piece, and also "Everybody's Love Song". They are got up in beautiful style and may be had at thirty cents each, by addressing as above.

REMOVED. We are sorry to learn that our young Surgeon and Physician, T. F. Sumner, is about to move from Quincy to Dedham. He has been with us more than a year, and cannot help being missed by many in this place. Quincy has an abundance of physicians and a few to spare, for this reason, his field of labor has undoubtedly been limited, but we are happy to say, it has met with the best of success. The Doctor for children is excellent, and has received many high encomiums. We hope the citizens of Dedham will give him more chance to show his excellent ability and knowledge; if so they cannot help appreciating his services.

BALLOU'S DOLLAR MONTHLY. The August number of this interesting and cheap work is thus early before us. It appears to be unusually well filled with miscellaneous matter, which will certainly please the masses. Published by Elliot, Thomas & Talbot, 83 Congress Street, Boston, and for sale at the Quincy Bookstore.

MONEY REFUNDED. A town meeting recently held in Braintree, it was voted to refund money that has been advanced for recruiting purposes. A Committee was also appointed to report to a future meeting in relation to the monument proposed to be erected in memory of deceased soldiers.—Randolph Transcript.

BOOTS AND SHOES. It gives us pleasure to inform those who may want nice custom boots and shoes that there is a shop opened in the Square, near the Stone Church, by our young townsman, John E. Drake. It offers a good opportunity to many who in former times have been at a loss to know where to go for a nice article. Mr. Drake, is a good workman and keeps none but the first class men in his employ; for this reason he gives perfect satisfaction.

NO. VII.—PROVERBS FOR THE PEOPLE It is not the Cow that maketh the Friar.—Yes, too many things bear the semblance of good, yet are morally and physically injurious and debasing. Thousands have been deceived by nostrums, because the credulous many believe the statements of unprincipled men, whose aim is filthy lucre. CRIMEAN BITTERS were subjected to trial, prior to their introduction to the public in United States Hospitals, and received the approval of all the Surgeons. Each bottle contains double the exhilarant and tonic power of any Bitters ever vended to the public. See advertisement.

The latest idea is the introduction, on railroad trains, of soda fountains. They have just been put on the trains of the Little Miami Railroad.

DINING ROOMS.

The Hancock House Dining Rooms, 16 Court Square, Boston, are among the best in the city. We have often of late been under the necessity of procuring a dinner, or lunch, while in Boston, and no place has attracted our attention so much, as at this quiet resort. It is just far enough from the main streets to be free from all noise and dust, and still it is light and pleasant. There is an Eating Room for ladies as well as gentlemen, and we can assure all who visit them, that they will find attentive waiters, and the best of meats, pastries, &c., that are offered anywhere to our knowledge.

FIRE AT HINGHAM. The barn of Solomon Lincoln, Esq., situated near the residence of Governor Andrew, was, with its contents, entirely destroyed by fire on Saturday last. A valuable colt recently presented to the son of the Governor, was in the barn at the time, but was rescued without injury.

BRADFORD ACADEMY held its 61st anniversary, Wednesday. Address by Rev. Dr. Stone. The Governor and Dr. Anderson also took part. A dinner and reunion followed. Attendance very large.

THE LITTLE WANDERERS sung sweetly, Tuesday evening, and Rev. Mr. Toles related touching scenes in connection with his labors. A collection was taken, three gentlemen giving fifty dollars.

NOTICE!

TO Mary Smith of Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk and to any and all other persons claiming any interest in forty gallons of Ale in one Barrel, and in said barrel, which, by virtue of a warrant issued by me, have been seized at the dwelling house of said Mary Smith, in Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk, on the third day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, the value of which I quote, with the vessel containing them, should not, in my opinion, exceed twenty dollars.

You are hereby required to appear before me, James Humphrey, Esq., a Trial Justice within and for said County, at my office in Weymouth, on MONDAY, the twenty-fourth day of July, inst., at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to answer to the complaint against the said liquor, and the vessels containing them, and for trial, and to show cause, if any you have, why the said liquor, and the vessels containing them, should not be forfeited, for being kept for sale by the said Mary Smith, in violation of the laws of this Commonwealth.

Witness my hand and seal at Weymouth, the third day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.

JAMES HUMPHREY, Trial Justice.

Dividends have always been made annually in cash, and are available when parties insure, or sooner than in any other Co. in the United States.

The Dividends of the Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co., are larger than those of any other, consequently the cost of insurance in it is less than in any other. Comparison will confirm this.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, July 22d, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

The Rose Standish.

Allow us to make a suggestion to our numerous readers, who are desirous of a little recreation, and cannot spare time for an extended journey or visit from their business or homes, respecting an opportunity, at once easy of accomplishment, and reasonable in cost, viz: A sail any pleasant afternoon, from Boston to Hingham, and return, in that beautiful steamer, the Rose Standish, under the charge of Captain Easterbrook, and his gentlemanly and efficient Chief Mate, Mr. E. A. Cass, of this town. Leaving Boston at 2-20, you enter at once, into all the enjoyment of safe and swift motion over the water; and, also, of one of the finest natural panoramas in the world. Passing among the islands in the Harbor, and in full view of the shores of Dorchester, Quincy, Weymouth and Hingham—arriving after an hour's sail at the latter place. Returning, you arrive at Boston at five o'clock. The boat makes a stop at Hull, both trips; giving a pleasant variety to the voyage. All this can be enjoyed for about a dollar; including the ride from Quincy to Boston and back. If any of our numerous readers, with their children, will try it, they will say it is money well spent.

HANCOCK LIGHT GUARDS. We have been requested to call the attention of all persons who have been members of the Militia Company in this town, during the last ten years, to a notice in our columns of a meeting this evening. It is hoped that every member will be present, particularly those who served during the first five years of its organization. The Company has considerable property, and it is thought best to dispose of the same and pay such debts as may be standing against the Company. It would be more satisfactory to those who take an interest in the matter, to see all its old members present, and ready to take some action in regard to the disposal of the property.—Let every one devote one-half hour to the meeting and the work can be accomplished.

A QUEER SQUASH. Nature does some queer things in her way; and at times, looks as if she deviated from established laws. Mr. John J. Glover, of this town, has raised in his garden this season, one of these cucurbits, which is certainly a curiosity in the vegetable kingdom. It is the summer, crooked-necked species—some six inches in length—and, appearances indicate, that after arriving at full growth, an effort was made to raise a young family of its own. A shoot, the germ of a new vine, put out from the stem, and running along the entire surface, embedded itself so completely in the flesh, over which the rind grew, that it formed a part of the parent stalk; but it did not stop here; after leaving the main body, eight or nine inches of the vine is thrown off, on which leaves and buds are flourishing finely. It is to be regretted that it was disturbed in its native bed, until this new principle of reproduction had been more thoroughly developed.

THE NEW ROAD. The County Commissioners will meet at the Town Hall, in this town, on Monday morning next, at half past nine o'clock, and thence proceed to lay out the new road over Paine's Hill to Braintree.

Also, to view the premises and see what action they will take in regard to laying out the Granite Turnpike and Bridge as a public highway.

Also, to see what action they will take in regard to laying out a townway from Common street to Granite street, in this town.

REAL ESTATE. Our readers will notice by referring to our advertising columns, that Col. Adams will sell at auction, on Tuesday next, the house, land, &c., on Sea Street belonging to Mr. Daniel Dinegan. The property is in such condition that it offers a good chance to make improvements; and being in the centre of the town will undoubtedly attract the attention of buyers.

A FINE DISPLAY. Mr. T. G. Emerson, our friend of the razor and shears, having recently purchased some of the best varieties of oils for the hair, and also manufactured a large lot of his favorite Balm, has neatly arranged the same in his window at the corner of Hancock and Temple streets. He believes he has for sale the best articles the market offers; that which will not only improve your appearance, but will promote the growth of the hair.

Soldiers' Reception.

As your correspondent B. seems to be a little sensitive in regard to the manner in which the "Soldiers' Reception" was conducted, and would "be pleased to have some of his queries answered," we take the liberty of offering a few thoughts on the subject.

In the first place, he suggests that the School Children might have been assigned some other place than the rear of the procession. Again, he gives much praise, and justly too, to the Chief Marshal, "of whom too much cannot be said. He did his best." We would ask if it is not customary to leave the arrangement of such processions to the Chief Marshal? and is not your correspondent in his criticism, casting some slight imputation on the good judgment of the Chief?

He says, too, he "was greatly surprised at seeing our disabled soldiers and decrepit old veterans, after standing in the dust and heat, to act as an escort in the Square, left to look out for No. 1." &c. We must confess we are at a little loss to determine what disabled soldiers acted as escort on the occasion; and we have no doubt that the Chief Marshal intended such persons (if any there were), should be properly cared for, even if they were unhappily overlooked.

Without considering whether or no "the light column" corresponded in quantity with the means raised to furnish it—we will pass on to his remarks in regard to "the strawberries under the table, with a floor intervening." If he intends to imply that quantities of such articles were improperly withheld from the guests, we cannot reply, as we did not visit the room below—but in justice to the Callation Committee, we will say, that in passing through the Hall previous to the entire of the procession, we saw generous stores of strawberries placed at convenient distances under the table, without any floor intervening.

In regard to the little children, he says they were "invited to a collation of crackers and water!" All honor to Quincy's generosity, &c. We think our friend B. is a little in error on that point. On enquiry, he will undoubtedly find that no special provision was made for a collation for the several hundreds of children who attended the ceremonies. But that, after the multitude had left the Hall, they were allowed access to it, whilst the promiscuous crowd around the doors were excluded. And certainly the admission of several hundred more mouths would have made the "light collation" still lighter. If any change had been made in the programme, we would rather have limited the entertainment exclusively to our honored soldiers and sailors. Even allowing there had been sufficient funds for that purpose, it would have been questionable policy to have admitted the children to an unequal struggle with those of sterner years. Furthermore; allowing there were many irregularities and errors in the getting up of the "Reception"—some allowance should be made in consequence of the short time for preparation. We have no doubt but that our brave soldiers and sailors generally accepted the affair in the same spirit in which it was intended by our townspeople; more as an expression of gratitude for their services in our country's cause, than as an opportunity to gratify their appetites.

We all know how much easier it is to criticize the works of others than to do well ourselves. So in this instance, we hope we have not done injustice to your correspondent. If so, we ask for ourselves what we all should be willing to manifest for the failings of others—

CHARITY.

For the Patriot.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE? Can any one inform the public through your columns, whose duty it is to see that the streets of the town are kept in passable order? If bridges are burnt, or otherwise unsafe, who is to repair them? If rolling stones are so numerous that a horse cannot step without treading upon them, who is to remove them? If a few shovels full of gravel in a mud hole will answer, instead of a cartload after unnecessary delay, who is to do it? and if idlers are so impudent that female's dare not walk alone, who is to arrest them? An INQUIRER.

No. VIII.—PROVERBS FOR THE PEOPLE.

A Happy Heart makes a Blooming Visage.—Very true; but how can this be without health? Ladies of uncertain health are urgently advised to throw aside the nauseous and useless preparations they are accustomed to use, and substitute ROMAINE'S CRISTIAN BITTERS, the most powerful tonic and alterative known. In all cases of female debility where there is a want of brisk, vital action, the Bitters produce a most important change; relieving local weakness, and imparting vigor to every organ of the system. See testimonials at every bottle. Sold by Druggists and Family Grocers everywhere.

STARTLING. The little town of Monroe, Michigan, contains eighty-two marriageable girls and only three unmarried men. We advise all those poor wights who are in danger of shrivelling into old bachelors to take the first train, and, by all means, go to Monroe and rescue those eighty-two forlorn females.

For the Patriot.
The Old Squantum House.

Not feeling well for a few days, it occurred to me that I might spend the afternoon at Old Squantum, to my advantage. Judge of my surprise on arriving at this famous resort to find that those enterprising young men, the Messrs. Reed, the proprietors, had conceived the idea of inviting the Town Officials to partake of the hospitalities of their house and surroundings, on that afternoon, in company with a number of gentlemen from Dorchester, with whom I soon found myself agreeably acquainted, and having an invitation to join the association, I soon found myself feeling as well as ever—entirely forgetting past infirmities.

After spending a few hours bowling, sailing and rambling over those rugged rocks, supper was announced, and here language entirely fails to do justice; for such a bountiful supply, and such a variety of dishes, I never before encountered. The guests all involuntarily exclaimed—Eureka!

It is not to be wondered at that such enterprise finds its reward; and for this reason I was not surprised when informed that the place was never better patronized than at present. I hope it may not be many days before I shall have the pleasure of visiting there again.

W.

Soldiers' Reception.

To the Editor of the Patriot:—

In your last number appeared an article, headed "Soldiers' Reception," which I think merits a few words in reply; believing, however, that the gentlemen who conducted the affair, might stand on their dignity—entrench themselves behind their good characters and standing in the community, and treat the article with (as it deserves, perhaps) silent contempt—I will venture to offer a few words. The article probably emanated from the pen of one of those restless, uneasy, idle fellows, who, while in the army learned much that is not good, and forgot nearly all that is good and commendable in man. The "Reception" was planned and carried out by some of our most enterprising men—and was a "good thing." Much praise is due them for their public spirit and kindness in looking after the welfare of the boys, from the commencement of the war up to the present time. Have they not ever, like sentinels on their beat, been watchful of their best interests? Most assuredly they have; and now, at the closing up of the horrid drama—in the very last act—to have some score-headed fellow, who don't know when he is well used, get up and find fault, is a little too bad. He, who finds fault with his treatment and food, when away from home, may be set down as a boor and poor liver at home. The fellow in question, is probably one of those who spent most of his time while in the army under arrest for all sorts of unsoldierly conduct—and the balance, in finding fault with his rations. A miserable fellow, who ought to be kicked out of decent society. It is he, and others of the same kind, no doubt, who start and circulate so many miserable stories, to the discredit of the Reception Committee. Who believes (certainly no sensible man) that the Committee set aside for their own use, some half dozen boxes of strawberries per man, and invited their particular friends to a sociable set down; or that they wilfully neglected the disabled soldiers and sailors; that they took pay for their services—or neglected to make a report, because it would not read well, if the report were fairly stated? and a dozen other equally malicious, idle yarns; got up for the want of something better to do. Let us hear no more of such things—but be decent.

SOLDIER.

RETURNED. We learn that Mr. Jeremiah Carey, who has served three years in the army has just returned to this place to engage in his old business. Mr. C. is considered by those acquainted with his work as having no superior in the State for making honor. A workman of such ability is an honor to the town, and it is creditable to Mr. John E. Drake for securing his services.

STATE DEBTS. The whole amount of the public debt of this State is $23,975,000. To offset this the State holds undoubted securities for $13,975,000, including a claim of $1,000,000 against the national government. These securities, with the cash on hand, reduce our liabilities to $9,000,000, or a little less than ten dollars on every $810,25 worth of property—the entire valuation of the State being $1,009,859,656.

THE SUPPLY OF SEAMEN. Owing to the discharge from employment in the navy of large numbers of seamen, the mercantile marine has been better supplied than ever before, and generally with men possessing good qualifications. For the same reason, seamen's wages have fallen about 50 per cent. Six months ago, the advance to Liverpool was $130 now it is only $25. Then seamen received $50 per month, now they only get half that sum. The decline is greater than has taken place in any other of the industrial vocations.

Dresses without sleeves are the style in Paris.

Hygienic Institute.

DR. LAWRENCE, to accommodate his patients, has taken rooms near the railroad, at Misses Townsend's Boarding House, Quincy, Massachusetts, where he is prepared to practice the divine art or gift of healing the sick of divers diseases, not only by the ordinary methods, including Magnetism, Etherial, Electro-Chemical Bathing, Friction, Nutrition, Movements, Manipulation, etc.—but by his healing hand he has the power to remove pain, by absorbing from the sufferer's system poisonous properties which constitute the diseased condition. Yet Hygienic processes of purification are always required to remove the generating causes of these morbid matters, in order to re-establish permanent health, or harmony between the ingesting, retaining, and egesting forces of the organism. Only by "temperance in all things," cleanliness next to godliness, and by purifying the body and mind, can cures be rendered durable.

Patients from a distance, who require protracted treatment, can have boarding on reasonable terms, at the above house, which will prove to the invalid an harmonious hygienic retreat.

THE SEASON. From every section of the country the good news comes to us of the abundance of the crops soon to be harvested. We have every cause for thankfulness. Nature is dealing toward us most indulgently; and now, that the desolations of war are over, her invitation, to return to our duty—to the cultivation of the blessings of peace, and the building up of the nation's prosperity, should not be set aside with ingratitude.

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION. So every one says after reading the thrilling story of Mr. Richardson, in the "Secret Service, the Field and the Dungeon." By night and day, with foe and friend, East and West he served the Union cause; and his narrative will have a permanent value in the history of our country. Agents can obtain lucrative employment by applying to C. A. Chapin, 26 Washington street, Boston.

ADVANTAGES OF ADVERTISING. A gentleman in this city had a house which he long wished to sell. Not finding a customer through the agent in whose hands it had been for more than a year, he last week bethought him that he would advertise it in the Reporter—with no great faith, however, in the success of the experiment. Before the paper had been issued twelve hours he had found his customer and sold his house, getting the price he had always asked for it, while within two days afterwards he had three additional applications for it. The moral of this story is, that if you have anything you wish to sell, advertise it. Many people may be glad to obtain the very thing you know to dispose of, if you will only let them know it. Lynn Reporter.

AN AFFECTIONATE HEN. A lady in Vermont relates the following curious incident concerning the affection of a hen. Last year, the hen selected one from her brood of chickens, attached herself closely to it; appeared to be happy only with the object of her love; unhappy when it was out of her sight; roosted always with it, and has continued this manifestation of affection until the present hour. This year, the chicken that was, produced in her turn a brood, and the grandmother hen, still faithful to her first love, employs herself with the greatest solicitude in helping the daughter to provide for the wants of the little family of grand-chickens.—Boston Courier.

THE LENGTH OF THE WAR. If we count from the firing on Fort Sumter, the war lasted a few days over four years and one month; but if we count from the secession of South Carolina, as we should, it lasted four years and five months. During that long and wearisome, though exciting time, we made history at a tremendous rate, writing it in blood-red letters, and illustrating it with hundreds of thousands of graves. The number of deaths on our side, from all causes, is estimated at 325,000. The number on the rebel side is more than half as large as this number; so that the war has led to the deaths of half a million of fighting men, and no one knows to the loss of how much life of other kinds.

COAL AT COST. At a meeting of the directors of the Eagle Hill Mutual Coal Company, held recently, it was voted to make the price of coal for the ensuing month $7.90 per ton of 2440 pounds—a saving of nearly one-third in the price of coal.—Traveller.

Mount Vernon.

Mount Vernon is again open to the public. The chief object of interest there is, of course, the tomb—which is a simple brick vault, through whose iron-grated door are plainly to be seen the large marble Sarcophagi, containing the ashes of GEORGE and MARTHA WASHINGTON.

The house, which the traveller naturally seeks next has been kept in such perfect repair, that it looks exactly as it did when occupied by the first President. Thus, when the old piazza rotted away, it was replaced by a new one of precisely the same pattern. The orchards and groves in the rear of the mansion are well cared for. In the entry hangs still the keys of the Bastille, given to Washington by Lafayette. The only room in the second story open to the public, is the one in which Washington died.

Let us not forget that it is in no small degree owing to the labors of Edward Everett that Mount Vernon is what it is to-day.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION. The Democratic State Committee have voted to call a State Convention at Worcester, on the 29th of September next.

BUTTER. The New York Times insists that butter is held at double the price it ought to bring, and it advises merchants in making their purchases to look ahead as the unusual plenty will soon put a stop to war prices.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

Official communications received by the Department of State from Paris justify the expectations that the cannon and other property carried across the Rio Grande by the rebel leaders after the capitulation will be freely and fully restored to the United States compliance with the demand heretofore made.

The recaptured archives of the State of Tennessee tell many a tale of rebel villainy. Governor Harris's papers are full of the secret history of the rebellion. Among other papers on file, and endorsed by Harris, is a proposition to assassinate Governor Johnson in Nashville.

A Canada West correspondent of a Detroit paper says: "The more moderate people are to-day looking with hopeful hearts to the annexation of Canada with the United States, as the only thing that will save them from utter ruin."

A number of parents in Newcastle England, have registered their children in the name "Lincoln," as a tribute to the memory of the late lamented President of the United States.

The Pacific Railroad will be completed to Topeka, Kansas, by November 1.

The Attorney General has sustained the action of the War Department in its decision that when a volunteer is honorably discharged before the term of enlistment expires, because of the conclusion of the war, he is only entitled to so much of the promised government bounty as has accrued at the time of his discharge.

In 1860 there were one hundred thousand surplus women, "anxious and aimless," in the State of Pennsylvania, and as the war has killed off a good many thousands of our brave soldiers, the surplus must have largely increased.

Among the curiosities lately placed in the Sanitary Fair is a mosquito's bladder containing the souls of twenty-four government contractors and the fortunes of twelve editors. It is nearly half full.

CRANBERRY CROP. There has been until recently (so says the Barnstable Patriot) every indication of a good Cranberry crop upon Cape Cod. Within a few days, however, the "fire" and "cranberry worm" has made such havoc among some of the most thrifty plantations as to destroy all hopes of the cultivator of this fruit. From present indications there will not this year be more than half a crop.

Pic Nics. Never was there finer weather for the enjoyment of such excursions. Parties pass our office almost daily, from the interior to the sea-shore, in search of health, and to luxuriate in its refreshing breeze.

MACHINE GRAINED

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins and fibres of the natural grains are molded from the real wood, from which is impressed a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city.

Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

CRIMEAN BITTERS.

The basis of Romaine's Crimean Bitters is Calceola—the most efficacious variety of Peruvian Bark—which is combined with other Medicinal Plants, Roots and Extracts, chiefly the products of Asia and South America, and each of the highest scientific repute for the cure of diseases for which it is recommended.

No article in the least degree poisonous is used, and the utmost caution is exercised in the selection of materials, to insure the highest degree of purity, and in all respects the present high standard of this preparation will in no case be departed from.

TONIC AND RESTORATIVE.

Dr. Janeway, Surgeon in charge of United States Hospital, Newark, N. J., says, "I experienced very much benefit from the use of your Bitters, after a severe attack of typhoid fever, and was enabled to resume my usual health in a shorter time than I expected after so severe an illness. My appetite was restored, and Digestive Organs resumed their functions quickly. An article prepared so carefully as it is, and from so many valuable medicines, cannot in my opinion, fail to do good when properly used."

DYSPEPSIA.

DYSPEPSIA.

In Dyspepsia, with its attendant symptoms, Indigestion, Nausea, Loss of Appetite, Bloating of Stomach, Flatulence, Colic, Constipation, Headache, Lassitude, Diarrhea, General Debility, etc., its efficacy is abundantly attested by the certificates appended, and will be immediately apparent upon a trial.

CRIMEAN BITTERS will cure every case of Dyspepsia. In such as have become Chronic, we can only promise relief; but in ordinary cases of only a few years' standing, no failure has come to our knowledge, where the use has corresponded with the accompanying directions. Very many cases have been cured by one or two bottles. Dyspepsia is a disease, and it is our duty to cure it; and we are confident that the use of our Bitters will cure it, and in the use of two bottles, and a proper regard to exercise and regimen, when either essential or advised.

Dyspepsia—From the Hon. Robert Morris, of Kentucky, an extensively known to the Medical Faculty of the United States.

New York, July 15th, 1864.

Dear Sir: I have lived in the Southern States—much of the time in Mississippi—for more than twenty years, and have had my share of those complaints that effect the liver and produce Dyspepsia. I have tried every remedy, but have found a medical necessity to me, and I am familiar with the action of all the standard Bitters of the day. In my opinion none of them is so efficacious in the treatment of the Liver and Dyspepsia as Crimean Bitters. I say this after a fair trial upon my own system and upon others to whom I have recommended them. I believe if I were freely used by persons of like system, as I am, they would relieve and eventually cure a large proportion of such cases.

Hon. J. M. Duff, United States Senator of California, says, "Your Crimean Bitters are excellent for digestion, correcting diarrhea, nausea, irritation of the stomach, and the creation of a wholesome appetite. They pleasantly exhilarate, but followed by no stupefying reaction. They are the best Bitters I have ever used."

The above are written records, and thousands of verbal statements from other sources.

G. W. PLATT, Esq., Assistant Assessor Internal Revenue, Fourth District, New York, says, "I am from the nature of my duties, exposed to all the different phases of weather, often saturated to the person, wet feet, etc., and have, as a consequence, been afflicted with colds, chills, etc., and for a long time with Rheumatism; but since taking the Crimean Bitters, I have felt none of the effects of bad weather, and my Rheumatism has entirely disappeared."

My son, who is in the army of Gen. Grant, writes to me as follows, "Father, when an opportunity offers, do not fail to send me some Crimean Bitters, for you cannot imagine what a ready relief they are after exposure. I am never alarmed about sleeping on the ground, or getting wet if I use them."

The Freedmen's Hymn.

BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

Our heavenly Father, God, to thee

We raise the grateful strain;

Thine outstretch'd arm has made us free

From Slavery's galling chain.

Denied the rights that Nature craves,

Degraded and accurs'd;

The poor oppress'd and suffering slaves

Still dared in Thee to trust.

All impotent our tongues to tell,

The gratitude we feel,

When at thy word our fetters fall,

There shone our Maker's seal.

Like clouded stars whose light is vain,

Our manhood disallow'd;

Emerg'd from darkness shines again,

As Freedom lifts the cloud.

No more in slavery's gloomy night,

Our darkened souls shall pine

The sun of Freedom gives us light,

To see the light Divine.

Oh teach us still our Father, God,

Our duties to fulfill,

To meekly bear thy chastening rod,

To learn and do thy will.

POTATO PUFFS. Take cold roast meat, either beef, mutton, or veal and ham; clear it from gristle, chop small, and season with pepper, salt, and cut pickles; boil and mash

some potatoes, and make them into a paste

with one or two eggs, roll it out with a dust of flour, cut it round with a saucer, put some of your seasoned meat on one half, and fold

it over like a puff, prick or nick it neatly round and fry it a light brown. This is an excellent method of cooking up old meat.

Always have a good stock of patience laid by, and be sure you put it where you can easily find it.

The devil has work enough for all his friends, but he will pay their wages only in fuel.

The farmer wins victories on important fields—at the point of the ploughshare.

A cat, even if she be friendly, never approaches thee by a direct course. No more does a truth, O friend; but winding round

the stupidities and rubbing up against the delight the most fastidious audience. The readings, which best pleased us were "The flower of Liberty," "Humpty Dumpty," "Victuals and Drink," "Love and Murder," "On the Shores of Tennessee."

The original pieces most worthy of note, were "The Village Gossip," "Castle Building" and the Vaudeville, which we liked very much, because it said just what ought to be said, and didn't attempt any display. Near the close of the exercises, the Hon. Alexander Rice, who was present, made some remarks complimentary to the School, and spoke of our common schools as the foundation upon which republican liberty must always be built.

He was followed by members of the School Committee and J. D. Philbrick, Esq., Superintendent of Schools for the city of Boston.

Diplomas and Franklin medals were presented by W. W. Williams, Esq., of the School Committee, in behalf of the City, to those who, by a careful examination of the various classes had been found to excel in those branches to which they had been attending for the past year, and whose deportment had been unexceptionable.

An original printing song, composed by a friend of Mr. Putnam, and the concluding benediction, by Rev. E. C. Webb, closed the exercises. We will not forget to mention the presentation by the graduating class of one of Roger's Statuettes, entitled the "Town Pump," to Mr. Putnam. Though he has been connected with the School but five short months, it seems that the same excellent qualities that endeared him to his pupils when in Quincy, have already commanded the respect and love of those with whom he is now associated.

"Born to no Master, no Sect are we."

SAD ACCIDENT. We announced briefly in part of our edition last week the melancholy accident that occurred at Black's Creek, on Friday evening. The news cast a gloom throughout our village. It has been a long time since an accident so serious has happened in our midst. Miss Catherine Craig had been employed in the nursery of Mr. Butler for ten years and had won the confidence and esteem of all; her loss will be severely felt by the whole family. Miss Connor leaves a mother, brothers and sisters to mourn her sudden departure. The remains of the two young ladies were buried on Sunday last. The funerals were very largely attended.

Miss Mary Coleman, the young lady that was rescued just as she was about to sink for the third time, we are happy to say is fast recovering.

FIRE IN DORCHESTER. The Alms House, in Dorchester, was burnt about sunrise on Thursday morning together with a large quantity of hay, three horses and an ox. One horse and an ox were got out, but were much injured by the fire. On its discovery upon opening the barn door, the fire spread throughout the building, beyond the possibility of saving it. Two barns have previously been burnt in the same location. Loss $1200 or $1500.

DUMMY ENGINES. We have noticed many articles in our exchanges about the "dummy engines," on the West Roxbury, the Lynn, and the Quincy Horse Railroads. Much has been said which appeared to us as very foolish. The "dummies" have been run daily from the railroad stable in this place to Dorchester, for the past two months with most perfect success. We doubt if steam has ever been applied to any new invention where it gave so perfect satisfaction as on the Quincy Horse Railroad. To be sure there has been a few accidents, but nothing that we can learn of a serious nature, and nearly or quite all from the carelessness of those in charge of horses.

We copy the following sensible paragraph from the Lynn Reporter, one of the best weekly papers in the State:—

"The dummy is a new and doubtless imperfect invention, at present, but like the locomotive, the steam fire engine, and many other valuable discoveries, is capable of improvement, and will no doubt, within a few years, be generally introduced on street railroads. The language of those who now oppose them will then look as ridiculous as that used by the opponents of railroads forty or fifty years ago."

DISCHARGE OF STEWART. The case of John Stewart, who was arrested on a charge of perpetrating the foul outrage and murder at West Roxbury, came up before Justice Worthington of Dedham. District Attorney Harris stated that after full enquiry into all the circumstances the government had come to the conclusion that Stewart was not guilty. Justice Worthington then ordered the prisoner's discharge. Directly after the conclusion of the proceedings in Court, Stewart was taken into custody by detective officer William K. Jones who took him down to his old quarters at Fort Independence.

United States Internal Revenue.

No. Weymouth, July 24, 1865.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

Accompanying this please find a correct list of all the persons in the towns of Weymouth and Quincy, who are taxed for the year 1864, under the United States Excise law, on $1,000 or more for incomes, gains, and profits, in excess of $600, and the other legal deductions, and the amounts on which they are taxed.

All persons receiving compensation for services rendered to the United States in any personal capacity, have the tax on the excess over the rate of $600 deducted and withheld at the time of payment; therefore, although incomes derived from that source is taxed, it does not appear on the list. In all other cases the whole taxable amount above the legal deductions is given, including dividends from banks and other stocks in cases where the tax is paid by the institutions for the individuals.

QUINCY.

The 19th Assessment Division consists of Quincy, and the taxes therefor are as follows:—

On incomes, gains and profits $37,557 22
On licenses taxed in annual list 2,819 00
On carriages 265 00
On piano-fortes &c. 378 00
On gold watches 283 00
On plate of Silver 124 48
On billiard tables (private) 10 00
On yachts 20 00

Owing to the limited time in which the work of the annual list is required to be done, many taxes (mostly small) that should have been entered therein will necessarily be entered in some subsequent monthly list.

But very few persons failed to avail themselves of the privilege of making returns in due form.

In cases where persons were "doomed," the amount of doom, without penalty, has been named as the sum on which they were taxed.

Reliable information received has already occasioned a few persons to be summoned for making false or fraudulent returns. I shall be very sorry to ascertain fraud in any case; but experience has shown that a thorough investigation, such as is had when a person is summoned will prove the fact of the fraud in some cases, and make the person liable to penalty and fine. In cases where fraud is proved, the persons committing it ought to blame no one but themselves, yet they are generally found thereafter among the most bitter enemies of the Assessor.

The whole number of returns taken with reference to the Annual tax this year, for the whole district, was about 10,000, and the whole number of persons taxed on the annual list was 7,730.

Average number of parties taxed, on each monthly list during the past fiscal year, 1,033.

The average cost for assessing and collecting the Excise taxes in this district less than 1-3-4 per cent.

Average for the whole United States 2 1-2 per cent.

Average in England 10 per cent.

The taxes for this district generally average full one-tenth part of the amount for the whole State of Massachusetts; and Massachusetts averages fully one tenth of the amount for the whole United States. Therefore, the annual tax lists made this year for this State should be about $5,000,000.

and for the whole United States $5,000,000, or perhaps a little less.

The total Excise tax paid to Collectors on assessments for the whole United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1865, should be about $250,000,000. To this, in order to ascertain the full estimated amount raised by the Excise law, should be added the amount paid directly to the Commissioner by Banks, &c., and also the amounts paid with-out being assessed, by Distillers, Brewers, &c., and also the amounts paid for stamps.

I ought to add that there are probably five or six persons in the whole district whose names will not appear in the published lists, although their incomes exceeded $1,000 in excess of other deductions than the tax withheld by institutions, for the reason that their deductions on all accounts left them not liable to be taxed at all on the list.

Very Respectfully,
E. S. BEALS, Assessor.

Excursions. Scarcely a day has past this week but we have noticed parties from the neighboring towns passing through our village to the beach, or to some grove for a picnic. It is truly a delightful season for such excursions, and it gives us pleasure to see those who can enjoy it. We learn that the Sabbath Schools connected with the Unitarian and Universalist societies have decided to go on excursions. They are to spend a day each at Island Grove, Abington, sometime next month.

Parties wishing to go to Nantasket Beach, or to Weir river a berrying, will find Mr. C. W. Perry ready to convey them on reasonable terms.

PERSONAL. It is expected that Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs, Jr., of Brooklyn, will occupy the pulpit of his father, Rev. Dr. Storrs, of Braintree, to-morrow.

GODLEY'S LADY'S BOOK. The August number of this popular magazine besides being filled with its usual variety of interesting articles, has a beautiful engraving of "The Fair Haymaker," also its large plate of colored fashions and patterns of various kinds. For sale at the Quincy Bookstore.

THE COAL TRADE. The Miners' Journal says the price of coal has "touched bottom," and adds, that costwise freights, which were very low, are beginning to advance again. The transporting companies will make no further reduction in freights this year, and as wages are about as low as they are likely to be, consumers abroad can therefore comfortably lay in their stock of coal with safety.

GLoucester. The Assessors' valuation for 1864 was $3,936,387; for 1865, $4,729,362, being an increase of $842,975 over last year's. The number of Polls in town last year, 2,499. This year there is 2,412—a decrease of 87. The amount and the rate of taxation are largely increased.

BRICKS. More than half a million of bricks from the kiln of Mitchell Hooper, have been delivered at the railroad in this place, for the splendid depot that is soon to be built by the Old Colony and Newport Corporation, in Boston.—Middleboro' Gazette.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE. The August number of this excellent monthly has been received. It has its accustomed handsome fashion plate and scores of fashion illustrations, music, a sack pattern full size, and a great variety of embroidery patterns. No pains are spared by the publisher to make it a valuable assistant to every subscriber. Price $3 a year.

LAUNCH of the largest Iron-Clad in the world. On Saturday morning last, the great Iron-Clad Ocean Frigate, Dunderberg, was successfully launched in New York. The Dunderberg, or "Thundering Mountain," is the greatest sea-going frigate ram in the world, and within six months she will be ready to make her fifteen knots per hour, and bid defiance to the world in arms. Her armament will consist of four fifteen-inch Rodman guns, and from twelve to fourteen 11 inch Dahlgren guns. The Dunderberg is the embodiment of the ideas of the famous ship-builder Webb. Her plan is original and novel. She will be a floating fortification; her casemate, which is roomy, being pierced for twenty-one guns. Her sides are three feet in thickness, with an iron plating of four and one-half inches. The ram is not fastened to the bow, but is a part of the bow itself.

No. IX.—PROVERBS FOR THE PEOPLE. "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of." But what is life without health? You abuse the laws which govern it, and then you complain of sleepless nights, Nausea, Flatulence, Sick Headache, Loss of Appetite, Neuritis, Rheumatism, and other complaints. You have dashed and the piper must be paid. But CAKEMAN BITTERS will relieve you and make you well; and if you are temperate and careful you will remain so. See testimonials on circular from United States Army Surgeons and many others of cures of Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus. Mrs. E. Hayden, and all Druggists have this remarkable tonic and alterative for sale.

MR. BARNUM'S LOSS is estimated at three hundred thousand dollars, on which he had an insurance of only thirty-five thousand dollars. The entire losses on buildings and stock, as far as can be definitely ascertained or estimated, foot up about $600,000.

A valuable horse belonging to Mr. John Hall dropped dead on Wednesday evening last. Some young fellows hired the team to go to Harrison Square to hear the Dorchester band play; while there the horse was taken sick and died.

NO BUYERS. The property of Mr. Daniel Dinegan on Sea Street in this town, was not sold on Tuesday last. Only a few persons attended the sale, and those did not feel much inclined to buy.

ANNUAL MEETING. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Old Colony and Newport Railroad Company, was held at their depot in Boston, on the forenoon of the 27th instant, the President, Alexander Holmes, in the chair.

The Annual Report of the Directors for the year ending May 31st, 1865, was presented in print. The receipts for the transportation of passengers during the year were $693,188 99; for the transportation of merchandise $336,637 87; carrying the United States Mails $10,750; rents $20,944 27; gross receipts $1,061,521 13.

The expenses have been as follows: General expenses $629,942 32; interest $48,345 83; United States taxes $31,313 79; State tax $34,393 03; total—$743,894 97. Net earnings $317,626 16.

The Committee appointed to receive, sort and count votes for Directors, reported the whole number of votes to be 9586. Alexander Holmes of Kingston, Francis B. Hayes of Boston, George A. Kettell of Charlestown, Uriel Crocker of Boston, Benjamin Finch of Newport, and Minot Tirrell of Weymouth, received that number, and were elected.

Oliver Ames of Easton, who was also elected, received 9836; and Richard Borden of Fall River twenty.

Mr. Holmes said that for eighteen years past he has accepted the honorable position of President of the road—but that infirmities in health and increasing age reminded him that his labors must soon cease; in accepting the trust once more, he expressed himself that it would probably be the last time he could serve the Company.

The meeting then dissolved.

CROPS IN LOUISIANA. The wheat crop in Northern Louisiana and the corn crop all through the State, will be larger and better than was ever known before. The rice fields of the lower parishes are also large, rich, and the growing crop forward. It will probably be ready for harvest by the middle of next month, somewhat earlier than usual.

Or breadstuffs, we shall probably have a greater abundance than we have ever had before.

Our ripe and ripening fruits are abundant, rich and luscious; and, above all, the orchards hang full of the best oranges in the world. Nature continues to us, as of old, the richest soil, finest climate, and most valuable staples of the world, but the war has left us in the sad condition of being unable immediately to turn them to advantage.—New Orleans Picayune.

THE LADY'S FRIEND. This favorite of the ladies lends off in its August number with a beautiful steel engraving called GRANDPA'S DARLING. Among the figures of the colored Steel Fashion Plate, we note a Bridal Dress, very chaste and pretty. The music for this number is the fine piece, Rest Noble Chieftan. The literary contributions are, What I Looked For, and What I Saw, by Frances Lee; Ghostly Glycines, by Miss Donnelly; My Dilemma, by Leslie Walter; Waiting, by Mrs. Tucker; Dark Fancies, by F. E. F. Stories of our Village, by Beatrice Coloma; California Wooing, by Kate Howe; The Rector's Love, by Mrs. Denison; Cullah, by Mrs. Ritchie. Editorials, Fashions, Receipts, &c., &c.

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRIETORS OF THE CELEBRATED
MACHINE GRAINED

Chamber Furniture.

We are prepared to offer to dealers and
others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual grain and fiber of the natural grain are imitated from the real wood, from which is imprinted
a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface
a greater variety of grain, with more rapidity and with natural and more artistic beauty, than
can possibly be created by the most skillful hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and
more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call
and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A

Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world wide reputation.
It is beyond doubt the

BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gauging, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known.
Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in elaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and chast-est manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superbi-manier.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

Send for a PAMPHLET.

Hope for the Sufferers!

LET NONE DESPAIR,
For DAILY and almost HOURLY cases are Reported, in which the effect of

THE GREAT Humor Remedy,

HOWARD'S VEGETABLE
Canker and Cancer Syrup.

Has been to lay the Axe to the Roots of the Great Blighting
UPSTREE OF HUMANITY.

WHOSE FRUITS ARE DEATH!

THE CANKER AND CANCER SYRUP has the most extraordinary cleansing action on the BLOOD, which it PURIFIES AT ITS SOURCE; and though it penetrates every organ of the Body, repairing injured Tissues, restoring the Progress of Decay, and stimulating to healthy action the Digestive, Nutritive and Circulating Organs. As nearly all DISEASES have their ORIGIN in the BLOOD

CLEANS AT ITS SOURCE!
This syringe is not infrequently used by HOW-ARD'S SYRUP, which has

Redeemed Thousands of Victims FROM PREMATURE GRAVES!

THE SYRUP is the most efficacious Remedy known for that dreadful scourge of our Race, CANCER in its many forms, however obdurate—completely banishing the TORTURING KNIFE. The worst cases, given over by Physicians, have yielded to it.

CANCER cures in its worst forms in young and old.

SCROFULA, hereditary, or recent, it completely eradicates, leaving the system without taint or tetter.

SALT RHEUM in its many aspects, cannot withstand its virtues, as thousands testify.

ERYSIPELAS of the worst kind soon loses its virulent character. The Syrup is an unfailing remedy.

TUMORS need not be removed by the knife;
the Syrup dissolves them permanently.

WHITE SWELLINGS are acted on by the Syrup through the Blood. Many limbs have been saved by it.

ULCERS, however old or malignant, are healed by the Syrup without the usual danger of stopping Rotting Sores.

KINGS EVIL, in the Syrup a Specific.
NEURALGIA, however distressing, has been cured by it when all other remedies have failed.

JAUNDICE is cured by the action of the Syrup on the Liver and Bile Ducts, and DY-SENTERIA caused by irritated or insufficient Bile is removed.

FEVERAL WEAKNESSES—it removes with ease and certainty, and taken regularly, it promotes the healthy periodical secretion.

RICKETS, a Children's disease, it completely eradicates, and saves years of misery, even preventing consumption. In short it is the only safe and certain remedy known for the CURE OF

EVERY KIND OF HUMOR!

and is so permeating that, mothers nursing may keep their own and their infants' blood pure by its use. All suffering from Nervous Complaints, Insipid Consumption, Palpitations and General Debility will find it give them RENEWED HEALTH and VIGOR.

FOR SKIN DISEASES—it is especially suited, as it soon eradicates all Blotches, Pimples, &c., and imparts the Brilliance of Health to the Complexion.

*Where irritation of the Lungs and Cough, attended the diseases named, the efficient and soothing effect of the Syrup ensures relief and restores and strengthens the system.

No case of failure of the SYRUP has ever been known where its use has been persevered in.
It might be easy to enter into learned scientific theories. We prefer to lay a plain story of Facts before the sufferers who seek relief, therefore we now offer this

Simple Vegetable Compound which cannot harm and certainly cures.

There are no Dead.
There is no death! The stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore;
And bright in Heaven's jewell'd crown
They shine forever more.
There is no death! An angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread
He bears our best loved things away,
And then we call them "dead."
Born into that undying life,
They leave us both to come again;
With joy we welcome them—the same
Except in sin and pain.
And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread,
For all the boundless Universe
Is life—there are no dead.

Housekeeping Hints.
Health is impaired, and even life lost sometimes, by using imperfect, unripe, musty, or decaying articles of food. The same money's worth of a smaller amount of good is more nutritious, more healthful, and more invigorating than a much larger amount of what is of an inferior quality. Therefore, get good food, and keep it good until used. Remember that.
Fresh Meats should be kept in a cool place,
but not freezing or in actual contact with ice.
Flour and Meal should be kept in a cool, dry place, with a space of an inch or more between the floor and the bottom of the barrel.
Sugars. Havana sugar is seldom clean;
hence not so good as that from Brazil, Porto Rico, and Santa Cruz. Loaf, crushed and granulated sugars have more sweetness, and go further than brown.
Butter for winter use should be made in mid-autumn.
Lard that is hard and white, and from hogs under a year old, is best.
Cheese soft between fingers is richest and best. Keep it tied in a bag hung in a cool dry place. Wipe off the mould with a dry cloth.
Rice, large, clean, and fresh-looking is best.
Rago, small and white, called "Pearl" is best.
Coffee and Tea should be kept in close containers, and by themselves. Purchase the canister green; roast and grind for each day's use.
Apples, Oranges and Lemons keep longest wrapped close in paper, and kept in a cool, dry place. Thaw frozen apples in cold water.
Bread and Cake should be kept in a dry, cool place, in a wooden box, aired in the sun
every day or two.
All strong-smelling food should be kept by itself, where it cannot scent the house.
Bar Soap should be piled up with spaces between them in a dry cellar, having the air all around it to dry it for months before using;
the drier, the less waste.
Cranberries covered with water will keep for months in a cellar.
Potatoes spread over a dry floor will not sprout. If they do, cut off the sprouts often.
If frozen, thaw them in hot water, and cook at once. By peeling off the skin after they are cooked, the most nutritious and beautiful part is saved.
Corned Beef should be put in boiling water,
and boiled steadily for several hours.
Honey or Sapp should steep in warm water all night, and boil all next day in an earthen jar surrounded with water.
Spices and Peppers should be ground fine, and kept in tin cans in a dry place. A good nutmeg bleeds at the puncture of a pin—Cayenne pepper is better for all purposes of health than black.
Beans, white, are the cheapest and most nutritious of all articles of food in this country. The best meal potatoes sink in strong salt water.
Hot Drinks are best at meals; the less of any fluid the better. Any thing cold arrests digestion on the instant.
It is hurtful and is a wicked waste of food
to eat without an appetite.
All meats should be cut up as fine as a pea, most especially for children. The same amount of stomach-power expended on such a small amount of food, as to be digested perfectly, without its being felt to be a labor;
namely: without any appreciable discomfort
in any part of the body, gives more nutriment, strength, and vigor to the system, than upon a larger amount, which is felt to require any effort, giving nausea, fullness, acidity, wind, etc.
Milk, however fresh, pure, and rich, if drunk largely at each meal, say a glass or two, is generally hurtful to invalids and sedentary persons, as it tends to cause fever, constipation, or biliousness.—Hall's Journal of Health.

There are no Dead.
There is no death! The stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore;
And bright in Heaven's jewell'd crown
They shine forever more.
There is no death! An angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread
He bears our best loved things away,
And then we call them "dead."
Born into that undying life,
They leave us both to come again;
With joy we welcome them—the same
Except in sin and pain.
And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread,
For all the boundless Universe
Is life—there are no dead.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, August 5th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

Lieut. Gen Grant in Boston.

The citizens of Boston were thrown into a state of excitement and enthusiasm on Saturday last, by the announcement that Lieutenant General Grant was on his way to the city. About seven o'clock P. M., the train bearing the General, entered the Worcester depot, where an immense crowd was already in waiting. Cheer upon cheer rent the air as the distinguished man left the cars and took a seat in a carriage assigned him. The Independent corps of Cadets were present, accompanied by the Boston Brigade Band, and performed an escort duty to the Revere House.

On Monday the General was the guest of the city. In the morning he visited Charlestown, accompanied by Mayor Lincoln. Mrs. Grant, Miss Jessie Grant, and Masters Frederick and Ulysses. The public reception at Faneuil Hall was announced to take place at twelve o'clock, but long before that hour the hall was filled to its utmost capacity, while many were compelled to remain outside. As the General entered the hall there was an immense cheering, and Gilmore's Band performed.

"See the Conquering Hero Comes." Mayor Lincoln in a few remarks, introduced Gen. Grant to the assemblage, and as he stepped to the front of the platform, was received with renewed cheers, waving of handkerchiefs and other demonstrations of welcome which lasted several minutes. The General bowed his acknowledgments. He then stepped back and prepared to receive the personal greetings of those who were already struggling for a chance to present themselves. For half an hour the hand shaking was continued without cessation, by which time six or eight hundred had presented themselves, (including many from Quincy,) when the General showed signs of fatigue, and politely intimated that he would be unable to continue the ceremony longer.

There was a hearty spontaneity about Gen. Grant's reception that was quite unparalleled in Boston. There is no man living, probably, who could have been received with a more ardent enthusiasm. The cordiality with which he is everywhere greeted, illustrates the popular conviction that this great commander is yet, notwithstanding his exalted position, the sturdy man of the people.

Hor! Hor! Hor!!! The weather the past week has been unusually hot. We think we never experienced a more uncomfortable week. The air has been very sultry and dusty. There appears to be considerable sickness among the little ones in our village. Many have died quite suddenly of Diphtheria, Cholera Infantum, &c. A good thunder shower, we think would improve the atmosphere and help vegetation much. Our gardens are beginning to have as many dry leaves as the trees in Autumn, and what little fruit there is upon the trees is withering.

The BESSEY'S WOODS TRAGEDY. The Roxbury Gazette says a startling rumor has obtained extensive circulation that a person who could have given important evidence in regard to the murder of the Joyce children, left the country some weeks ago; but the police are very reticent upon the subject as they ought to be.

ASSESSORS' RETURN FOR BRIGHTON.—The assessors of this town having concluded their labors. THE CENSUS OF BOSTON. The new census of Boston, was completed on Saturday last. It shows a population of 192,364, an increase during the past five years of 14,362. From 1850 to 1855 the city increased 22,641, and from 1855 to 1860 the gain was 16,473.

The amount of money to be raised by taxation in New York city, this year, is $17,246,808 81. The rate of taxation is $2 80 per $100; last year it was $2 16; in 1862, $2 03 1-2.

INTERNAL REVENUE TAX. By reading a notice on the first page of to-day's paper it will be seen that Deputy Collector French will be in attendance to receive taxes on incomes, carriages, silver plate, pianofortes, &c., in Weymouth, Braintree and Quincy, on certain days the coming week. Next Friday and Saturday, are the days designated for Quincy. The Collector will be at the Selectmen's Room from nine to four o'clock each day.

OUR RETURNED SOLDIERS. Many of them we observe have gone back to their old trades. They seem to possess the happy faculty of accommodating themselves to all circumstances—the duties of the tented field, or the peaceful avocations of the work shop. This is commendable.

The "Solid Men" of the Second District.

Inquiry shows that the country towns can boast of opulent citizens and families vying with those more prosperous in the metropolis. Indeed one of the richest families in the State belongs to the town of Easton. Its magnificent gains have resulted from legitimate enterprise united to inventive skill, and are liberally expended for worthy objects. Other towns in the Second District present a large aggregate of incomes; and the following list, comprising all in the District who are taxed over $10,000, will command the attention of business men throughout the country.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE. In Dedham, near the West Roxbury border, some milkmen who were driving byward before daybreak on Tuesday morning last, found a naked man lying in the road, with his throat cut, and a stab or two in his stomach, but still alive and able to articulate with difficulty. Near him they found a bloody jack-knife. He was taken to the almshouse, near by, and stated that he used the knife on himself. It is supposed that he was crazy at the time.

PRESENTATION OF A SWORD TO GEN. SCHOLER. Adjutant General Schouler has recently been presented with a magnificent regulation sword by Capt. C. Robie, of West Chelmsford. It is very elegant in design and finish, and bears upon the blade the name of the recipient and donor. The handle is of white ivory, and upon the guard is a Brigadier General's star and a masonic device, and the scabbard is ornamented by the Massachusetts and Scotland coat of arms, the latter being significant on account of the General's nativity.

MASON BROTHERS, New York, announce as in press, to be ready September 1st, a new collection of Church Music, 2d. ed., Singing Schools, Conventions, &c., to be entitled "THE PRAISE OF ZION." It is by two new authors—SOLON WILDER and FREDERIC S. DAVENPORT; and the publishers, who have had great experience in such matters, and whose judgment is rarely at fault, express great confidence that it will prove extraordinarily attractive. An important feature will be its presentation of a number of compositions from distinguished foreign authors, as Neukom, Novello and others, as well as from American favorites, among whom Chas. Zeuner is fully re-presented,—all of which are now first printed from the original manuscripts. Retail price, $1.50. The publishers will send an advance copy of this book to any teacher or choir leader, post-paid, for one-half of the retail price.

MISS SYLVIA ANN HOWLAND, late of New Bedford, in addition to the bequests already published, left $20,000 to the trustees of her estate, to be held in trust until a corporation shall be established and organized as a National Sailors' Home, in aid of which a fair was held in Boston last year.

The New Bedford Standard says that Miss Hetty Robinson, a niece of Miss Howland who has had a million of dollars bequeathed to her by her father, and the income of several other millions, was to contest the validity of the will at the Probate Court, in that City, yesterday.

HO! FOR NAHANT! Never, since the discovery of that renowned promontory has it presented more substantial attractions than it does now; and never since the days of the old steamboat "Eagle,"—one of the first if not the first steamer which navigated the waters of Boston Harbor,—has the facilities for reaching Nahant been superior to those now offered by that perfect little gem of a craft, the steamer Orient. The trip thither is charming in the extreme. The Orient takes the inside route by Apple Island and Shirley Gut, passing close under and in full view of the City Institutions on Deer Island, consequently there is little or no danger of sea sickness, even to the most sensitive. The Orient leaves India Wharf daily, at 9 A. M. and 2:30 P. M. Returning, leaves Nahant at 10:30 A. M. and 5 P. M.

OUR FIGHTING STRENGTH AT THE END OF THE WAR. At the Yale College commencement dinner, Gen. Ullman said he was authorized by the Secretary of War to say that there had been recently disbanded, or were now in process of disbandment, seven hundred and eighty-two thousand six hundred and forty-two soldiers, and that we had a million of men in the field when Lee surrendered.

THE PEACH CROP. The peach crop of New Jersey promises to be larger this year than for many seasons before, but New York speculators have bought the crop in advance at large prices.

WEST BRIDGEWATER has voted to pay back $5000 on the 1st of January next; to those parties who subscribed to fill the quota under the call of last July. On the 27th ult., the town of East Bridgewater voted $5000 for the same purpose, though the measure was opposed by Hon. B. W. Harris and 34 others.

NO. X.—PROVERBS FOR THE PEOPLE. "He who is cruel to a beast, abuses the trust which God committed to him." Truly what a violation of humanity so to do! To abuse so noble an animal as the horse, yet it is a daily occurrence. It is thoughtless, it is barbarous. Yet the million are equally thoughtless in regard to their health. They overeat and half-masticate their food, and is it surprising that Dyspepsia follows with its train, Indigestion, Flatulence, Constipation, Palpitation of the heart, Nausea, Bilious disorders, and what not? Remedial agents are therefore needed, and nothing has been found more efficient than CRIMBEA BITTERS. But do not after being made well, abuse your horse nor your stomach by overtasking them. Strolls about Boston.

NUMBER VIII.

THE CABIN built by Abraham Lincoln in 1830 is one of the most interesting objects we have seen these many days. It stands on the Parade ground, near the corner of Beacon and Charles streets. Mr. John Hanks, the early companion and life-long friend of our lamented President, assisted in erecting the cabin, and accompanies it to give all needed information. He accompanied Mr. Lincoln on his flatboat expedition to New Orleans; worked with him in rail-splitting, and speaks of his departed friend in the most tender and affectionate terms. An autograph letter written to him by the President, addressed to his Dear John, and other valuable documents are found here. One half the proceeds of the exhibition go towards building a monument over the remains of the father of Lincoln. An organ is placed in the cabin by Mason & Hamlin, on which was played while we were present, that exquisite song, the "Prisoner's Hope," or "Tramp, Tramp," by George E. Root, than whom we know no more successful composer living. His ballads of the war are household words, and sung all over the land.

Speaking of the memorabilia of Lincoln, Walker & Wise have issued a dainty little volume of his words, which will be welcomed wherever his name is known or his memory revered. Mr. Hale, the compiler, has added a valuable index which renders the treasures contained in the book more readily available.

BOSTONIAN.

WASHINGTON AND HIS FAMILY. A beautiful steel engraving, large size, from Schussel's matchless painting. A most suitable offering to present to the American people. It is the first engraving ever made from Schussel's painting—which represents the Washington family 12 years after the close of the Revolution—and will be the last, the copy right being an insurmountable obstacle.

No representation of Washington and the members of his home circle ever given to the public previously, will compare with this, in excellence of portraiture, or in the method of grouping. Stuart's head of Washington and the figure painted by Trumbull, are generally conceded to be the best ever painted, and Schussel has succeeded in combining the two in such a manner as to present the most perfect full length picture of the "Father of his Country," that can be made. The other persons of the group are Mrs. Washington, her grandchildren, George Washington Parke Custis, and Eleanor Parke Custis; the latter being the only one of the family who has ever been to both as a loving father. In the background, is seen old Christopher, the favorite house servant of the General, afterward present at the death-bed of his master. The light falls softly through the curtained window, lighting up with peculiar richness the whole scene, particularly the drapery in which the family are attired; upon the table rests the plan of the future Capital of the country in which Washington felt a deep interest. The whole for harmony of design, and beauty of execution, is unequalled by any similar representation.

The first impressions are in the course of publication, and will soon be presented to the public by agents.

THE WEATHER. There is little to be said about it. Every one will agree with us, we presume, that we have had some extremely hot weather—the glass ranging on some days during the week, between ninety and one hundred—without a single refreshing shower to make existence endurable. Everything is drying up—vegetation, politicians, and a vast amount of other extraneous matter. When the temperature without goes up, the temperature within goes down; all energy for business is then lost; the only emotion left, is a desire for rest—some shady retreat, or the sea shore, and a cooling restorative, such as can be found at Carver's, on Temple street.

THE PEACH CROP. The peach crop of New Jersey promises to be larger this year than for many seasons before, but New York speculators have bought the crop in advance at large prices.

TRAVEL TO NEW YORK.

Everybody must admit, at the present time, that the most convenient, pleasant, and shortest route to New York city, is by the way of Newport. Passengers can take the half past four train and arrive at Newport, nearly an hour before the steamboat train, which gives plenty of time to procure state-rooms, etc., and also on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays to examine the beautiful new steamer, Newport, the largest and fastest boat on the Sound. She is said to be the most splendid river steamboat afloat—one of the wonders of naval architecture. It cost six hundred thousand dollars and will accommodate one thousand passengers.

OF THE CELEBRATED

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and furniture in want of Painted Chamber

Furniture entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent

Machine. By this invention the actual veins

and fibres of the natural grains are molded

from the real wood, from which is impressed

a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing

upon any painted or bare wood surface

a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity

and with natural and more artistic beauty, than

can possibly be created by the most skillful

hand in any of the old modes known. It copies

nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby

giving an extra body of paint, which is not

gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsomer and more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, August 12th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

QUINCY HORSE RAILROAD. At the annual meeting of the Corporation, which was recently held, we learn that Mr. Eaton, who has for the last two years been an unanimously elected its President, and so successfully filled the office, was obliged to decline on account of ill health, and John J. Glover, Esq., of this town, was chosen to fill that responsible position. We are sorry that Mr. Eaton has withdrawn his services from the road, for the good success the corporation has had of late, we felt was due in a great measure to its honored and most respected President.

Mr. Glover is a man of the right stamp, and with little experience we believe he will succeed, with credit to himself and honor to the Company.

QUINCY BRASS BAND. It gives us pleasure to be able once more to speak in high terms of the Quincy Brass Band. Francis P. Loud, its former and popular leader, after serving his country for nearly three years the latter part of the time as Band Master of the 5th Mass. Vols., has returned and accepted once more its Leadership. Several of its old members also have joined the Company. The organization at the present time we are happy to say is composed of excellent musicians, and we hope our citizens will give them a generous support as nothing tends to encourage and improve a Band so much as the good wishes and patronage of the townspeople.

ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY AND MURDER.—We learn by our daily exchanges that Mr. Samuel Appleton, of Southboro', son of Mrs. S. A. Appleton, of this town, and grandson of Daniel Webster, was awakened from his slumbers about midnight on Sunday last, by a furious barking of his dog, and also by a noise outside of his chamber. He immediately arose, armed himself with a loaded pistol, and opened the door, when a shot was discharged at him which struck the panel.

Mr. Appleton, promptly discharged his pistol at a moving object, which took effect in the right arm of the desperado, who suddenly beat a retreat. Mr. Appleton followed the villain closely, and had another shot at him, before he escaped.

The Selectmen of the town have offered a reward of $500, which the citizens have increased to $1000, for the apprehension of the rogue.

REPAIRED. The Railroad bridge near the residence of John Q. Adams, Esq., in this town, has been repaired in a good substantial manner the past week. It was badly injured by fire nearly two months ago, and has been in a dangerous condition since that time. And we think it will give our traveling community pleasure to know that the Railroad Corporation has once more placed it in proper condition.

A PICTURE WORTH HAVING. Mr. D. G. Ingraham, Jr. is canvassing the town for subscribers to the beautiful steel engraving—Washington and family. An elegant thing worthy a place in every household.

TAXATION OF STOCK IN NATIONAL BANKS. The Comptroller of the Currency has made a decision in the matter of local taxation of shares in National banks, from which we extract the following:—"It is not of course within the province of this bureau to decide the questions raised. In my opinion, however, the shareholders of National banks are entitled to exemption from State taxation upon that portion of their stock that is invested in United States bonds."

CLOTHES WRINGERS. The price of the Universal Clothes Wringer, has been reduced from $10 to $8.50. A good chance is now offered to those who have neglected to purchase one of these useful family articles. Mr. N. M. Bean, of this town, is the sole agent for Quincy, Weymouth and Braintree, and all orders sent to him by mail or express will be promptly attended to.

The Old Colony Railroad Company have recently placed a new and substantial patent draw, over the channel of Neponset River.

"DROPSY CAN BE CURED." It will be seen by an advertisement in our columns to-day that Mrs. Abbott of Boston, will visit Quincy every Thursday, to treat all diseases arising from impurity of blood. Those afflicted will do well to examine the notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

There will be religious services in the Universalist Church, in this town, to-morrow, at the usual hours.

The health of the Rev. Mr. Aldrich we are pleased to learn is improving, although he is quite unable to attend to his labors.

PICNIC. The St. Patrick Society, and Sunday School will go on an excursion to Island Grove, Abington on Thursday next. A good time is anticipated by the friends of the Society.

Electricity as a Remedial Agent.

BY E. M. LAWRENCE.

Electrical currents have been employed for many years in the treatment of certain diseases. Electro Magnetism practice in many places is rapidly growing in favor with the public, and with the various medical schools. Now, if this practice is based on a false foundation, we should not receive that as true which is false, and perhaps positively injurious. But if it is based on correct chemical and physiological principles, the sooner the public be advised of the fact, the better will it be for mankind.

By looking at the history of this subject, we find that MATTEUCCI of Pisa, as early as 1837, demonstrated that a current of positive electricity is always in a healthy system, circulating from the interior to the exterior of a muscle. Du Bois REYMOND, of Vienna, proved the existence of these currents in his own person by the use of the galvanometer, and it is now a well established fact that such currents do exist in the human system, and that they perform some important function in the animal economy. When this flow is interrupted, the system is healthy and vigorous, the mind is unclouded and the will has perfect control; but when not the reverse of all this be the case when these currents of electrical fluid are reversed or interrupted? It is true, how important it is that we should be able to restore the true electrical condition of the system, and thereby secure the blessings of health.

The reader is now ready to ask, how can this great work be done. We answer, by the late improvements in electro-magnetic machines, aided by the discoveries of natural science. It is well known that all substances are in electrical conditions, either positive or negative; and it is one of the plainest laws of electricity, that like conditions repel and that unlike attract. Theory then would lead us to suppose that when the channels of electricity are disturbed by any foreign body, the powerful attraction or repulsion of this wonderful agent would be sufficient for its removal; that the judicious and repeated application of the proper electrode, or pole of the battery, must of necessity secure the desired result if it lie within the powers of human agency.

And such we find is the testimony of experience in regard to this mode of practice. It has been proved, first in this country, and afterwards in Europe, that mercury can be administered as medicine, by means of the Battery. The patient being placed in a bath, with a little iodine of potassa in solution; apply the electrolytic current, and the presence of mercury will soon be indicated by the discoloration of the water.

As the metals are electro-positive, the mercury would be found at the negative pole and it would become visible by its union with the iodine of potassa which it readily combines. In this manner, it is clearly shown that vile, poisonous substances, have been, and can be, removed from the human system.

Thus we find that theory and practice both conspire to prove that electricity, as a curative agent is valuable—and to what extent, no one knows at the present time, since the practice is yet in its infancy.

Thousands of cases are on record, says PROFESSOR AVERY, where complete cures have been produced by this mode of treatment; and thousands more we trust will be added to the list which has already been recorded.

The currents should be applied by a skillful hand, and no person should dare to tamper with so powerful an agent as electricity. The American Medical Times contains the following on this subject:

"Useful Inventions. The employment of electro-magnetism in medicine is beginning to assume a proper importance, since the investigation of Matteucci, Du Bois-Reymond, and others, have thrown a flood of light upon obscure nervous affections, and have led to a proper appreciation of treatment. That electro-magnetism is hereafter to form no inconsiderable part of this treatment can not be denied, and we must welcome any invention which tends to place this agency within the reach of the practitioner.

"Kidder's Electro Magnetic Machine is one of the most useful inventions of the kind with which we are acquainted. It has six currents, differing in their magnetic, electrolytic, and sensational effects. It is very portable, and very easily kept in good condition. We have witnessed its frequent employment in various medical cases, and the results have convinced us that, in the hands of the judicious, scientific physician, a large class of diseases are more amenable to such treatment than to any therapeutical means."

PENMANSHIP. "The Hingham Journal calls us 'GREEN,' because we happened to call our townsman, Mr. E. A. Cass, who is, we opine, the principal man engaged in running the 'Rose Standish,'—after the Captain—the 'Chief Mate.' Well, we know it is true for our best friends always say 'GREEN' when they address us, and we are not ashamed to own it, but if our agreeable exchange 'kinder insinuated' any thing particular, by the statement, we must say we think his gallantry a little rough, and shall tell him as the country girl rather more emphatically than elegantly informed her city cousin, who was inclined to 'quilt,' that it is better to be green than 'wizzled,' as 'Blossoms' sometimes are.

"No. XI.—PROVERBS FOR THE PEOPLE." Evening Oats are good morning's Fodder. A proper vaccination this, and indicates the necessity of using preventions of disease, which are worth the pound of cure. If you are engaged in sedentary employments you are exposed to Constipation and sluggish circulation. The gentle laxation in the Bitters will relieve you of Constipation, and give brisk vital action to all the functions. As a regulator of the bowels, and as an antidote to change of water and of diet, CHAMBERLAIN'S Bitters have no equal. They contain nine medicinal ingredients, and their use is approved by Physicians and Army Surgeons every where. See circular around bottle. Sold by Druggists and Family Grocers.

Dorchester Correspondence.

A considerable amount of land laid out for house lots has been offered for sale at auction by different parties in Dorchester this season, but without much success. High prices for land at Port Norfolk is still maintained. A lot containing near eight thousand feet was sold this season for twenty-five hundred dollars—no far from twenty cents per foot. Mr. M. Leavitt, former owner of the land, was the purchaser. The County Commissioners seem to have been rather partial to Neponset. When they came into possession of the Neponset Turnpike, they ordered houses and other obstructions on Neponset Avenue to be removed, and the road widened; which added much to the convenience and safety of the travelling public—also, to the general appearance of Neponset Village and the value of real estate.

While that part of the Avenue lying in the towns of Quincy and Milton remains as it was—narrow, inconvenient, and dangerous—House hunters (which are more numerous than usual this summer) complain of the high prices of fares on the Old Colony and Newport Railroad, as compared with other roads. Perhaps the time may come when the Company will think it best for their interest as well as the convenience of residents on the line of the route to reduce the fares. I hope, however, that they will keep their hands off the line longer. It will benefit the Quincy Horse Railroad Company; and also, enable the Corporation to accumulate a fund sufficient to shingle their old leaky Depot at Neponset.

COMPANY BOOKS. Any person who can give any information concerning the Company Books of the old Hancock Light Guards, or will be kind enough to leave the same at the Patriot office, will receive the thanks of those who wish to settle the Company's affairs.

DROWNED. A son of Mr. Jonathan Hayward, aged 5 years, was drowned in Pine Neck Creek, Port Norfolk, on Tuesday last.

We notice by the Abington Standard that its publisher, Charles G. Estabrook, Esq., has disposed of his interest in that paper and has purchased the Milford Journal. It is impossible we think to find a faster compositor in the editorial chair than Mr. Estabrook, and we believe when he gets fairly located in his new and enlarged field of labor, he will give his subscribers in Milford a journal worth having. We wish him a large pecuniary success, although we know it is something seldom found by country newspaper publishers.

We learn from the Randolph Transcript, that some persons while engaged in digging a well, near Messrs Abercrombie & Morrison's new Factory, in Braintree, came to a layer of clay and deposit of marine shells at the depth of twenty-three feet from the surface, giving the place the appearance of having been a sea-bottom in some former age.

DIAMOND ROBBERY. Within the past few weeks, diamonds to the amount of about $8000 in gold have been massed from the jewelry establishment of Bigelow, Brothers & Kennard, No. 219 Washington street Boston.—Courier.

SOME CHEESE. At the coming fair of the New York State Agricultural Society, a thousand cheeses are to be shown.

Life Insurance.

The advantages afforded by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, are so favorable
that almost any man now in good health can provide $1000 or $2000 ready cash in hand for himself and family at a certain age, or for his family at his death.

As an investment, also, to those who can make it, nothing is so sure of so large a return
where no misfortune in business can divert it
from the purpose designed.

For instance a man at the age of 35 years,
now in good health, can insure the payment of $2000 to his family at his death by the payment of $27 50 in cash, and an order on the Company for his dividend of $27 50 when it is made.

Dividends are made annually, and have been 50 per cent. several years, but must soon
increase, as the Company has over $2,000,- 000 net surplus. More than $600,000 was added from the profit of the last year's business.

The interest money alone received by the Company the past year was nearly $400,000.

Morally and legally every man having a family is bound to provide for them every comfort within his means available in case of his death.

The Ladies are looking into the benefits which are to be secured to themselves and their little ones by Life Insurance,—more especially the young ladies. From the present indications, we would not be surprised if ere long these young ladies should come to a conclusion to make a life policy one condition in the marriage contract. Not to blame all would say, "Served him right."

Quincy, May 27.

Looking always on the Sunny Side.

What little things may sweeten life,
If we but view them lightly?

Our darkest moments oft are rife
With pleasure beaming brightly.

The mind that wraps itself in grief
And vents its woes in groaning;

The shadow may be dark and wide,
For ages pass'd in mourning.

Look always on the sunny side—
The sun is ever shining.

The shadow may be dark and wide,
But 'tis no use repining.

Nay, though the sun seem vanished quite,
We are not unenlightened;

The glittering stars show best at night,
As though by darkness brightened.

Your path may be through deserts drear,
But springs 'ere there are flowing;

Keep up your spirits, never fear,
Heaven still is joy bestowing.

As a brighter flower that may be found
When all beside is dreary;

Seems to shed sweet fragrance round,
In comfort to the weary.

Just as a joy the mourner sees
Amid the gloom of sorrow,

Possesses double power to please,
And strengthens for the morrow.

Then let us always look for joy,
Even in our griefs invite her;

And what would otherwise annoy,
Will help to make life brighter.

Straps.

EXCLUDING AND INCLUDING. A wag, the other day asked his friend, "How many knives do you suppose live in this street besides yourself?" Besides myself, replied the other in a heat, do you mean to insult me?

Well, then, said the first, how many do you reckon, including yourself?

A RECIPE THAT NEVER FAILS. To destroy rats—catch them one by one, and flatten their heads in a lemon squeezer.

Sam, said an interesting young mother to her youngest hopeful, do you know what is the difference between body and soul? The soul, my child, is what you love with, the body carries you about. This is your body, touching the little fellow's shoulders and arms; but there is something deeper in it;
you can feel it now; what is it? Oh, I know, said Sam, with a flush of intelligence in his eyes, that's my flannel shirt.

A sailor's description of the third figure of a quadrille: "You first heave ahead, and pass your adversary's yard arm, regain your station with partner in line, back and fill, and then fall on your heel and bring up with your partner; she then manoeuvres ahead, off along side of you; then make sail in company with her until nearly astern of the other line, make a stern board, cast her off to shift for herself, regain your place the best way you can and let go your anchor."

Why, dear me, Mr. Longshallow, said a good lady, how can you drink a quart of that hard cider at a single draught? As soon as the man could breathe again he replied, I beg pardon madam, but upon my soul it was so hard I couldn't bite it off.

Why does father call mother money? asked a boy of his older brother. Can't tell, 'cept its because she has a large comb in her head.

Why is a spider a good correspondent?
Because he drops a line by every post.

A merchant at San Francisco having the misfortune to lose his wife, invited his clerks to a banquet, and the head of the other line charged each of them for the day as lost time, and made them pay for the carriages.

Politeness is first rate, but if a person don't study anything else, you need not be surprised to see him, after a while, holding an umbrella over a basket of eels during a thunder shower.

A polite philosopher once thanked a lady who had been singing to a party for an hour, by saying, Madame, you have wasted our time most charmingly.

The love of liberty is given with life, and life is the gift of Heaven.

However uncouth the form and features, or limited the understanding, the hand of the Deity has traced the word 'Man' upon every heart.

An agricultural society offered a premium for the best essay on irrigation. By mistake it was printed irrigation, whereupon an honest farmer sent his wife.

No good life is without power. The face of a good man awakens and molds to goodness those who behold it, though his lips are silent.

A youth declares that his sister is so tender hearted that she cannot be persuaded to strike a light.

Time works wonders, as the lady said when she got married after an eight years courtship.

Many ladies, when walking, are angry if they are gazed at, and sadly disappointed if they are not.

Sir Walter Scott once said that he kept a lowland laird waiting for him in the library at Abbotsford, and that when he came in he found the laird deep in a book which Sir Walter perceived to be Johnson's Dictionary.

"Well, Mr. —," said Sir Walter, "how do you like your book?" "They are pretty stories, Sir Walter, but they're uncommon short."

The great German poet is a very distinguished instance of a person inheriting directly the varied mental powers and sweet virtues of a mother. The poet resembled his mother in personal appearance and manners.

The eminent Goethe ascribes to his mother his poetical powers, and thanks her for the excellent precepts and noble examples she gave him in her own words and life. He says this: "I inherited from my father a certain soul of eloquence to enforce my doctrines on my hearers; but from my mother I derive the fancy of representing all that imagination can conceive, with energy and vivacity."

Let the youth of our own time learn to act more upon a mother's counsel, and be grateful for a mother's love.

"Ah! bless'd are they for whom mid all their pains That faithful and unfeared love remains; Who, life-wrecked round them—hunted from their rest, And by all else forsaken, or distressed— Claim in one heart, their sanctuary and shrine, As I, my mother, claim my place in thine."

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, August 19th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

Quincy's Contribution to the Rebellion.

From the interesting table on page 462 of the Rebellion Record, prepared under the direction of our efficient Town Clerk, George L. Gill, Esq., we make the following extract: Quincy has furnished under the several calls of the President, from April 16, 1861, to Dec. 19th, 1864, eight hundred and forty-seven men. The aggregate amount of bounties paid (including $12,651.63, which was raised by subscription during the summer of 1864, is $47,284.13. The aggregate amount of other expenses, connected with recruiting, including pay of Town officers, transportation of recruits, preparing records, &c., is $1,627.98; making the total expense incurred by the town by reason of the Rebellion $48,912.11. The average cost per man is a fraction of a cent less than $57.75.

Statistics.

DORCHESTER. The valuation of the town of Dorchester for the year 1865 is as follows: Personal estate, $1,671,900; real estate $8,118,100; total, $12,790,000. No. of polls, 2612. State tax, $56,118; County do, $7,648.94; Town do, $143,060; total, $66,816.94. The rate of taxation is $16 on one thousand.

SOMERVILLE. The rate of taxation in Somerville the present year is $15.50 per $1000 valuation of property.

BROOKLINE. Total number of polls in Brookline, 1102; amount of personal estate, $5,036,500; amount of real estate, $5,149,300; total valuation, $10,185,800; appropriation for town expenses, $104,002; rate of taxation, $10 per thousand.

CAMBRIDGE. The rate of taxation in Cambridge is $15 per $1000—lowest of all the cities in the State.

STROUGHTON. The rate of taxes in Stoughton this year is $28.00 per thousand.

THE EXCURSION OF ST. PATRICK'S SOCIETY, and children of the Catholic Sunday School, to Abington Grove, on Thursday, was a very pleasant affair. The company was not as large as on former occasions, owing probably to the threatening aspect of the weather, but there were enough to make a respectable demonstration, and to have a most agreeable and happy time.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM G. SHEEN, who for many years was engaged in the jewelry and watch business in this town, has recently removed to Milford, where, we doubt not, he will win the respect and esteem with which he is here universally regarded.

We sincerely regret his departure from Quincy, but congratulate our friends at Milford on the gain they will enjoy in having our late townsman take up his abode with them. Apart from the skill and experience in business acquired by Captain Sheen, and his own high personal character, his long and laborious services in the army, will not fail to secure for him that grateful appreciation which true merit everywhere deserves.

A CHANGE. After a long and severe drought, we were favored with a most refreshing shower on Wednesday evening. The parched earth drank it up most freely; and vegetation appeared to revive by its timely visitation. As we have now probably passed through the extreme summer heat, we may reasonably expect more humid weather.

FIGURES DON'T ALWAYS SPEAK THE TRUTH. In our list of Tax-payers for this town, which has been in course of publication in our paper for a few weeks past, we erroneously put down the tax of Mr. Josiah Hayden, on Granite street, at fifteen dollars, it should have been fifty-one dollars.

RETURNED. Dr. Charles S. French, our excellent dentist, wishes us to inform his friends that he has returned from his visit in Maine and is prepared to attend to the wants of his patrons.

Notes by the Way.

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 12, 1865.

Five hours delightful sailing brought us from New Haven to New York. The route is one of varied and picturesque beauty, and every comfort is furnished on the elegant steamers "Elin City" and "Continental." The trip being made by day light, the traveler is able to enjoy the charming prospect on every hand.

The morning after our arrival at New York, we visited Central Park—strolled along its magnificent avenues—sailed on its quiet Lake, and quite forgot that we were within the boundaries of the largest city on the Continent. Having passed North River, and landed at Jersey City, a half hour's ride through its shady streets brought us to Hoboken.

Twelve years have wrought changes here. The secluded groves and flowing river change but little. Numerous private and public buildings in the vicinity, erected since our last visit, have, however, altered some features of the place. We hardly recognized the Sybil's Cave, as a refreshment house now nearly hides it from view.

Across the river stretches for miles the great metropolis, whose population is not less than eight hundred thousand. North River is alive with steamers, ferry boats and pleasure yachts. The caneway, hard, smooth and sheltered, overhung by trees and running wood-vine, connects the Elysian Fields with Hoboken Ferry, and furnishes an admirable place for an afternoon or evening walk.

Monday we turn westward and northward. More at another time. E. P. T.

For the Patriot.

Interesting to Parents.

Looking in at Rodgers' Chapel on a recent Sabbath morning, I saw what challenged at once my criticism and my admiration; criticism, that it was in such open and palpable violation of the established order of things; admiration, that it was at the same time so simple, so natural, so interesting, to old and young; stamping it at the outset with the "watchwords"—"Growth! Progress! Light! Light! more Light!"

Here were some thirty children of different ages—from four to fifteen, with smiling, happy faces, organized as a Progressive Lyceum, arranged in twelve groups, each managed by a leader—the whole under the superintendence of a conductor.

Order of exercises:

PART FIRST: Groups assemble; append badges; issue tickets of membership; return books to Library.

PART SECOND: All engage in singing, led by a musical director. The Silver Chain Recitations, a beautiful exercise, belongs to this part, which consists in the reading of a choice selection of poetry, each alternate line by the Conductor and the entire Lyceum.

PART THIRD: Some subjects having been selected on the previous Sabbath, each leader engages his or her group in conversation on that theme; developing thought, drawing out the young mind by well-directed questions—occupying about twenty minutes. Singing and recitations by members, of selections of poetry or prose—removing badges, and the "Target March," accompanied by music; forming a very picturesque procession, completes this part.

PART FOURTH: Groups rise and form in rank for marching. At the word "Music," the whole school beats time softly; at the word "March," they stepped off, passing in front of the Conductor's stand, who passes to each member a small, neat flag, (the emblem of our nationality,) continuing their course round the Hall a few times—forming altogether one of the most unique and interesting assemblies it has been my good fortune to witness for some time.

The targets spoken of, are oblong pieces of pasteboard, of different colors, corresponding with the badges, fastened to a staff, and placed at the head of the pew, to mark the location of the different groups—and pleasing to the young. I wish to call particular attention to the conversations. No question books; no hampering the young mind with dogmatic answers to infinitely interesting queries; but free, untrammelled interchange of opinion.

"Come let us reason together." The music (recognizing the aptness of the remark of John Wesley, that "The Devil's music is the best," is of a lively, stirring nature.

The Assembly takes place at 9 1/4 o'clock, a. m., every Sabbath.

The seats are free, and the most searching criticism is invited by the Association; satisfied, that "Truth shall conquer at the last, For round and round we run; And ever the right comes uppermost, And ever is justice done."

"Can any good come out of Nazareth?" "Come and see." J. W. PRATT.

A COSTLY BUILDING. Stewart's palatial residence, which is being erected at the corner of Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue, New York city, is attracting considerable attention. It will be three stories high, with a basement,—the walls are white marble. The style of architecture is mixed Corinthian and Ionic. The cost of the building is estimated at $1,200,000. It will be the most magnificent residence in the United States.

The One Demand of the Hour.

Now that the troubled waters have subsided, and "Peace" is again our invited guest, let us turn to the sediment now filling the groggeries, and poisoning to the death, the nation's youth. The alarm already sounded, and the press is awake to the demands of the hour. And now 'tis for the people to do their utmost in stemming the current ere the death knell is struck. Efforts are made—plans discussed—but nothing is more certain than that individual influence is of ten-fold greater effect than all the societies and "orders" in the land. Suppose we begin at home. Prove that the so-called "home-made wines" are less liable to adulteration than "foreign;" and having proved that—further prove, that fermented drinks of any description, do not tend to intoxication. It is this pretended mild form of drink, so generally patronized among respectable families, that swells so fast the tide of dissipation. As soon introduced (as a beverage) in my family a flask of pure brandy, as a bottle of "home-made wine." A heavy crime lies in the offering of either. A word further: "To society a moderate drinker" is a greater curse than a drunkard. And why? Simply that the drunkard's influence is comparatively lost; while the "moderate drinker" continues fresh—deceiving within his lines numbers far greater. God, heaven, humanity, demands total abstinence. Let us of Quincy be up with our neighbors arresting the evil so threatening at this hour. Fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters, arise to duty, and rest not a moment while this fatal epidemic is so rapidly spreading about us.

L. S. RICHARDS.

THE MILITIA TO BE UNIFORMED. Quartermaster General Reed has advertised for proposals to furnish the State government with from six to eight thousand infantry, six hundred cavalry, and seven hundred and sixty artillery uniforms for the militia of the State. The uniforms will be similar to that of the regular army of the United States, the only difference being that the State button will be substituted for the United States.

ADVANCE IN COAL. At a meeting of the coal dealers in Boston, Saturday morning last, the price of coal was advanced to seven dollars. The alleged cause is the advance in freight.

HUDSON RIVER INSTITUTE. From the Report of the Committee selected to attend the annual examination of this institute, located at Claverack, Columbia County, New York, we gather the following facts:—

It is one of the most widely patronized institutions of its kind in the country, and the scale of teaching is uniformly of a very high order. The classics and mathematics, and the other branches, are subjected to the same logical and experimental processes which the botanist uses in demonstrating the native plant on his table. Thorough recitations are prized above the showy and superficial. The root of a Greek or Latin verb, is sought as faithfully as the root of a flower. This makes study hard but most remunerative. The male and female class graduating this year would confer honor upon any educational establishment of this kind in the land. The surroundings of this Institute, are unsurpassed in natural attractiveness and convenience. The access by river and Railroad is easy. The region is elastic with healthful influences; the community is one of substantial yeomanry; the buildings simple and neatly elegant.

MODERATE CHARGES. The Worcester Spy prints a genuine curiosity, in a doctor's bill, dated no longer ago than 1830. The price of a visit to this doctor was fifteen cents, but when the conscientious physician took one ride to see several patients he divided the price among them, so that the most frequent item in the bill is "to part visit, 08." The charges for medicine range from five to twenty cents, and the highest amount in the column is "to sundry medicine, compound tincture, and tin box, 33." The total of the bill, which is for constant attendance and medicine for a period of eight months, the visits averaging as often as once a week, is less than five dollars.

WASHINGTON'S WILL. General Washington's original Will, which was taken to Richmond with other records of Fairfax County at the commencement of the war, is to be sent to Fairfax Court House, along with many other papers of historical interest belonging to that County.

"No. XII.—PROVERBS FOR THE PEOPLE. "As you make your bed, so must you lie in it." This inculcates a serious warning, for as we sow so must we reap. Dissipation and luxurious living are the principal sources of half the diseases which afflict the human family, yet every one hopes for immunity, forgetting that the body is a harp of a thousand strings, and easily made discordant. All that physicians can do, is to strengthen and restore the injured parts. Tonics and alteratives are required, and U. S. Army Surgeons, and reputable Physicians who have become aware of their merits, fully recommend CHINKEA BITTERS for General Debility, Indigestion, Constipation and Liver Complaints, as the best Bitters in the world. Be temperate, use exercise, the Bitters and renewed health will surely follow. Ask the Druggists and Family Grocers for them.

BOLD AND ATROCIOUS ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY, and criminal neglect of one of our citizens to seize the robber.

Last Wednesday evening, as Charles Marsh, Esq., President of the National Granite Bank, of this town, was passing through a crowd at the Old Colony Depot in Boston, about five o'clock, P. M., a villain picked his wallet from his pocket, but finding himself discovered, dropped it on the floor.

The proceeding was witnessed by a friend of Mr. Marsh, who coolly looked on and made no attempt to arrest the robber, who walked off unmolested.

A VETERAN SOLDIER. We were pleased to receive a visit one day the present week, from Lieut. Charles Lowell Nightingale, son of the late George Nightingale of this town. He related to us many incidents connected with the war, which were interesting and pleasing, others that would cause one to shudder. Lieut. Nightingale has seen much hard service, and by his bold and daring acts won the esteem of his comrades, and is to-day, one of the many veterans in this place who deserves the honor of his townspeople for his gallant services.

ROBBERY. We learn that some daring rogues stole from the premises of Hon. Josiah Quincy, in this town, two valuable harnesses, on Wednesday night last.

Rev. Mr. Tyler, of Worcester, will preach in the Universalist Church in this town to-morrow. He was pastor of the Universalist Society in this place just previous to Rev. Mr. Heath.

FIRE. One of the best Engine-houses in Dorchester, situated on Meeting-House Hill, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning last, about four o'clock, together with the Engine and a large amount of Hose—all in good order—the engine had just been newly painted. The entire loss is supposed to amount to more than three thousand dollars. The origin of the fire is doubtful; possibly it was accidental—as persons were at work in the house the evening previous to the fire.

This is the second time an engine-house and engine have been destroyed in that locality within a few years. Some time since another engine in this same town was ruined at a conflagration at or near Gleason's Factory, on the upper road, in the neighborhood of Mount Bowdoin.

PROBATE COURT. We have been requested by Judge White to give notice to those interested that the time of holding Probate Court in this place on Tuesday next, has been changed from nine to two and one-half o'clock P. M.

PERSONAL. Our young townsman, James G. Shannon, Hospital Steward in the United States Army and for sometime back stationed at Philadelphia arrived in town on Wednesday last. He is looking finely and says he enjoys excellent health. He speaks very encouragingly of the prospects of grain, fruit, etc., in the different parts of the country in which he has travelled, and nowhere have the gardens showed the effect of the dry weather so forcibly as in New England. He has been ordered to the Louisiana Department and intends to leave town to-day. May good success attend him.

THE ANNUAL PICNIC OF THE UNITARIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL takes place on Thursday next, at Abington Grove.

BALLOU'S DOLLAR MONTHLY. The September number came early to hand, and contains a large amount of interesting matter for the low price of fifteen cents. For sale at the Quincy Bookstore.

HOW IT STANDS. The Richmond Republic has made a calculation of what the Southern States have lost by their rebellion, and concludes that five-sixths of the actual value of those States has been swallowed up. The official valuation of fifteen slave States, in 1860, was $9,000,000,000. Their losses during the past four years are thus enumerated:—Slaves freed, worth $2,500,000,000; losses by devastation, $900,000,000; loss of four crops of Southern staples, $900,000,000; Southern debt, really, $500,000,000; Southern share of the Union debt, $1,000,000,000. Total loss by the war, $5,800,000,000. If this is true, the South has paid a terrible penalty for its folly and blindness. Nevertheless, if it now improves the immense advantages which it has gained by being rid of the incubus of slavery, to say nothing of the rich though dear-bought experience of the past four years, it may yet appear that what it now counts as loss may in reality be a gain, which in the end will be productive of healthful results.

BUSINESS IN RICHMOND. About nine hundred persons in the city of Richmond have obtained licenses to transact business, comprising about one-sixth of the entire number engaged in business of some sort in the city.

THE OLD FLAG OVER RICHMOND. Gen. Grant has decided to divide the reward of $400, subscribed by citizens, and offered to the man who first raised the flag over Richmond in the contemplated assault, among the following three brave soldiers, reported entitled to the honor by the commanding officers:—Sergeant David St. Young, of the 139th Pa. Infantry; Sergeant Thomas McGraw, of the 23d Ind.; Corporal Jacob R. Tucker, of the 4th Ind. Infantry.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

A man in Illinois has invented a horse-shoe which needs no nails or screws, and which, after being fitted, can be taken off and put on by any one.

The following figures give an idea of the crowd at Saratoga:—On Friday of last week, the Union Hotel entertained one thousand four hundred and sixty people, who consumed one thousand two hundred and forty pounds of beefsteak, exclusive of other meats, and four hundred quarts of ice cream.

The London Lancet advocates writing prescriptions in English, and shows the intense absurdity of the present system of abbreviated Latin.

Complaint is made of the new fractional currency paper, that it is too brittle, being even worse than straw in this respect.

Diphtheria is a very troublesome and dangerous disease. A very easy remedy has been found for it that will effect a speedy recovery. Take a common tobacco-pipe, place a live coal in the bowl, drop a little tar upon the coal, draw the smoke into the mouth, and discharge it through the nostrils.

The Providence Journal speaks of a squash vine in that city which grows eighteen inches daily, and at last accounts was sixty feet long. It will soon get beyond the limits of the State.

The net receipts for the national Lincoln monument, to be located at Springfield Ill., amount to $41,377.

One lady on the grand stand at the Saratoga races told a newspaper correspondent that she had $25,000 worth of diamonds in her hair; and that she felt perfectly "safe," as no pickpockets were admitted within the gates, and her husband had put a policeman behind her, with nothing else to do but to see that her diamond head suffered no violation.

A witness in the police court at Troy, a few days since, answered "no" so persistently to questions put to him, that the suspicions of the judge were excited, and on making inquiries he found the fellow was a Dutchman who did not understand another word of English.

In his testimony before the police commissioners in New York, a horse car conductor said he considered a car was full when it had from 90 to 100 passengers in it, while there was by statement, only room for 24.

A carload of oats recently attempted to be smuggled from Canada, was found to contain 490 pounds each of nutmegs and cloves, and 100 pounds each of indigo and pepper.

Joseph Crockett, of Danville, Maine, has a hen which recently laid a very large egg. On breaking it open another small egg was found within fully formed and enclosed in a shell. On breaking the small egg still another was found, and so on, till it appeared that in laying this one egg biddy had laid five eggs of retreating dimensions.

A clothing house in New York has on several occasions paid a monthly revenue tax of $2,000.

Negro slaves are still owned plentifully in Texas, but no value is put upon them by their owners. No objections are made to their going where they please.

Though the spring on earth is beautiful "Tis sweeter far in heaven; For an angel's robe and a "heap of gold" To holy ones are given.

We would not call him to suffer more In this world of doubt and gloom; For we hope to meet the child we love In the home beyond the tomb. M. D. S. P.

A widow and four interesting children are left to mourn the loss of a kind husband and indulgent father.

Life Insurance.

The advantages afforded by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, are so favorable that almost any man now in good health can provide $1000 or $2000 ready cash in hand for himself and family at a certain age, or for his family at his decease.

As an investment, also, to those who can make it, nothing is so sure of so large a return where no misfortune in business can divert it from the purpose designed.

For instance a man at the age of 35 years, now in good health, can insure the payment of $2000 to his family at his decease by the payment of $27.50 in cash, and an order, on the Company for his dividend of $27.50 when it is made.

Dividends are made annually, and have been 50 per cent. several years, but must soon increase, as the Company has over $2,000,000 net surplus. More than $600,000 was added from the profit of the last year's business.

The interest money alone received by the Company the past year was nearly $400,000. Morally and legally every man having a family is bound to provide for them every comfort within his means available in case of his decease.

The Ladies are looking into the benefits which are to be secured to themselves and their little ones by Life Insurance,—more especially the young ladies. From the present indications, we would not be surprised if ere long these young ladies should come to a conclusion to make a life policy one condition in the marriage contract. Not to blame all would say, "Served him right."

Electric, Electrolytic, Magnetic, MEDICATION.

Dr. B. M. Lawrence, Electrician and Physician.

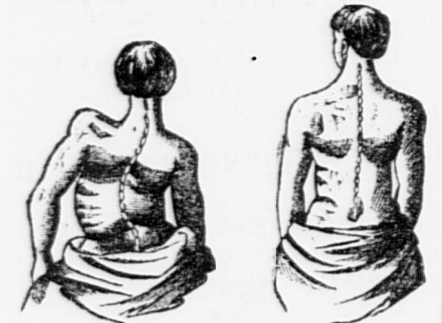

RESPECTFULLY informs the public and ACUTE OR CHRONIC DISEASE, That he may be consulted free of any charge at the boarding house of MISSISS TOWNSEND.

Washington Street, Quincy, Mass.

Dr. L., by long experience and extensive practice, is fully prepared to employ with the most perfect success, modified and manifold currents of Electricity, Galvanic and Faradic Electricity, according to the latest and entirely new methods of administration by means of KIDDER'S improved Electro Magnetic Machine.

By the judicious, scientific application instead of the random haphazard custom of shocking with Electricity, many nervous affections and other diseases which have hitherto baffled the highest medical skill, may be speedily, perfectly and permanently cured.

(Cuts of a Case Cured by Electrical Treatment in Brooklyn, N. Y.)

By means of a new and reliable system of Electrical Diagnosis, the exact nature and location of disease is readily determined.

Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, Diphtheria, Rheumatism, Paralysis, Consumption, Cancer, Blood, Throat and Lung Disorders, Liver, Kidney and Genital Difficulties, Nervous Debility, Obstructions, Irregularities, Protruded Organs, and all that class of Chronic Complaints Peculiar to Females.

All these and many other ills that beset humanity, are more amenable to this new system of treatment, than to any other therapeutical means.

Dr. L., has devoted most of his life to the Theory and Practice of healing the sick. While a student at the Hygienic College, New York City, and while studying nature among the Red Medicine Men of the far West, or during his years of itinerant life as a Physiological, Temperance Lecturer, and Teacher of Health and Hygiene, his aim has been to prove all theories and practice the best. Eminent medical authorities pronounce Electricity a Thousand Remedies Combined, and as an all potent Panacea, the most rapid and efficient in connection with harmless Remedies and Hygienic Regimen, combined with Human Magnetism and Manipulations, every curable disease can be readily overcome.

Dr. L. has columns of Notices and most remarkable cases of Cures, many of which have been regarded as almost modern miracles.

Patients from a distance who require protracted treatment can have boarding at the above house on the most reasonable terms.

Physicians having patients incurable by common practice, can have them treated at Dr. L.'s operating rooms, or at their residences. Terms clearly worthy poor, treated without money or price.

Put Your Shoulder to the Wheel.

There is a voice that speaks us.
If we own no craven heart,
As we pass along life's pathway
Taking our appointed part;
And it bids us bear our burden,
Heavy though it seem and feel,
And with strong and hopeful vigor
Put your shoulder to the wheel.

What though clouds are darkening o'er us,
They but hide a tranquil sky;
Or should storm drops fall around us,
Soon the sunshine bids the dry.
Never doubt, and faint and flit,
Heartbeats stout and true as steel;
Fortune smiles on brave endeavor—
Put your shoulder to the wheel.

Folded hands will never aid us
To uplift the load of care;
"Up and stirring" be your motto,
Meek to suffer, strong to bear.
'Tis not chance that guides our footsteps,
Or our destiny can seal;
With a will then, strong and steady,
Put your shoulder to the wheel.

Men of worth have conned the lesson,
Men of might have tried its truth,
And lips have breathed its maxim
In the listening ear of youth;
And be sure throughout life's journey,
Many a wounded heart would heal,
If we all as friends and brothers
Put our shoulder to the wheel.

LIFE.
An infant on its mother's breast,
A bounding boy at play,
A youth by maiden fair caressed,
A stalwart man with care oppressed,
An old man silver gray,
Is all of life we know.
A smile, a tear,
A joy, a fear,
And all is o'er below.

Scraps.

HUMAN LIFE. Hope writes the poetry of the boy, but memory that of the man. Man looks forward with sighs. Such is the wisdom of Heaven: the cup of life is sweeter at the brim, the flavor is impaired as we drink deeper, and the dregs are made bitter that we may not struggle when it is taken from our lips.

At a station on the overland route the keeper got very short of provisions—in fact, had nothing left but a bottle of mustard and some bacon. As the stage stopped there one day to change horses the passengers seated themselves at the table, and the host said:

"Shall I help you to a piece of bacon?"
No, thank you; I never eat bacon, said one traveller.

Well, then, said the station-keeper, help yourself to mustard!

A Good Answer. At a banquet, when solving enigmas was one of the diversions, Alexander said to his courtiers:

"What is that which did not come last year, has not come this year, and will not come next year?"

A distressed officer, starting up, said: "It certainly must be our arrears of pay."

The king was so diverted that he commanded that he be paid up and his pay increased.

LAW OF LOVE. Said an old man one day: "When I look back over the long pilgrimage of an eventful and not unsuccessful life, I can confidently say I never did a kindness to any human being without finding myself the happier for it. A single friendly act, cheerfully, pleasantly and promptly done to a fellow creature in trouble or difficulty, besides the good done to him, has before now thrown a streak of sunshine into my heart for the remainder of the day, which I would not have taken a twenty-dollar bank-note for."

Here is where they pay toll, sipped a young lady to her male companion, as the cars on the Eastern railroad entered the dark tunnel at Salem.

I paid Towle, replied he, with charming simplicity, snoring we left Portland. He did not think what a fool he was until he had got too far into the light to correct his mistake.

Pursue the peach tree borer with a sharp stick—when you find a blister of gum exuding, bore in you'll find a borer in there—or ought to. Bore it to death without mercy, and dab into the wound a pinch of common brown soap.

A young lady, rather given to gossiping, was in the habit of complaining of a bad taste in her mouth every morning. She consulted a physician on the matter. He told her it was because she went to bed every night with so much soap in her mouth. Well, then, doctor, said she, if that is the case, I will be sure to let it all out before night hereafter.

Shall I help you to aught? said a young gentleman, addressing a bouncing country girl who was preparing to jump from a carriage. Thank you, sir, sweetly replied the girl, but I don't smoke.

An old lady, who imagined that the sea must be very dirty because so many persons bathed in it, was consoled on being informed that it was washed on the beach every morning.

Why is a man who does not bet as bad as one who does? Because he is no better.

We are told to take care, but it comes whether we are disposed to take it or not.

Owe nothing to your advancement save your own unaided exertions, if you would retain what you acquire.

Miscellaneous.

A Mother's Story.

It was the third day after my husband's funeral, said the widow, and I was so stunned by his sudden death that I could do nothing but sit and think over it, and try to realize how it could be so. Only the Sunday before he had been sitting with me, watching the baby, as he sat in the sun-bine, laughing and clapping his little hands, as the shadows of the trees were flung across the bare floor, and moved by the passing breeze. Now the child was sitting in the same spot, the warm October sun streaming in on his bright curls, and making him look so pretty—so like a picture—but the father was gone from us forever.

It seemed to me I must see his dear face once more—that he would surely lift his head and come in, and take up our child, and say, as he often did, Mother, what would you take for this little bother.

Even the baby missed him, and would come and stand at my knee, calling aloud, Papa! papa! until it seemed to me as though my poor heart would break. The two oldest children were at school; the rest were out playing, so that I was quite alone. By and by the baby was tired of his play, and came and got up into my lap.

Mamma cry? Mamma musn't, he lisped out, and wiped my wet face with his little chubby hands; but I could only hold him closer to me, and then cry more bitterly.

Just then Mr. and Mrs. Lorrimer drove up in their handsome carriage. They lived not far off, and were our nearest neighbors. When I had invited them in, and had dried my tears a little, they seemed at a loss how to begin the conversation, but Charlie had slid away from my side, and went and stood at the lady's knee, and pointing to her heavy gold bracelet, saying: Pretty, pretty, in his childish way. She took it off, and gave it to him, saying:—

Won't you come and be my little boy, Charlie.

My mother's heart took fright at once.—They had no children, and I seemed to feel as plainly as if they had told me, that they had come to ask me for one of mine.

No, no; mother couldn't spare him, I said, quickly snatching him away, almost rudely, I fear.

My dear woman, began Mr. Lorrimer, have you thought seriously of the impossibility of your getting along with five children, under twelve years of age; it took all your husband's efforts to make a living for you—how can you hope to do it without him?

We offer, joined in his wife, to take the most helpless of your little ones—to give him all the advantages as we should our own child; and surely you must see that God's hand is in it—that through us He intends to help you.

I need not tell you how long I withstood all their arguments. But at last overcome by their entreaties, I consented to consider the matter. In two days they came for my answer. I never mentioned their visit to any of the children, and I had changed my mind almost every hour since I had seen them. At last, convinced that it was for the child's good, I consented to give him up. When I went to dress him to go, my resolution almost failed me. I lingered over every article I put on him and made every dear old over and over before I could get it to please me; and I kissed the little white shoulders until they were all rosy. But at length he was ready, and I thought never looked so pretty. He was full of animation, for he was old enough to know what it meant to "go riding," and he clasped his hands and laughed at the horses, as they were driven up. I handed him to his new mother, (the children supposed that he was to come back soon,) and he never even looked at me. O, how jealous my aching heart grew.

When I came back into the house, the first thing my eye fell on was his cradle. I could only throw myself on it, and sob aloud. Then came the trial of telling the whole truth to the children. None of them seemed reconciled, and I felt that the worst was to come when the two oldest should return from school. I almost dreaded to meet them, especially Willie; he was like his father, so quiet and calm, outwardly, but hiding beneath his apparent coldness the strongest, deepest feelings. But the others went to meet them as they came home, and I was pleasantly disappointed in the way the oldest took it. He seemed to think I had done it for the best and that he must hide his sorrow for my sake.

He was more thoughtful for my comfort, gentler than ever, only very still and very grave.

The day ended as the longest will at last, and the time came to go to bed. I had taken Willie to sleep down stairs near me. Since his father's death, the other children slept just above us. Well, when I came to lie down, there was the empty pillow! Baby had always laid his little rosy face as close to mine as he could get it, and slept with one little hand on my neck. All my grief broke out afresh when I thought of him. Willie rose up at last, and said earnestly:—

Mother, it's Charlie you are crying for, isn't it?

Yes, I answered, I know it's for the best; but Oh! it is so hard for me to give him up.

Mother, continued the child, when father died, we knew it was all for the best, because God took him from us; but I have been thinking ever since we laid down, how poor little Charlie must be crying for you, and how God gave him to us, to love and keep him; and now you have given him away. If he had meant him to be Mr. and Mrs. Lorrimer's baby, wouldn't He have given him to them at first?

These words carried more weight with me than all the arguments of my rich neighbor. After considering a moment, I said impulsively:—

O, if I only had him back, he should never go away again, no matter how poor we might be.

The moon was shining so brightly that it was almost as light as day, and presently Willie said:

Mother, it's only half a mile across the fields, and they won't go to bed for a long time at Mr. Lorrimer's; let us go and get Charlie. Why, I seem to hear him crying now.

Urged by the child's entreaties and the promptings of my own heart, I consented. I think I never walked half a mile so quickly in my life—and neither of us spoke until we reached the mansion. Then we stopped a moment for breath—and sure enough, we could hear the baby screaming at the top of his voice. We went round to the sitting room-door and knocked. They seemed half frightened when they saw who it was, but asked us in politely. A hired nurse was walking with the child up and down the floor, trying to pacify it. Mrs. Lorrimer had wearied herself out, and was lying on a lounge.

Come to mother, Willie said, and he brought the little fellow to me at once.

I cannot give him up, I said at last, when I could get my voice clear. You must let me take him home.

They evidently thought me the silliest of women; but their cold words only made me the more determined, and we started back in less than half an hour after we came. I carrying the baby. Willie offered to help me, but I felt as though I could carry him in my arms forever.

When I had laid him in bed, now fast asleep, but still sobbing, and reaching out his little hands, to feel if I was there, I said: God helping me, come what will, I will never part with one of my living children again; and I never did.

I need not tell you how wild with joy the rest of the children were when they found the baby in bed next morning; they almost fought over the little fellow—and from that day forth it was their greatest pleasure to amuse Charlie and have him with them.

When the affair came to be known, many blamed me—and many favors that my rich neighbors might have done for me, they withheld, I think, for my folly, as they called it. But a few poor women like myself, that had always nursed their own children, said I did right. We had many trials, and often scarcely a crust of bread in the house; but our hardships only bound us the more closely together.

All my children proved comforts and blessings to me. God took care of one for me; but as Willie said, we knew that was for the best. The rest married in the course of time, and left me; but the prop of my old days—the one whose industry and management gave me this plentiful and comfortable home, has never left me since the day I gave him away.

The Model Widower.

He begins to think of No. 2 before the weed on his hat loses its first gloss. May be seen assisting young girls to a seat in church, or ordering carts off dry crossings, for pretty feet that are waiting to pass over. Is convinced he was never made to live alone. His children must be looked after, or if he hasn't any, he would like to be looked after—himself. Draws a deep sigh every time a dress rattles pass with a female in it. Is very particular about the polish of his boot or the fit of his gloves—thinks he looks very interesting in black. Don't walk out in public much with his children, and when he does takes the youngest! Revives his old taste for moonlight and poetry; pities single women with all his heart; wonders how they contrive to exist! Reproves little John for saying "Pa!" so loud, when he meets him in the street. Sets his face against the practice of women going home "alone and unprotected" from evening meetings. Tells the widows his heart aches for them! Wonders which of all the damsels he sees, he shall make up his mind to marry. Is sorry that he shall be obliged to disappoint them all but one! Has long since preferred orange blossoms to the cypress wreath. Starts some fine day and refurnishes his house from garret to cellar; hangs his wife's portrait in the attic, (shrouded in old blankets,) and marries a playmate of his eldest daughter!

For the Patriot.

An Age of Independence.

I glory in the independence of men when they arrive at the age of about sixty. Not that they are independent of their fellow-men, or independent of the common courtesies and decencies of life. But independent in reference to those small matters that effect their personal comfort and convenience. They take their seat in the horse cars, draw a newspaper from their pocket—wipe and adjust their spectacles with as much ease and self-possession as if alone in their own private parlors. They place their spectacles before their eyes, or drop them on their chins, to suit their own convenience, according to the size of the type, independent of the idle gaze of their fellow passengers. If they have no golden headed cane, a crooked hickory stick, with the bark on, will answer their purpose. They appear perfectly indifferent whether their pants are two inches shorter, or a little longer than the fashionable cut. They wear a high dicky, or a low one, or none, as suits their convenience. They wear a high crown, low crown—elouched, stove pipe or "orthodox hat," as Mr. Beecher calls it, without reference to fashion. If the church is too warm, they deliberately remove their over-coat. If ill ventilated, they open the window, or motion for some one to do so. They kiss their little grand daughters when they meet them at the Depot, perfectly independent of the gaze of the multitude. They are not troubled as younger persons are about what people say or think of small matters, which concerns only themselves—and are thus in part compensated for failing eyesight, or hearing, or loss of teeth, which are really serious calamities to younger people.

The Dead Child.

Few things appear so beautiful as a young child in its shroud. The little innocent face looks so sublimely simple and confiding among the cold terrors of death. Crimeless and fearless, that little mortal has passed alone under the shadow. There is death in its sublimity and purest innocence; no hatred, no hypocrisy, no suspicion, no care for the morrow ever darkened that little face; death has come lovingly upon it; there is nothing cruel or harsh in its victory. The yearnings of love, indeed, cannot be stifled; for the prattle and smile—all the little world of thoughts that were so delightful—are gone forever. Awe, too, will overcast us in its presence, for the lonely voyage; for the child has gone, simple and trusting, into the presence of an All-wise Father; and of such, we know is the kingdom of Heaven.

A Cool Traveller.

An old man who lived near where several roads branched off, was greatly annoyed when people called to enquire the way, when there was a guidepost they should have consulted. At last he got so that he was hardly civil to anyone who made the enquiry of him, and by this means it became noised about.

One day a bit of a wag passing along that way, and stopped just at nightfall at a house about half a mile back from where the roads branched off, and enquired if the road before him was a straight one. He received the reply that it was not, but that he could find out which way to go at the next house better than they could tell him, and he also received the information that the old gentleman who resided there was rather testy upon being questioned.

The wag thanked them for the information, and rode on, and in due time reached the door of the old gentleman.

Dismounting, he entered the house without ceremony, and found the old gentleman just on the point of retiring. Holding out something in his hand, he exclaimed: Stranger, will you favor me with a light to read the guideboard with?

The old gentleman saw the point and was cured of his ill temper.—N. H. paper.

Bad English.

A French traveller, who had not learned to manage the English language, went to dine with a gentleman, to whom he brought a letter of introduction. The first spoonful of soup burnt his mouth.

Ma foi! he exclaimed; in his soup is too much summer.

The next day he wished to order a chicken for his dinner, but could not recollect the name. In his perplexity, he turned toward the window and his eye caught sight of a weather-cock on a church.

Vat you call that? exclaimed he, pointing. That is a church tower, replied the land-lord.

Den I wish you have the kindness to roast von church-tower for my dinner.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT. As Mr. Benjamin Taylor, an elderly citizen of this place, (sixty-five years of age) was walking on the track of the Old Colony and Newport Railroad, on Thursday morning last, about a quarter of a mile above the South depot, near the curve, he was met by two trains, — a burden train from the city, and the New York passenger train, — inward bound — under rapid headway. He was seen to cross the rails on the track of the latter, just before the accident, but it appears not far enough, to avoid a collision, as he was struck by the passing cars, receiving a most ghastly wound on the left side of the head, extending nearly from the eye to the ear; fracturing the skull in such a manner, that the brain was laid plainly open to view — causing instant death.

Coroner Bass was present, and had the remains removed to the residence of the deceased, on Brackett's wharf, — and as circumstances seemed to require it, gave directions for the interment.

Coroner's Inquest. The following verdict was rendered by the Jury of Inquest on the death of Mr. Taylor, viz:

"That he came to his death about ten minutes past six o'clock, A. M., of the 24th day of August, instant, by being struck on the head by the Steamboat train on the Old Colony and Newport Railroad in Quincy, near the curve at Penick's Hill. We are of opinion that it was not in the power of those who had the conducting of the train to avoid the accident; but that it was owing to his own imprudence, by walking on the track of the railroad, as is too often carelessly done, at the risk of the lives of those who thus expose themselves."

ACCIDENT ON AN EXCURSION TRAIN ON THE OLD COLONY RAILROAD.—Remarkable escape of the passengers. The Spiritualists of Boston and vicinity, made an excursion trip to Abington Grove on Wednesday last; and some eight hundred took the opportunity of passing a pleasant day at that fashionable resort. About 5 P. M., the train, consisting of eleven passenger cars, with Mr. Jacob Sprague as conductor, left the Grove on their return trip, and proceeded as usual, until turning a short curve in a swampy part of the road between South Weymouth and South Braintree, when it came in collision with a hand car, containing two men, going in an opposite direction. The shock threw the engine and seven passenger cars from the track, — upsetting two of them down an embankment, but astonishing to relate, only one person, John S. Knowles, who resides at South Boston, was seriously injured. He was leaving one car to go into another when the collision took place, and was caught between the two a little above the ankle, receiving a compound fracture, both bones being broken. A youth named McCormick received a contusion on the head and had his ankle sprained; Mrs. Louisa Shattuck, of Charlestown, was slightly injured, and another lady was somewhat hurt, but not seriously. The scene which followed the collision, it is said, beggars description; the fears of the whole multitude were wrought up to the highest pitch. Some of our Quincy people were of the company, but they all escaped, we believe, unharmed.

IMPROVE THE CHANCE. Summer is fast passing away, and the warm pleasant days will soon be over for this season. We would therefore remind those who think of enjoying a delightful excursion in Boston Harbor, that the time for such pleasant excursions is short, and that they should be on a stir. The Rose Standish continues to make two trips daily to Hingham, stopping at Hull, which offers a large amount of enjoyment at a small price. Many of our citizens we are aware have improved the opportunity, others think of it, but keep postponing. This will not do, if you intend to enjoy the innocent and healthful pleasures of this life, now is the time.

GUIDE BOARDS. The Selectmen have caused many new guide boards to be erected on the corners of the streets in this place the past week. We were glad to see them for they are much needed.

QUINCY POINT BRIDGE. Workmen have been engaged the past week in repairing the bridge at the Point, and the travel over the same has been stopped.

AUCTIONS. We would call the attention of our readers to the sale of wagons, harnesses, etc., at the residence of the late Adoniram Cain, on Summer street, this afternoon. The advertisement will be found in to-day's paper.

Also, to the sale of a Cottage House on Liberty Street, belonging to Mr. John Parker, directly after the above mentioned sale.

The average rate of taxation in Maine, is $45 on $1000.

The Belfast Age says it is estimated that 1500 bushels of blueberries have been picked the present season, on Isle au Haut Thoroughfare.

TRIAL OF JEFF. DAVIS. Chief Justice Chase and the President, also the Cabinet, have been of late discussing the subject as to how, and when, and where shall be the trial of Jeff. Davis; which from all indications will soon take place.

MASSACHUSETTS CLAIM. The claim of Massachusetts against the General Government for raising and equipping troops at the beginning of the war amounts to $3,501,760 50. Massachusetts and Illinois appear to be the States which have presented their claims in the most prompt and correct manner.

THE FIELD OF THE LATE WAR. The number of battles fought during the late war is 252. Of these the soil of Virginia drank the blood of eighty-nine. Tennessee witnessed thirty-seven; Missouri twenty-five; Georgia twelve; South Carolina ten; North Carolina eleven; Alabama seven; Florida five; Kentucky fourteen; the Indian Territory and New Mexico, one each. Once the wave of war rolled into a Northern State, and broke in the great billow of Gettysburg. Of the battles enumerated, sixteen were naval achievements.

LIVELY TIMES ON THE KENNEBEC ROUTE. Owing to competition the fare between Boston and Bath, Richmond, Gardiner, Hallowell and Augusta, Maine, have been reduced the past week to twenty-five cents, and the boats have been loaded with passengers. On Tuesday morning the Eastern Queen arrived in Boston with fifteen hundred on board.

SOMETHING NEW. We call attention to the advertisement of the Duplex Elliptic or Double Spring Skirt. Though a recent invention, it has become very popular, and is rapidly obtaining the preference over other kinds in use. The rods in it are composed of two of delicate and well tempered steel springs, which are ingeniously braided together edge to edge, the lower rods heavier, and having a double covering. This peculiarity of construction makes this skirt very strong and durable, and also so exceedingly flexible that it readily adapts itself to the form of the wearer, and allows of any amount of doubling and crushing without injury to its shape. These skirts are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical ever made. These are advantages which ladies, who have experienced the discomfort and inconvenience of single springs will duly appreciate.

COAL. The coal dealers in Boston have put the screws on again. They have raised the price of coal $1, and now sell it at $12 per ton.

For the Patriot.
Our Cemeteries.

We know that a little way beyond the center of the town, there is a new and beautiful cemetery which it is the fond wish of all, might early, and in time "to come," be another Greenwood or Mount Auburn. We are aware that it has already become the chief place of resort to those of us who love to walk and meditate amid the solemnities of this "charnel-house of the dead." We sincerely second the desires of the town in this respect, and heartily approve of every measure that has been, or can be taken, to add to the beauty and grandeur of this new burial-place. All the cheer and sympathy that glad and weeping nature, assisted by man, can throw around the covered forms of our dear ones lying there, should be given. But shall we wholly neglect the "Old Cemetery"—that sacred place, where are deposited the venerated forms of our fathers, the benefactors of the town—where we have also lain so many of our little angel buds, now blooming in immortality? Is this place not just as dear to those whose loved ones sleep there, as if there was no other? Shall we give only negative attractions to the new cemetery? Shall we beautify that one by only allowing the other to be defaced and disgraced? It is a shame that such nuisances are permitted to be perpetrated along those avenues through which mourning, weeping ones, must walk as they go to and from the last resting-place of their loved ones. We hope if no new beauties of nature are added to the place, it will at least be the pride of the town to keep it neat and pleasant for those who make their pilgrimages there, where the richest jewels of many households lie casketed.

ACCIDENTS FROM KEROSENE. The Boston daily papers have contained the accounts of many serious accidents recently from burning kerosene oil. From numerous inquiries we learn that the cause is mainly from using an adulterated article, which at the present time is extensively sold in every town. The impure article burns free and gives a beautiful light, and may be preferred by many, who do not know the imminent danger they are in by its use. Our merchants can buy it much cheaper and can make more profit by selling it a few cents less per gallon, than those who retail the pure article which is manufactured by Mr. Downer. We know of only a few places in town where the adulterated oil is sold, one of which is at Mr. Joseph Atty Jr., on Washington street, who has constantly kept Downer's oil, which he warrants. There is undoubtedly other places where the article can be found, and we would advise our readers to be on the guard and see that they have nothing but what is safe carried into their dwellings.

"A PERFECT BRICK." By reference to our advertising columns, it would appear that the force of this familiar figure had been realized. A brick machine has just been invented, which promises great excellence of quality with wonderful rapidity of production. We commend the invention to the notice of our brick-making readers.

A GOOD RECORD. Nearly $400,000,000 have passed through the Internal Revenue Bureau since its organization, and so far it has not sustained the loss of a single dollar by the misconduct of any of its officers.

COLD WEATHER. At the Tip Top House, Mount Washington, at 7 o'clock A. M., on Wednesday last the thermometer stood at 28 degrees. Ice was half an inch thick.

"NO. XIII.—PROVERBS FOR THE PEOPLE." "He that hath a good Harvest may be content with some Thistles." Good and evil health and sickness, are the inseparable lot of all. Temperance and employment of body and mind, are the corner stones of health and happiness. But luxurious and vicious habits enervate and destroy the natural functions, so medical means are required. A tonic and alterative you need, and not Cathartics and Emetics. Reform your habits, and the use daily of ROMAN'S CRIMEAN BITTERS, will be the advice of your Physician. As a rectifier of the secretions, and a tonic and alterative, nothing can equal them. Sold by Druggists and Family Grocers everywhere.

HARPER'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE. This old favorite with the great mass of American readers, is ever prompt in its appearance. The September number has been received—and its pages are filled with its accustomed variety of good and substantial reading. For sale at the Quincy Bookstore.

Jay Cooke, the Subscription Agent.

When the $20 loan was authorized, it was before the public many months without attracting any attention, and the total sales by the Government were only about eighteen millions. The war expenses were so vast that banks and bankers were no longer able to supply money in sufficient amounts, and the Secretary of the Treasury was compelled to adopt some plan for appealing directly to the people to supply the means for sustaining the Government. Popular loans had never been tried, and their nature was not generally understood. Capital is always sensitive, and capitalists, large and small, were not only to be told that there was a $20 loan on the market, but were to be convinced that it was the best as well as the most patriotic investment. The high character and previous successes of Mr. J. J. Cooke, an enterprising and successful Philadelphia banker, induced the Secretary to appoint him General Subscription Agent. The press and the telegraph were immediately put in motion. A large sum was spent in advertising, the distribution of a great variety of circulars and handbills, &c., the employment of travellers, and in establishing sub-agencies throughout the loyal States. It has always been Mr. Cooke's policy to have our loans taken at home, and he has never solicited subscriptions abroad, believing that our own people should have the advantage of the interest. The result of Mr. Cooke's efforts for the $20 loan is well known. Under his agency, dating about Feb. 1st, 1863, and closing Jan. 22, 1864, the loan was sold up to $514,780,500.

As great success always occasions jealousy, complaints of favoritism towards Mr. Cooke were made against the Treasury Department, which a special report to Congress proved to be without the slightest foundation.

About this time the National Banking System was established, and it was a part of the plan that the National Banks should be the financial agents of the Government. But it was soon found that the rate of subscription was insufficient to meet the public wants, and it was determined to return to the agency of Mr. Cooke, under whose management the sales began to show an increase within the first week, and in less than two weeks averaged two millions a day. During the first thirty days they reached one hundred millions—an average of about four millions for each working day. The first series was exhausted on the 30th of March, when the sale of the Second Series of three hundred millions was begun. This series was all sold on the 13th of May, deducting Sundays and holidays, in the wonderfully short space of thirty-six working days—making an average of eight and one third millions per day. The efforts of Mr. Cooke have certainly been unceasing, and his wisdom, skill and energies have been taxed as much as those of any commander in the field, and with results not less important.

The press of the country has been the great medium which Mr. Cooke has so masterly and wonderfully used to dispose of the Government Loans. It shows merchants and business men, generally, what can be accomplished by the use of the printer's ink, with a little ingenuity and zeal to back it.

ACCIDENT. While Jonathan Cook, of this town, was engaged in talking with a friend in Weymouth, on Saturday morning last, his horse became frightened by a loaded team, coming suddenly by him, and jumped quickly one side, throwing Mr. Cook from his wagon against another vehicle standing close by, and seriously injuring him. Medical aid was soon procured, and it was thought some of his ribs were broken. After receiving immediate attendance from a physician in Weymouth, he was conveyed to his home. He has raised considerable blood since, and still remains in a critical condition, although his physician thinks his ribs are not broken. We are in hopes to see him in our streets again after a few weeks careful nursing.

THE LADY'S FRIEND. "Catching the Butterfly" is the leading steel engraving of the September number of this favorite periodical. It will remind many of the days of their childhood; and some perhaps may think sadly that since they have grown to riper years, they have been engaged in nothing more important than trying to catch such other butterflies as wealth, pleasure and fame. The steel fashion plate for this number is as handsome as usual, and the sporting dress in it something a little peculiar.

It contains, also, its usual amount of interesting stories, editorials and receipts. Price, $2 50 a year; 2 copies $4 00.

FATAL ACCIDENT FROM KEROSENE. A late number of the Worcester Spy contains the following: The family of Mr. William H. Sanford, residing at No. 11 Main street, in that city, during one evening last week, were alarmed by the noise of an explosion in the basement of their residence, followed by loud cries. On rushing down to learn the cause, Mr. and Mrs. S. met a domestic employed in the family, named Mary Donnelly, partly way up the basement stairs covered with fire from head to foot, and screaming in a most agonizing manner. Almost as soon as she was discovered, she sank upon the stairs and died. The accident was caused by the bursting of a can of kerosene.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

An invention is being introduced in New York designed to make the starting of loaded street cars an easy matter for horses. It is described as consisting in the application of a lever, pawl and ratchet, in combination with the draught rod, or its equivalent, to the axle of a vehicle in such a manner as to save over one half the power now used in starting.

A similar model is on exhibition here; the inventor is a citizen of this place.

The work of excavating for a ship canal from Portage Lake to Lake Superior will be begun during the present month, and is to be completed by the close of navigation in 1866. It will be of immense benefit to the Portage Lake mining district.

Since the close of the war the business of the Patent Office has greatly increased. Number of patents now granted will average over fifty per week, with every prospect of a great increase.

Returning soldiers are going West over the Pennsylvania railroad at the rate of two or three hundred a month, to take up lands in the West under the Homestead Law.

Since 1838, when the first steamship crossed the Atlantic, twenty-nine steamers have been burned between England and America—an average of little more than one per year.

The next novelty is to be a bull frog show. Mr. Frank Cahill, formerly a journalist, but lately a soldier, has brought from the South a large collection of bull frogs, which he proposes to exhibit, with a lecture illustrating the habits of the creature.

The Richmond Times learns that the tobacco crops of several years are now brought forward for the market, and that at almost every railroad station there are great quantities awaiting transportation.

Chicago has eighty-five hotels, which are classified into eight grades, the prices ranging from five dollars to a dollar and a half a day.

Nearly ten thousand acres of land have been leased to colored people near Vicksburg this year, and most of it is under successful cultivation.

The only provident Indian on record is the Chippewa chief Hole-in-the-Day, who has, in Minnesota, a fine, splendid farm, one mile square, a comfortable dwelling, a large stock of cattle and horses, and an income, $3,000 a year, free of income tax.

A Chicago paper says the Western fruit crop this year will be immense.

The taxes on the manufacturers of Philadelphia for a single year, amount to nearly seven millions of dollars.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK. The September number of this excellent ladies' magazine, has thus early made its appearance. It opens with a handsome engraving, entitled the "Spirit of '76." Its other embellishments are rich and varied. The contributions to this number, as usual, are instructive and entertaining. For sale at the Quincy Bookstore.

In this town, on the 20th inst., of chronic diarrhoea, contracted while in the army, Mr. Samuel A. Nightingale, aged 27 years, 10 months and 20 days.

The above announces the departure of a young man in the prime of life. A noble, true-hearted youth, who when the cry came that the country was in danger rushed boldly forward—leaving kind parents, brothers, sisters and friends to fight for all that our fathers had left us that was noble and patriotic. Quickly to the music he marched to the front, and boldly did he face the enemy's bullets, but he was too good, too brave to die thus. He was not used to the trials of a soldier's life, and it wore upon him. At last, that slow but unrelenting disease, chronic diarrhoea, commenced its work, which it has so completely, yet so sadly finished. He was a son of Mr. Thomas J. Nightingale of this town, and beside many near and dear relatives, he leaves a large circle of young associates who were won by his kind and genial disposition.

New Skirt For 1865-6.

The Great Invention of the Age in HOOP SKIRTS.

J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent Duplex Elliptic (or Double) Spring Skirt.

THIS INVENTION Consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ingeniously braided together, and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in going up and down stairs, and in all the ordinary duties of life. Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenades, and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use, and occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin dress.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great Convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted threads, and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every skirt are also Double Steel and twice or double covered to prevent the springing down stairs, stone steps, &c., &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegantly corded tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

Life Insurance.

The advantages afforded by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, are so favorable that almost any man now in good health can provide $1000 or $2000 ready cash in hand for himself and family at a certain age, or for his family at his decease.

As an investment, also, to those who can make it, nothing is so sure of so large a return where no misfortune in business can divert it from the purpose designed.
For instance a man at the age of 35 years, now in good health, can insure the payment of $2000 to his family at his decease by the payment of $27 50 in cash, and an order on the Company for his dividend of $27 50 when it is made.

Dividends are made annually, and have been 50 per cent, several years, but must soon increase, as the Company has over $2,000,000 net surplus. More than $600,000 was added from the profit of the last year's business.

The interest money alone received by the Company the past year was nearly $400,000. Morally and legally every man having a family is bound to provide for them every comfort within his means available in case of his decease.

The Ladies are looking into the benefits which are to be secured to themselves and their little ones by Life Insurance—more especially the young ladies. From the present indications, we would not be surprised if ere long these young ladies should come to a conclusion to make a life policy one condition in the marriage contract. Not to blame all would say, "Served him right."

Capt. Speke's Adventure.

At the earliest possible moment after camp had been pitched, a hunt was set afoot, and Captain Grant, myself and some attendants were soon making our way to the "patch."

There were no animals there when we arrived, except a few hippopotami, and we were, therefore, obliged to wait the coming of some more palatable game. Our patience, however, was severely taxed, and after a long delay, we were about to "bag" a hippopotamus, when an attendant perched in a tree about a half a mile distant began waving his blanket. This was a signal that game was approaching. We immediately drew into cover, and awaited the coming of the latter.

We were not long delayed, for presently a long column of animals, from the elephant to the hoo-doo, appeared in view, trotting at a wood pace to the river. Their flanks were soon presented to us, and each selecting his object, fired. McCall shot a fine young buffalo cow, whilst Captain Grant was equally successful with a hoo-doo, and several spears, cast by our attendants, stopped the career of one or two different animals of the herd.

At this juncture, however, occurred an unexpected adventure, that finished our sport at least for that day. I had sprang forward immediately after firing in order to obtain a fair shot at a huge elephant that I wanted to bring down on account of his immense tusks. I got the desired aim, and pulled the trigger of my second barrel. At the moment of my doing so a wild cry of alarm, uttered by one of the blacks, called my attention. Glancing around, my eyes chanced to range up in the foliage of the tree beneath which Captain Grant and myself had lain for several hours previous. My feelings may be imagined, as I beheld an enormous boa constrictor whose head and neck, projected some distance into view, showed that he was about to make a fatal spring. His direction was certainly toward me; and as he flashed from his position like a thunder bolt, I gave myself up for ere he could reach me, the folds of my shirt caught in a whirlwind of dust, and a strange indescribable scuffle ensued.

In the midst of the strife I suddenly became conscious of the presence of a second victim, and even after the time that has elapsed since then, I still recollect with what vividness the thought shot across my mind when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and classic manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty. It is fast becoming as popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.

might bring the spare fold around my neck or chest, and then farewell to the sources of the Nile. Oh how hardly, how desperately I struggled to command myself! I glanced at Grant, and saw him handling his rifle anxiously. I glanced at the negroes, and saw them still gazing as though petrified with astonishment.

I glanced at the serpent's loathsome head and saw its bright, deadly eyes, watching for the least sign of life in its prey. Now then the reptile loosened its fold on my arm a hair's breadth, and now a little more, until half an inch separated my arm and its mottled skin. I could have whipped out my hand but dared not take the risk. Atoms of time dragged themselves into ages, and a minute seemed eternity itself! The second fold was removed entirely, and the next one was easing. Should I dash away now or wait a more favorable moment? I decided upon the former; and with lightning speed, I bounded away toward Grant; the crack of whose piece I heard at the instant. For the first time in my life, I was thoroughly overcome; and sinking down I remained in a semi-conscious state several minutes.

When I fully recovered, Grant and the overjoyed negroes held me up and pointed out the boa, who was still writhing in his death agonies. I shuddered as I looked upon the effects of his tremendous dying strength. For yards around where he lay, grass, and bushes, and saplings, and in fact everything except the more fully grown trees, were cut clean off as though they had been trampled with an immense scythe. This monster when measured was fifty-one feet two inches and a half in extreme length, while round the thickest portion of its body, the girth was nearly three feet, thus proving, I believe, to be the largest serpent that was ever authentically heard of.

The habitual conviction of the presence of God, is the sovereign remedy in temptations; it supports, it consoles, it calms us.

We must not be surprised that we are tempted. Everything is temptation to us. Crosses irritate our pride, and prosperity flatters our vanity. We do not resist temptations, like a tempest, beat upon our heads, and still move on; like a traveller surprised on the way by a storm, who wraps his cloak about him, and goes on his journey in spite of the opposing elements.

In a certain sense, there is a little to do in doing the will of God. Still, it is true, that it is a great work, because it must be without any reserve. This spirit enters the secret foldings of our hearts, and even the most upright affections, and the most necessary attachments, must be regulated by his will; but it is not the multitude of hard duties, it is not restraint and contention, that advance us in our Christian course. On the contrary, it is the yielding of our wills, without restriction and without choice, to tread cheerfully every day in the path in which Providence leads us; to seek nothing, to be discouraged by nothing, to see our duty in the present moment; to trust all else without reserve to the will and power of God. Let us pray to our Heavenly Father that our wills may be swallowed up in his.—Fendou.

Life a Dream.

Such is life; to day on the stage of action, to-morrow vanished like a dream, like a tale that is told; while another comes forward to take the place that is vacant in the great drama of life, in which we have all our allotted part.

"One generation passeth away and another cometh." As it was in the early stages of the world, so it is now, and will ever be.—"Men fleeth like a shadow and is not." Like tender grass he withereth; like the spring bud he blooms but to decay; like the snowflake he melts away in tears; he goeth to his long home, and the places that now know him will know him no more forever.

Circumstances alter Cases.

Pat Casey made a big strike in Colorado and immediately began to call himself "Patrick D. Casey, Esquire." An old acquaintance came along and, how are ye Pat? was the salutation in the old familiar way.

Pat was rich now, and couldn't see it, and this was the reply.

Bedad, sir, yer mighty fray, sir! Pat is it, now? I'll be after lettin' ye know, sir, that me name is P. D. Casey, and if ye've any business, it's myself has an office in Central, sir, and me office hours are from 9. m. in the forenoon, till 4. m. in the afternoon, sir. Ye can call on me clerks, sir. Dye mind that?

The only chance for some men's hats to contain anything valuable is to pass them around for pennies.

A DISCOURSE,

Delivered by J. M. Allen, under Spirit-influence, at Rogers's Chapel, Quincy, Mass., Feb. 5th, 1865.

[Published by Request.]

"All they were all filled with the Holy Ghost and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance."—Acts ii. 4.

I think Heaven, to-day, that the Word of God sanctified and destroyed. I think Heaven to-day that the spirit of God liveth, and that the Holy Ghost, which did come down aforetime and rest upon the brow of Jesus and his disciples, descendeth also to-day, and resteth upon the heads of those who are called to-day; that the truth, as it is in Jesus, as it is in the world, is in the human heart, can be spoken to-day from the pulpit of America. I feel thankful that God, in his merciful dispensations, has given rise to these glorious truths which are offered for man to contemplate in this nineteenth century. Oh, that I had lived when the spirit of God, the Holy Ghost, and the spirits of the wise and good of past ages were permitted to go forth into the outer life, and to speak unto the children of men. But my work was done, my labors were finished before the glorious gospel of Spiritualism had obtained a foothold upon the shores of America. And as my freed spirit rose from its casket of clay, and I greeted the loved ones of former days, in spirit-life, I looked back to earth with no expectation that I should ever be able again to speak unto the sons of men; with no expectations that God's laws would ever permit me, a disrobed spirit, freed from the earthly habitations, to come back into earthly presences, and to manifest my own selfhood and identity, that those witnessing might recognize me, receive my teachings, and take me with joy and thankfulness into their companionship. But I soon found that I had not learned all the laws of Nature. And instead of being permitted never to roam the scenes of earth again, never to manifest the thoughts of my spirit brain to the people of earth, I found speedily that God had opened a way for my return, and for the return of others who had it within them to do so. I thank God for this! I thank him for the inestimable privilege which I enjoy, as one of the countless host of spirit workers who still labor for the good of humanity in the flesh, to still speak aloud for freedom, to still shout forth words of grave import for the salvation and the regeneration of undeveloped humanity. Oh God of the universe! I do thank thee, from the inmost depths of my being, that there is a law which governs the material things of earth; that the dear associations of earth-life which cling around me so dearly, so pleasantly, are not rudely broken; and that the dear ties of earth still continue, in all their serenity, in all their perfection.

And it comes upon me, to-day, to enter once more into the vestibule of creation, to enter once more into the outer courts of life, to speak forth such thoughts unto you, dear friends, as I may feel welling up within my heart of hearts. I know full well that there be those here to-day, who believe not in these things, who feel not within their souls the blessed reality of spirit communion, of spirit return, of spirit guidance and control. But, thank Heaven again, they be few in these latter days who do not feel within their souls some consciousness of God's truth. There is a deep consciousness innate within the human breast, that there is another life; that death does not remove the loved ones far away; that it does not shut the door against the soul's return, so that there can be no more entrance to the affectional nature on the part of the dear ones gone before. The souls of Spiritualists I would fain press home to your common consciousness to-day. I would fain make you all realize beyond a doubt, that there is a presence here, operating upon this form of clay, other than the spirit of James Madison Allen, even that of one who formerly did live in your midst, who formerly did traverse your streets, and feel at home in all the haunts of your town. God be praised, I know that I am here! And I believe that, ere I close, perchance there may be others who will feel within their souls that I am here.

It is not enough that you be liberal men. It is not enough that you be liberal as to all things material, studying into the material laws for the government of material concerns. It is not enough that you plow deep into the surface of life and lay the foundation for a beautiful fruitage of materiality. I tell you, friends, there is an immortal part. There is a beauty, a glory in human life, that you do not realize or comprehend. Oh, that I might impress you, to-day, with the realities that surround you and lie within you, and make you feel that the beauties of the higher life are being let down upon the shores of America, with a potency which no materialistic principle can withstand. I would that I could make you realize the labor of the angels, to-day, in the cause of human elevation, for the down-trodden in your land, for the weak and ignorant. Oh, that you might feel that you are co-workers with the Spirit in every good word and work.

I had that on my entrance into spirit-life I did not think that I should be permitted to return, and that I soon found my mistake. Oh, that you might all, friends of earth, who dwell in the dismal courts of skepticism and of false theology—oh, that you might all realize, before you pass on to the higher life, that you have been let down upon the shores of America, with a potency which no materialistic principle can withstand. I would that I could make you realize the labor of the angels, to-day, in the cause of human elevation, for the down-trodden in your land, for the weak and ignorant. Oh, that you might feel that you are co-workers with the Spirit in every good word and work.

It is not enough that you hold up your hands in the great fight of humanity—declaring that you are for truth and eternal progress; declaring that you are for the rights, not only of the degraded African—not only for the down-trodden of the different portions of the earth, but for the rights of the denizens of the spirit-spheres, who claim the right to come back to earth and speak to you, and to guide you, and to mold your destinies. It is not enough for you to do this. You must seek into your hearts so much of the intensity of your love, that you shall show forth to the world in every act of your lives, that it is good for you thus to believe, and thus to worship the God of Love.

Perhaps I have spoken long enough concerning the depravity of theology, and the supposed depravity of the human heart. One is certain; and the other impossible.

I want to include within my discourse to you to-day, as much of thought as I can give to you. I want to show to you, from different stand points, the spirit-life, and the different relations which the spiritual movement bears to humanity. But when we can succeed in encroachments upon the rights of the newly-discovered land and people, planted the seeds again for the revolutionary operations of the last century. And these grand workings of the plan of God have been perceptible from the earliest days of human history, preparing the human race, step by step, to understand how to worship Jehovah.

Why, the human race have never known how to worship God, nor what God is, nor where he is, nor the nature of his purposes; but, erring in their undeveloped conditions, in their terror prostrating themselves before an imaginary throne, a self-constructed Deity, they have worn out their miserable lives trembling and shrinking from that good God, and those goodly messengers of God, who ought to have found a resting-place in their hearts. But, to-day, a new light is dawning upon the world, a light whose radiant beams speak forth to every son of man, "God is Love; God is good, and all souls are precious in his sight; and all the dispensations of life, on earth, or in the heavens, in the solar system, or in any other of the great systems in the cosmosphere of the universe, all work forth according to the divine plans conceived through the love principle of God, and have been made through the wisdom of Deity, and shall be fulfilled in accordance with the almighty power of the same Deity."

Oh that ye might understand all the laws of Nature! Oh that ye might know how ye live, and why ye live, and understand the great interests locked up in the nineteenth century. Oh that I might have the power of hosts of beings concentrated in this little spot, that I might speak forth in thunder tones the grandeur, and beauty, and the unspeakably glorious destiny of the human race.

There is no total depravity of humanity, because all things have sprung forth from the bosom of Godness, of Infinite and Unchangeable Wisdom. The doctrine of total depravity has been set forth, and this miserable dogma has been grounded in the soul of humanity, and kept it from rising into those glorious apprehensions of goodness necessary to a truly unselfish life. So long as men believe in the innate depravity of the human race, so long will selfishness be rampant throughout the world. Man looks upon his brother man, and says, "Behold a being whose heart is vicious! He loves me not. He seeks to encroach upon my rights. He is deceitful about all things, and desperately wicked. I will stand for my rights. I will resist his encroachment."

And then comes selfishness. I say to you, from my stand-point to-day, from the observations I have taken of humanity, its nature, its movements, and all, that the principle of love is the great law of the universe, and that the selfish element of fear, which is so deeply imbedded in the human soul, in consequence of the teaching of the false theories of past times. I say this kindly, I say this lovingly; but, at the same time, when I look abroad and see the wars which are ravaging the earth, which are scourging humanity to-day; when I look abroad and see the speculative spirit, the mad thirst of ambition, the self-aggrandizing spirit of humanity, in the aggregate, and in general, I feel like almost cursing the old theories of the past, from the inmost depths of my being. I know I see that they are responsible in a great degree for the evils that afflict humanity. But yet all has been well, and in accordance with the plans of Deity; for man cannot appreciate the love-principle of God until the fires of development should have raised humanity above these contemptible passions. Thank Heaven, the time is coming when the destiny of the human soul is to be acknowledged in Church, and in State, in the school and in the market-place.

The scourge of the past—the thoughts of fear and terror—is being applied more and more freely to the backs of men; and you are writhing less and less bitterly under the weight of the theological yoke. You think strangely, perhaps, of your fellow-men, of old—you think it strange that I come back and declaim against the evils of theology; I, who was so wrapped up in the political interests of my country. But I have learned that the political evils of life grow out of the theological evils that have prevailed. So long as we fear God, and hate their neighbors through this fear, so long will there be need of such talk as this given to you to-day.

But you of these later times, calling yourselves believers in a new gospel, which embraces within its folds earth and heaven, do not feel this. You have cast off from yourselves much of the bondage of old theology. You fear not God, but love him. You seek to find in the human breast evidences of divinity—evidences of a guiding principle which has been implanted there. And in proportion as you do realize that every human being is good before God, and that the summum bonum of all things is God, believe me to-day that I can come to you and encourage you in your glorious good work.

It is not enough that you hold up your hands in the great fight of humanity—declaring that you are for truth and eternal progress; declaring that you are for the rights, not only of the degraded African—not only for the down-trodden of the different portions of the earth, but for the rights of the denizens of the spirit-spheres, who claim the right to come back to earth and speak to you, and to guide you, and to mold your destinies. It is not enough for you to do this. You must seek into your hearts so much of the intensity of your love, that you shall show forth to the world in every act of your lives, that it is good for you thus to believe, and thus to worship the God of Love.

Perhaps I have spoken long enough concerning the depravity of theology, and the supposed depravity of the human heart. One is certain; and the other impossible.

I want to include within my discourse to you to-day, as much of thought as I can give to you. I want to show to you, from different stand points, the spirit-life, and the different relations which the spiritual movement bears to humanity. But when we can succeed in uprooting from the Church of the present time the principles which inhere therein—when we have done this, we may also work upon the other relations of life and the other interests of humanity. There are those in spirit-life whose whole souls yearn for the elevation of the black race, step by step, to understand how to worship Jehovah.

Why, the human race have never known how to worship God, nor what God is, nor where he is, nor the nature of his purposes; but, erring in their undeveloped conditions, in their terror prostrating themselves before an imaginary throne, a self-constructed Deity, they have worn out their miserable lives trembling and shrinking from that good God, and those goodly messengers of God, who ought to have found a resting-place in their hearts. But, to-day, a new light is dawning upon the world, a light whose radiant beams speak forth to every son of man, "God is Love; God is good, and all souls are precious in his sight; and all the dispensations of life, on earth, or in the heavens, in the solar system, or in any other of the great systems in the cosmosphere of the universe, all work forth according to the divine plans conceived through the love principle of God, and have been made through the wisdom of Deity, and shall be fulfilled in accordance with the almighty power of the same Deity."

Oh that ye might understand all the laws of Nature! Oh that ye might know how ye live, and why ye live, and understand the great interests locked up in the nineteenth century. Oh that I might have the power of hosts of beings concentrated in this little spot, that I might speak forth in thunder tones the grandeur, and beauty, and the unspeakably glorious destiny of the human race.

There is no total depravity of humanity, because all things have sprung forth from the bosom of Godness, of Infinite and Unchangeable Wisdom. The doctrine of total depravity has been set forth, and this miserable dogma has been grounded in the soul of humanity, and kept it from rising into those glorious apprehensions of goodness necessary to a truly unselfish life. So long as men believe in the innate depravity of the human race, so long will selfishness be rampant throughout the world. Man looks upon his brother man, and says, "Behold a being whose heart is vicious! He loves me not. He seeks to encroach upon my rights. He is deceitful about all things, and desperately wicked. I will stand for my rights. I will resist his encroachment."

And then comes selfishness. I say to you, from my stand-point to-day, from the observations I have taken of humanity, its nature, its movements, and all, that the principle of love is the great law of the universe, and that the selfish element of fear, which is so deeply imbedded in the human soul, in consequence of the teaching of the false theories of past times. I say this kindly, I say this lovingly; but, at the same time, when I look abroad and see the wars which are ravaging the earth, which are scourging humanity to-day; when I look abroad and see the speculative spirit, the mad thirst of ambition, the self-aggrandizing spirit of humanity, in the aggregate, and in general, I feel like almost cursing the old theories of the past, from the inmost depths of my being. I know I see that they are responsible in a great degree for the evils that afflict humanity. But yet all has been well, and in accordance with the plans of Deity; for man cannot appreciate the love-principle of God until the fires of development should have raised humanity above these contemptible passions. Thank Heaven, the time is coming when the destiny of the human soul is to be acknowledged in Church, and in State, in the school and in the market-place.

The scourge of the past—the thoughts of fear and terror—is being applied more and more freely to the backs of men; and you are writhing less and less bitterly under the weight of the theological yoke. You think strangely, perhaps, of your fellow-men, of old—you think it strange that I come back and declaim against the evils of theology; I, who was so wrapped up in the political interests of my country. But I have learned that the political evils of life grow out of the theological evils that have prevailed. So long as we fear God, and hate their neighbors through this fear, so long will there be need of such talk as this given to you to-day.

But you of these later times, calling yourselves believers in a new gospel, which embraces within its folds earth and heaven, do not feel this. You have cast off from yourselves much of the bondage of old theology. You fear not God, but love him. You seek to find in the human breast evidences of divinity—evidences of a guiding principle which has been implanted there. And in proportion as you do realize that every human of political and national life as well! How much better shall ye be prepared to enter into that pure love, when ye seek to lay aside your bigotry and selfishness, and be taught of the Spirit of God and the Holy Ghost, and the spiritual beings that are crowding the mortal shores.

The time must come when you shall be willing to do justice to us, as well as to the down-trodden of the earth—to do justice to the workers of the spiritual sphere. You have not done it. We come to your hearts, and you shut us out from your sympathies. We come to your households, and you know it not; or, knowing, will not acknowledge. We infuse into your minds new arts, new sciences, and new thoughts for the salvation of the world, and it is all unrecognized and all unacknowledged. It has been so in times past; but the windows of heaven are being opened to-day. Thank God, the fires of spirituality are finding their way into the hearts of humanity, and they cannot be resisted much longer. This very American conflict, which has been waging so bitterly for these years, shall not be an evil, but a great blessing to you; for the west wind, which has been blowing upward from your battle-fields, and returning downward into your hearts, in consequence of this attempt of the powers of darkness to subvert the foundations of your Government—this vast stream of life back to the mortal shores—is having its effect already upon you, as a nation, theologically, politically, scientifically and socially. You have been enthralled in a cold mantle of selfishness, which did not recognize the brotherhood of the human race. You have had principles for your governance in times past which were wrong. We are doing away with these conditions.

Believe us, dear ones of earth, the reign of selfishness is coming to an end in this land, and in other lands. Time is necessary, it is true; but time we have. Eternity we have. But the march of humanity shall be more rapid in the future than it has been in the past. The foundations of a scientific knowledge of those principles which we employ in our intercourse with men, have been laid. We are now firmly established upon a solid basis, so to speak; and the rubbish of America having been swept away by the fire of revolution—the rubbish of selfishness which had engrafted itself more especially in your own great sin of slavery, having been removed—Spiritualism, heaving and surging through the various strata of life, shall break the crust of materialism and aristocracy. The aristocracy of America needs to be touched with a fire that shall destroy the selfishness of it, and lead men, compel women to recognize something else besides the adornment of the person—something else besides position flowing from wealth—something else besides the idle flitting away of the precious moments of life in the fashionability of the present time. You are ruled too much by the public conscience, and not enough by your own private conscience. Every man's life is from heaven, the birthright of free thought, and of free action, so long as it interferes not with the rights of others. This has not been recognized—more or less governed by the public conscience, governed by that miserable condition that crowds out the finer instincts of the soul—that when the poor and suffering come to you for relief and succor, you turn up your aristocratic noses, and pass by on the other side—deigning not to extend the hand of charity and love. And when the miserable outcasts of life come before your notice, you have not a cheerful charity for them, but only a cold condescension growing out of the old ideologies of the past. You spurn them. You have not charity for the unfortunately organized beings all around you, filling your prisons, filling your almshouses, filling your neighborhoods and cities with a fear lest your property may not be safe, with a fear lest your lives may be in jeopardy. These things should not be so. We say that all these relations of life are to be touched from the spiritual fires, and then it shall be the root of the tree of evil. Tracing cause to effect, you will realize that the criminals of the land need your sympathy, more, indeed, than the prosperous ones with whom you have daily dealings; that those poor creatures, immured in prison houses and almshouses, need not the fierce scowls that you turn upon them from the floor of the prison, but that you have a more sympathetic character of your minds, looking back at the primary causes of their condition, tracing the birthright which they have inherited, the birthright of false tendencies toward crime, you will learn a lesson to respect all men, no matter whether they wear the chains in the gloomy dungeons which you have erected—or by matter whether in high places or low, and you will learn to extend the hand of charity.

Oh, well do I realize the universality of Spiritualism. The universal nature of the spiritual movement is realized by us, if it is not by you. Other nations than America need regeneration; and they shall have it! So fast as they can bear it, we shall give forth truths that shall startle the nations across the waters from their God-defying tyrannies, and rouse the down-trodden masses to a vivid sense of their capacities, their rights and their destiny. Oh, then shall it be grand to live on earth! For the selfishness of men shall be neutralized by the love-element, poured forth in copious showers from the celestial spheres; and we shall be heard in all the hamlets, dungeons and places of the startled nationalities of the Old World. The crumbling palaces erected for selfish aggrandizement and for the belittling of the human soul, will feel the touch of an irresistible wave of spirituality and eternal justice, and they shall totter and fall. And the hopes of the toiling masses shall rise upon the ruins. And humanity shall be free! God speed the happy day! And may all who have yearning souls for humanity's weal arouse themselves anew for this glorious and beneficent work. Angels! mortals! oh let your aspirations and your efforts flow forth unitedly for human redemption. Spiritualists of America and the world! see to it that your lives accord with the sublime teachings which are being wafted to you from the Summer-Land! Your duty is clear. Perform it! Look up for guidance! Behold the vast multitude, yearning with undying and angelic love for the mitigation of all human evils. Behold the selfishness of those spirit-minds! Oh, let your own lives repeat so sublime a virtue. Let the zeal of spirit-life become your own! Determine to be free yourselves, and to exert such an influence for freedom that the down-trodden of all lands shall feel its uplifting power. Let a purer spirituality, as day succeeds day, irradiate from your inner life, that earth and heaven may feel the blessedness of your conditions. Soon, oh Spiritualists of America! soon shall you see yourselves other than despised, persecuted and neglected, if you prove faithful to the sacred trust reposed in you. A power in the land, your influence shall yet be felt in the weightier concerns of governmental life. We are with you. Our labors shall never cease. A mighty host, whom no man can number, our arm of spirit is extended over the land, over you, over the world. Be strong, then, for the shield of the spirit protects, and no man can harm!

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Sept. 2d, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

THE SPEAR PICNIC. The gathering of the family of the late Seth Spear, of this town, took place at the old homestead, at Houghs Neck, on Wednesday last. It was a beautiful day and some seventy-six lineal descendants or connections by marriage including the fourth and fifth generations, from the progenitor were present and joined in the festivities. Congratulations, singing, feasting, speaking, sailing, &c., passed the day pleasantly. The family has become very numerous—numbering several hundred—and are scattered not only throughout New England, but the whole United States. The gathering on this occasion however was composed principally of those belonging to the town. This family festival is an old established institution, and has been celebrated annually, to a greater or less extent, for two score years or more.

ONE HUNDRED BUSHELS OF CORN TO THE ACRE. Summer is past, and with it, we hope the dry weather. Many of the farmers in this vicinity have suffered severely—some fields of potatoes and corn will scarcely pay for gathering. For this reason our readers can judge that we were a little surprised at seeing one day recently an unusually handsome field of corn. One that is estimated will average one hundred bushels to the acre. It is situated in the rear of the Stone Church at the Railway Village, and belongs to Noah Cummings, Esq., of this town—one of the best practical farmers in this country. He is sure to have large and rich crops.

Is there another field of corn in this county that will average eighty bushels to the acre? We think not.

A GENEROUS MOVE. It will be noticed by posters about our streets, that some kind friends and associates of Mr. Adam Alge, propose holding a ball, on Wednesday evening next, for his benefit. It is for a good purpose, and we doubt not that our citizens, generally, will lend a helping hand. Mr. Alge went nobly forward and helped manfully to fight the bloody battles of our nation, and after enduring the trials and hardships of the tented field for years, received wounds which have disabled him for life; and he and his large family are now deserving of a little aid from our generous citizens. We hope that all the tickets will be sold, and a handsome token of respect and reward will be shown our veteran soldier.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT. As a party from Lovell's Four Corners, Weymouth, on their way to the beach, were crossing the railroad track, near the West Depot in Hingham, on Thursday last, in an omnibus, they were run into by an engine, with sad result. Mr. Leander Lovell was instantly killed. His wife had her back broken and cannot survive. Others had their legs broken, and received many severe bruises. The cause of the accident was owing it is said to the carelessness of the driver, who saw the engine coming but thought he had sufficient time to cross the track.

NEW STORE. We would call the attention of our readers to the new Grocery and Provision store, opened this day on Hancock Street, near the Orthodox Church by the Messrs. Blake. They have purchased a new stock of goods and feel prepared to give good bargains to those who may favor them with a call. The younger member of the firm has been engaged in the grocery business in this place for many years, and many of his old friends and customers will undoubtedly be pleased to find him ready to accommodate them with their family articles.

A PLEASANT EXCURSION. Among the many pleasant trips that one can enjoy cheaply, is one from Boston to Nahant in the splendid steamer "Orient." On Wednesday last we took the half-past two o'clock boat at India Wharf, and enjoyed a pleasant sail of an hour and a half and then stopped at Nahant for one hour. On our return we found the boat well crowded with a pleasant company and among the multitude of strange faces we were pleased to recognize the familiar countenance of Mr. L. P. Forbush and lady; they were both looking well.

DROWNED. A sad accident occurred at Not Island in this town on Friday last week. It appears that Mr. Franklin Cram and family of Braintree, went to the island to enjoy a clambake. While preparing the lunch it was found that they were short of crackers. Accordingly his son Frederic was sent with a horse and chaise for some. On returning he found the tide was over the bar several feet, which connects the island with Great Hill. The young man thinking that there was no danger started to cross, but accidentally went on one side and got into deep water. His brother Marcus F. Cram, seeing his danger jumped upon a horse, and started to his assistance, but when within a few feet of him was thrown off and drowned. Their father went to their rescue but the tide was so strong that he was carried several rods from the shore. Wm. H. Mear, a lad of seventeen years, who was near by, came to their aid in a boat, and succeeded in rescuing Mr. Cram, and afterwards his son from the carriage, who had succeeded in keeping his horse's head above water.

The body of Marcus F. Cram was soon after recovered but life had departed. He was 25 years of age, and son-in-law of Mr. Warren J. Vinal, of this town. He had been in the army several years, and was respected by all who knew him.

A VENERABLE LADY. We had the pleasure on Tuesday, of conversing with Mrs. Mehtable Brackett, mother of Mr. Chas. C. Brackett of this town, who reached the advanced age of ninety-four years on Monday last. We found her looking quite well and smart considering her age. She still knits and we were shown a stocking that she had commenced. She is we believe the oldest person in town.

FIRE IN DORCHESTER. The alarm of fire in this place on Wednesday evening, was caused by the burning of a soap factory, at Neponset, belonging to Mr. Charles Hunt. There was a large amount of stock on hand, little of which was saved. The building, stock, &c., were insured for $11,500.00, which will nearly cover the loss. Sidney Mullett, a weak minded youth, was arrested on suspicion of having set the fire, and has since confessed to Mr. Hunt that he did so. His explanation of it, is that he does without comes in his mind to do, without hesitation or reflection. The same boy came near committing suicide by hanging himself some months since while in the employ of Edmund Rogers, and there were other crimes present from this town and several from Roxbury.

CLOSING OF STORES. On and after Monday next, the Post Office and Stores in this village will be closed at eight o'clock P. M., according to the usual custom during the Fall and Winter months.

FIRE. The alarm of fire Thursday evening was caused by the burning of bushes on land belonging to Messrs. Josiah and Elijah Baxter, situated between Quincy Avenue and South street in this town.

BUTCHERING BUSINESS AT BRIGHTON.—Some idea of the immense butchering business transacted annually here can be obtained from the following statistics: There are thirty-eight slaughter houses, with a capital in use of $255,942, and employing 122 hands. They slaughtered during the past year no less than 220,000 animals, viz: 1200 calves; 23,781 swine; 170,517 sheep, and 25,058 cattle. The total amount of dressed meats produced was 33,738,778 pounds, worth $3,940,661. Of this there were 22,400,000 pounds of beef, worth $2,516,360; 4,774,300 pounds of pork, worth $662,638; 6,508,078 pounds of lamb, worth $750,558; and 25,500 pounds of veal, worth 11,035.

A gentleman in Boston recently bought a black and tan terrier in New York and paid a high price for him, because he was supposed to be pure blooded—"and thereby hangs a tale." Since reaching home the black and tan color of the animal has gradually faded out and he has become a very ordinary looking white cur. Gentlemen who hereafter buy dogs in the "metropolis" should take warning and get only those that "will wash," or at least they will do well to be careful about taking their terriers out when there is promise of a shower.

THE PUBLIC DEBT. The amount of the public debt outstanding on the last day of July was 2,757,253,275 $5—the annual interest on which amounts to $139,262,468 38—$64,521,837 50 of it payable in coin, and the balance in lawful money. The amount of fractional currency in circulation is $25,750,000; and legal tender notes $65,236,263; national bank notes $161,971,180.

THE MANUFACTURES OF NEW ENGLAND. The eighth census returns give the following exhibit of the total manufactures in the New England States in 1860. Annual value of products, $468,599,267; annual cost of labor, $104,231,466; male hands employed 262,834 female hands employed 129,907; cost of raw material $245,523,107; capital invested $257,577,783; number of establishments 20,671.

Resolutions of the QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL MEMORANDUM SOCIETY On the death of Samuel A. Nightingale.

WHEREAS our little circle has a second time been broken by the death of one of its members, and wishing to show, even though feebly, our sympathy with his relatives and friends, and our appreciation of the good and many qualities displayed by our departed brother—

Therefore, Resolved, That by the death of Samuel A. Nightingale, this Society has lost a faithful member and a valued friend, whose memory will be ever cherished by us all; to whose virtues all can testify; of whose patriotism, his death, which was given for his country, though not amid the duties of the camp or perils of battle, is a sorrowful proof.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to his afflicted family and friends in their great bereavement, and would we could mitigate their grief, assuring them that He "who doeth all things well," will bring light out of the seeming darkness, and pour the oil of consolation on the wounds of all who confidently seek him.

Resolved, That we sympathize with our worthy President in his loss of a kind friend, a loved companion and affectionate brother.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, one to our President, and also one to each member of the Society.

For the Patriot.
Interesting Celebration.

FORT POPHAM, AUG. 29TH, 1865.

On this spot, where now are rising the walls of a United States Fortress to guard the mouth of the Kennebec, George Popham landed two hundred and fifty-eight years ago, and founded the first New England Colony, whose priority of possession gave English settlers afterwards a claim which was maintained against those of Spain and France.

Proud of a Plymouth Rock thirteen years older than that of Massachusetts, three thousand Maine-lacs, more or less, every year come hither to have a good time. Few care for the oration—still fewer care for Popham's bones buried here; but all enjoy themselves as they choose in this most delightfully romantic spot.

The old "Ocean House" is now the military headquarters for the attacks of the Fort, and is in charge of J. B. F. Noyes, of the Engineers Service, who courteously gave Boston reporters a room, and lunch for the latter, of which a morning sail of thirty miles had given an admirable appetite. I can speak, at least, for the representatives of the Advertiser and Journal. The oration by Hon. J. W. Patterson, Professor of Astronomy at Dartmouth, and member of Congress, was finely conceived, felicitously expressed, and eloquently delivered. The theme was the "Duties of the Founders of Empire."

After the public exercises, the people discuss the contents of their "basket"; to sail, or sail, or wander along the smooth beach, while others examined the Fort, on which nearly $400,000 have already been expended, and enjoyed the picturesque view of river and ocean.

When summer brings this scene again may we be there to see.

A MERITED COMPLIMENT. We notice among a recent list of commissions issued by the War Department at Washington, one to Captain William G. Shuen, of this town, as Major by Brevet, "for gallant and meritorious services at the battles of White Oak Road and Five Forks." Commission to date from April 1, 1865.

A WEALTHY CORPORATION. Trinity church in New York city is one of the richest corporations in the world—decidedly the most wealthy in the United States. It owns an immense amount of real estate, of which three hundred and thirty-six lots in the lower part of the city was leased in 1766 at seventy-five cents a lot; and these leases were in the hands of John Jacob Astor, and descended from him to his son. They were the main source of the Astor wealth. They are of course now covered with buildings, which yield high rents; some idea of which can be learned from the fact that Mr. Astor's income last year was $1,300,000. They are valued at six millions of dollars, and the lease will expire in May next, when they revert to the church.

Men's Fine Calf Opera Boots, only $4.02, at McLellan's. Call and look at them.

In this town, on the 30th ult., Mrs. Sally Kidder, aged 89 years and 10 months. Funeral from the residence of Mrs. A. J. Kenison, Washington street, this afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Friends and relations are invited.

"The memory of the just is blessed." On the 31st ult., Mr. Lemuel Nightingale, aged 58 years and 3 months.

On the 20th ult., Lucy J., daughter of Mr. Francis and Mrs. Jane A. Wilson, aged 2 years, 8 months and 16 days. She sleeps beneath a flowery mound, The grass waves o'er her head; Her sweet blue eyes are closed, and yet I cannot think her dead.

In Groveland, (Mass.) on the 25th ult., Oris M., son of Mr. Samuel M. and Mrs. Olive L. Sweet, of this town, aged 6 years and 7 months.

In this town, on the 30th ult., Lizzie A., daughter of Mr. Samuel M. and the late Lucy A. Sweet, aged 8 years and 7 months. In Ellingham, (N. H.) on the 25th ult., Willie, youngest child of Mr. Elijah B. and Mrs. P. L. Baxter, aged 3 years and 6 months. In Boston, on the 31st ult., Mrs. Grace W. wife of Mr. Thomas, and mother of Rev. E. P. Thwing. Asleep in Jesus.

WEYMOUTH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Some of the first citizens of Weymouth feeling the need of a good Agricultural and Industrial Society in their midst have organized a Society by the choice of some of the most enterprising persons of the place as its officers. They have a tract of land about half a mile east of the South Weymouth village, and have expended about two thousand dollars in establishing a good trotting park upon it. Having made all the necessary arrangements, they now propose to hold their first Cattle Show and Fair, on the 21st and 22d of this month. Everything connected with the same, has been carried out very extensively, and citizens of all the neighboring towns have been invited to join the Society and contribute articles to the Exhibition. All will do well to peruse their advertisement in our columns as it is very interesting and gives full particulars of the show.

SEWING MACHINES. We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers who may be in want of a good sewing machine to those manufactured by the Singer Manufacturing Company. They are in use in most of the tailoring establishments in this place, and are considered the cheapest and best that are made. They have so many useful appliances for hemming, binding, felling, tucking, gathering, braiding, embroidery, &c., that they are acknowledged on all sides as the best Family Sewing Machine in use. For full particulars see advertisement in our columns.

The Saratoga says the amount of Congress water drunk at the spring, during the height of the season, is doubtless greater than many people suppose. A count was kept one morning last week, when it appeared that four boys dipped at the rate of 50 glasses a minute, or 3000 glasses per hour. The amount drank that morning in three hours was about 9000 glasses.

The original commission issued to Jefferson Davis as Second Lieutenant of Dragons, was exhibited in Washington, one day recently. It is signed by Andrew Jackson, President, and Lewis Cass, Secretary of War. The possessor of the parchment procured it at the home of Davis on the Mississippi.

Shall I be Missed.

Shall I be missed if I pass from earth

When the sweet wild flowers are springing to birth?

Will Time's bright stream flow on as fair,

And home be the same if I am not there?

Will the faces I love wear the same gay smile,

And hearts I have cherished beat lightly the while?

Will my bird sing on with warbling breath,

If the voice of its mistress be hushed in death?

If my form be laid in the damp cold earth,

Will a gloom rest over the household hearth?

Will the home ones think how I stood by their side,

At the morning hour and the even-tide?

Will they weep when they think how I loved them all,

How I cherished each word that would lightly fall?

Can kindred and friends I have loved of yore,

Forget this heart when it beats no more?

Ah! friends will sigh when they hear it said

That a loved one sleeps with the lowly dead,

But the tones of others will cheer their lot—

Other faces will come, and mine be forgot.

Wild tears from kindred hearts will flow,

But time will pass and assuage their woe:

My face will glide from each sorrowing heart,

But my name and my memory ne'er will depart.

But there's one heart that within the grave

Will bury each hope in life's dark wave;

There will be one wound time ne'er may heal—

One soul forever its woe will feel:

There will ever be sorrow in one dear tone,

There will be despair in each fitful moan—

Ah! none can soothe her anguish woe,

None know how the mother will miss her child.

She will miss my care when old age comes on,

She will miss my love when its light is gone;

She will miss my tears when her own are shed,

She will miss the form that is cold and dead.

Oh! I have no fear of the last fast sigh,

Yet I ask that Death may pass me by:

And my prayer for life may Heaven forgive—

My mother, my mother, for thee would I live!

Miscellaneous.

Getting Rich.

Reader I was poor once. Do you think that I am rich now? Follow me to the end of this narrative and then conclude how rich

I am.

I was a poor man once; at least I wasn't rich. How I spent the first part of my life, is neither here nor there; suffice it to say, I learned a trade and—married. Week after week I brought home my wages, and as my family grew up around me, I congratulated myself with the thought that they were comfortable, and worked on, happy I may say, little dreaming that it lay within my power to climb the ladder of gold.

One Saturday night, I will, for reasons hereinafter stated, as lawyers would say, remember it long, I sat by my fire as usual.

The children were in bed. I had read the news, and my wife was knitting silently (she loved to knit) by the table. For the first time in my life I was thinking seriously of getting rich. Reader, you may blush, but I was actually thinking of getting rich, and that upon an income of ten or twelve dollars per week. I owned not a foot of land estate, and the house we had for years occupied had been considered as small, with all its advantages, as we could possibly get on with. We had always made a respectable appearance,

so my wife said, and kept my credit good,

and the children nicely clothed. Well, indeed,

if I say myself, to all a stranger would have known to the contrary, we were as rich as our neighbors, if you please, with whose children my little ones were wont to congregate. To be sure our oldest girl told us, my wife and me, one evening, that Miss Pauline

Lofie had taken particular pains to tell the girls that I was only a "renter," and my wife, losing her temper, as wives sometimes will, declared that granddaddy Lofie had been a butcher, and that that granddaddy

Lofie had been in the old country, she did not know where. But what of all that?

Nothing; only out of it I extracted a hearty laugh, for I am one of those vulgar persons, who will laugh sometimes, and my wife gettinged with her own. I have never been upright.

What are you thinking about, Andrew

Jackson Alexander? said my wife, looking up from her work.

About getting rich.

And now her fingers flew faster than before, and I fancied a smile played about the corners of her mouth.

And how? let me hear the plans, she said

at length.

By hard work, of course. I have often thought that no one can get rich by labor; I believe I can, or at least, we can practically contradict the saying.

So you mean for me to work, too?

Certainly so. Do you not work now?

Could not you, if you got sewing to do, or shoe binding, or something of that sort, make two, three or four dollars per week, and be just as well off as you are now?

Shoo binding!

I said no more for ten minutes. I knew cluded he was fitted for the business, sold his farm, started a store, and—busted.

Well, what shall I do?—tell me; I am ready to do it.

You are good with a needle on children's clothes.

Yes.

And you are good at the wash-tub.

Andrew Jackson Alexander.

I say you are good at the wash-tub—

And off I started to my work, with a light heart, for I knew I would gain my point. Let no one imagine that I intended to make a drudge of my wife; far from it; my intentions were only to teach her what she probably knew before, that labor, to be remunerative and advantageous, must be expended in that field for which we are best suited, where-ever that may be.

My wife at length fell in with all my plans,

as I knew she would, dear creature, from the first, and the end of the four weeks spoken</

The rest is soon told. My wife taught Pauline (she insisted upon us calling her by her first name) to economize, and in due season the claim against the property was cancelled, and to-day Prescott is a successful retail dealer in this city, and Mrs. Prescott is often seen behind her husband's counter.

Reader, I am now worth my thousands, but this reflection gives me little happiness in comparison with that which was mine the day I rescued Prescott's property.

INSTALLATION SERVICE. The installation of the Rev. S. T. Aldrich as pastor of the First Universalist Society in Quincy, will take place on Sunday evening next, (tomorrow) at 7 o'clock.

Rev. A. A. Miner, D. D., of Boston, will preach the Installation Sermon, and several other distinguished clergymen from Boston and vicinity will be present and participate in the exercises.

THE STEAM DUMMY on the Horse Railroad has made a number of trips into our village during the week, and we hope it will continue its visits; not only for the accommodation of the patrons of the road, but to relieve the poor animals for a season, who have been dragging these heavy cars through the hot days of summer.

THE COMPLIMENTARY BALL held at the Town Hall on Wednesday evening for the benefit of Mr. Adam Algate, we are gratified to learn, was in every respect a success. The attendance was large; the entertainment good—and the ball put in motion for the benefit of a meritorious man, rolled up the neat little sum (after defraying all expenses) of one hundred and five dollars!

ACCIDENT AT NEPONSET. On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Myron Shaw, while running a circular saw at the planing mill of Mr. A. T. Stearns, cut his arm so severely that it was thought necessary to amputate it.

NEW BOARDING HOUSE. It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, that Mr. J. W. Pratt, who is favorably known to our citizens, has removed his residence from our Codding street, opposite Mr. E. B. Hersey's, and made arrangements for the accommodation of boarders. It is pleasantly situated, and centrally located, being but a few minutes' walk from the Old Colony depot and Horse Railroad, and possesses all the conveniences and comforts for a quiet and pleasant home.

THE VERMONT ELECTION. An election for Governor and State officers, was held on Monday last; the result, so far as the State has been canvassed, falls out as follows:

In Twenty-five towns, Dillingham, (Republican) 5076; Davenport, (Democrat) 1554. For members of the Legislature, in forty-eight towns heard from, the Republicans elected forty-three and the Democrats five. The vote was very light.

Maine holds an election on Monday, for Governor and members of the Legislature.

THE RAIN on Wednesday, was a considerable relief to suffering humanity; who, under a burning summer heat, were fast wasting away into thin air. It cooled the atmosphere, gave new life to the system, and made all nature look and feel better.

Rev. Mr. Thwing preaches to-morrow morning from the text,—"BEHOLD THY MOTHER." Sacrament in the afternoon.

THE FALL BUSINESS in New York, by all accounts, has opened remarkably brisk this season. There is no want of customers, but goods to supply them with. Some of the jobbing houses there, have to work day and night to fill their orders. Every kind of merchandise goes off like hot cakes.

NEW STEAM CAR for Horse Railways. A new steam car for horse railways was exhibited the present week, on Summer street, East Boston. It is the invention of Mr. Joseph P. Woodbury. The car resembles in its exterior the ordinary steam vehicle. It is thirty feet long and will seat forty passengers. The engine has a seven-inch cylinder, a fourteen-inch stroke, and is about fifteen horse power. It is controlled with entire facility. The engine rests upon a circular track in a manner so as to traverse the body of the car. This construction enables the car to pass over curves, even if very abrupt, without difficulty. The car was manufactured by the Salem Car Company, and the engine by George M. Bird, of East Boston. It can be run at less cost than the ordinary cars.

UNITED STATES TREASURY. The cash balance in the hands of the Assistant Treasurer in Boston, at the close of business, September 2, was $9,211,515, an increase of $620,823 37, as compared with the close of the preceding week.

South Dedham Tragedy.

Early on Friday morning of last week, a terrible tragedy occurred at South Dedham, which has produced a painful impression in that and neighboring communities. At about half-past two in the morning of that day, Dr. Carlos Marston, a respectable and highly esteemed Homoeopathic Physician, his wife and adopted daughter, were found dead in their beds, and subsequent investigation established the fact the fatal deed had been performed by Mrs. Marston, while in a fit of insanity, with a "five shooter" revolver, which she had surreptitiously taken from her husband's trunk.

Dr. Marston was a native of Sutton, N. H., forty-two years of age. The early years of his manhood were devoted to Christianity. He was at one time and for several years a Universalist clergyman, but resolved to change his profession of clergyman to that of doctor. He chose Homoeopathy, and received his medical education in Burlington, Vt., and New York city.

Mrs. Marston was the daughter of H. Tenney, for many years the Superintendent of Construction on the Vermont Central Railroad. At the time of her death she was thirty-six years old.

Cora, the adopted daughter was the child of Mrs. Marston's sister. Her mother being insane, she was kindly taken into the family of Dr. M., by whom she was tenderly treated. She was ten years of age at the time of her death.

NORFOLK AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY. The Seventeenth Annual Exhibition of this Society will take place at Dedham, on Thursday and Friday, September 28th and 29th. The exercises for this occasion, as set forth in the programme of the Society, which may be found in another column of our paper to-day, promises to be of unusual interest. Old Norfolk is rich in such resources, and her Fairs have universally been crowned with success. The first day will be devoted to the reception of articles for premium, and the second to the trial of horses, ploughing matches, feasting and good cheer.

THE WIRE TRIAL. The trial of H. Wirz, the keeper of the Richmond and Andersonville prisons, after an interruption of several days, has again been resumed at Washington. Some revolting disclosures in the treatment of Federal prisoners committed to his charge, have been made.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON. It is stated that President Johnson has introduced into the ever occupied Executive Mansion. His family consists of his wife, a son, a son-in-law, two daughters, and a number of grandchildren. The son-in-law is Judge Patterson, recently elected a senator from Tennessee. Mrs. Patterson, who is to be the lady of the house, was educated at Georgetown, (D. C.) during Mr. Polk's administration, and was then a frequent guest of the family.

THE VACATION is OVER, and our young folks, with their satchels in hand, are again tripping it away to school. They have had a good play, and should now be willing to study a little.

BUSINESS. The visitors to the springs and other summer resorts, we see by our exchanges from the city and elsewhere, are fast returning. This is usually the advent of a revival of business.

GLEASON'S LITERARY COMPANION, still makes its rounds, and claims the companionship of all classes of readers. Its columns are always enriched with the choicest gems of our most eminent writers, which breathe forth a freshness and originality, calculated to please, amuse and instruct, and to draw to its pages all who wish to enjoy a rich literary treat. It is one of the best family papers published—and is afforded at the low price of $3 a year.

DEATH OF A POETESS. Miss Hannah F. Gould, the well known female poet, died at her residence in Newburyport on Tuesday.

THE NEW YORK BANKERS. The financial affairs of Ketchum, Son & Co., the New York bankers, who recently suspended business in consequence of unexpected losses, are put down as follows: Liabilities of the firm $4,000,000; available assets to liquidate the same about $3,000,000. The immediate cause of the failure, is attributed to the abstraction of bonds, and other securities, belonging to the firm, amounting to $2,800,000, by young Ketchum, for private speculation, which proved unsuccessful. The property, it is thought will pay about sixty cents on a dollar; to this arrangement the creditors have all assented.

DOLLAR MONTHLY. The publishers are ever prompt in meeting the wants of their readers; the October number has already made its appearance, and opens with a score of good things; among them, the "Fountain of Valuable," and the "Bastille of Paris," are descriptions of historical events which cannot fail to interest. One dollar fifty cents is the subscription price for a year; making two volumes, of one thousand pages, of the choicest reading matter, finely illustrated.

Elliott, Thomas & Talbot, 63 Congress street, Boston, are the publishers.

New York Correspondence.

Sept. 7th, 1865.

On Saturday afternoon last I left the quiet village of Quincy, in the accommodation train for Newport. On arriving at this fashionable summer resort I spent an hour in examining the new steamer Newport; a magnificent boat recently placed on the route between that city and New York at a cost of six hundred thousand dollars. It is the largest and handsomest boat on the Sound and is the admiration of the travelling community. As soon as the steamer train from Boston arrived, we started for Gotham. After a pleasant night's rest I awoke in the morning and found the steamer sailing up the harbor. On either side, vessels three and four abreast were lying at the wharves, and ferry boats in abundance were plying between Brooklyn and New York. I found the streets of New York very dirty and filthy—many probably not having been swept for weeks—making a very unfavorable impression on strangers, showing a great contrast between them and the streets of Boston. On my arrival Sunday morning we found many of the stores closed, still a large number kept by Jews were open and their proprietors ready for a trade, in hats, caps, boots, shoes, coats, pants or whatever might be desired.

Travelling in New York City and vicinity is very cheap. A friend accompanied me one day in the horse cars to the village of Harlem, which is a part of the city, situated about eight miles from the Battery, which cost us seven cents each; we there went aboard a small steamer, and for ten cents sailed some four miles up the Harlem river, to "High Bridge," or more properly speaking, Aqueduct Bridge. This is a very large structure erected for the purpose of carrying the Croton water (which supplies New York City) across the river. The bridge was commenced in 1839 and completed in 1848. It is fifteen hundred feet long, and one hundred and twenty feet above high water. The massive bridge is built principally of stone, and has many arches. Carriages are not allowed to cross the bridge, but hundreds of pedestrians promenade it daily.

Barum opened his new Museum on Wednesday last. The new building (formerly the Chinese Museum) not only covers more ground, but is in every way better adapted to the necessities of the establishment than the old one. Among the grand sensational novelties which Mr. Barum contemplates introducing, so says a New York paper, is one which he confidently anticipates will appear that for some time back he has been in negotiation with Jeff. Davis for the reversion of the custody of his person after the government have done with him. Davis is fully impressed with the belief, that in the event of his being found guilty he will be let off without punishment. He has been more tormented by the prospect of his having to drag out in poverty and neglect the remainder of his days than by any doubt of the magnanimity of the government. Barum's offer, therefore, comes to him like a gleam of good luck, illuminating the vista of his dreary future. He finds in them not only relief from the anxieties that tormented him but the elegant leisure and notoriety which have become necessities of his existence. He hesitated not a moment in signing the agreement. Barum, therefore, controls for the future, (the government consenting) the time and movements of the ex-President of the C. S. A. The great showman has acted with the liberality which distinguished men should always exhibit towards each other in misfortune. He has undertaken to pay Mr. Davis a salary as large as he received when at the head of the confederacy, together with the expense of his table and of the carriage in which he is to take night airings in the Central Park. Is it to be wondered at that he should have at once closed with this offer?

RETURN OF UNCLAIMED LETTERS. By a recent order of the Post Office Department, postmasters generally are authorized and instructed to receive orders for and have printed stamped envelopes, according, for instance, to the direction below:

"Return to John Smith, No. 1279 Exchange street, Boston, Mass., if not delivered within ten days."

Letters enclosed in these stamped envelopes, if not called for within the time specified, are returned to the person named. The government makes no charge for printing the envelopes, and no order is received for less than one thousand. For this number $34 80 is charged, if they have three cent stamps upon them—$30 for the postage and $4 80 for the envelope. This arrangement went into effect about the 1st of June. Since then several orders have been received at the Boston Post Office. This system will probably lessen the business at the Dead Letter Office to a considerable extent.

Rev. J. C. Fletcher writes from Brazil in answer to inquiries, that emigrants to that country can purchase lands in the most southern and cooler provinces at 44 cents an acre. Sugar, cotton, tobacco and coffee can be raised there. Two of the provinces he names are well adapted to the raising of cattle and sheep. No slave can be imported into the country.

For the Patriot.

An Idea.

People are generally complaining of high prices—especially of the high prices of the necessities of life.

While looking the other day in a street in our neighboring city upon the number of people passing to and fro, the idea occurred to the writer that if a "call" could be made for "men for the country," and that call should be responded to by even one tenth part of the number that responded to the "calls" made within the past four years, that these men might by their labor in agricultural pursuits so increase the product of the land that prices would soon give way.

No need to sleep upon the ground, there are good beds in most farmers' houses. No need of long fasting, farmers are proverbially regular in their habits. No long, tiresome marches this month, and then long tiresome months in camp. The work is steady—and with the improved tools of the day, not hard, compared with former days.

A PLEA FOR THE BIRDS. The Memorial d'Hic publishes a curious piece of statistics to show what serious mischief may be done to agriculture by the destruction of birds' nests. In former times, it says, and before people had begun their war against blackbirds, nightingales, linnets, chaffinches, wrens, &c., there were found on an average about 10,000 nests on every square league of ground. A nest generally contains four eggs, and the parent bird gives every day to each of the little ones 15 caterpillars, making 60; and consume 60 more themselves, making 120 for the daily supply of each nest. Multiply them, 120 by 10,000, and you will have a total of 1,200,000 caterpillars destroyed every day, or 360,000,000 in a single month. Just imagine such a vast number of caterpillars consuming fruits and vegetables—London Morning Star.

Life Insurance.

The advantages afforded by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, are so favorable
that almost any man now in good health can provide $1000 or $2000 ready cash in hand for himself and family at a certain age, or for his family at his decease.

As an investment, also, to those who can make it, nothing is so sure of so large a return
where no misfortune in business can divert it
from the purpose designed.

For instance a man at the age of 35 years,
now in good health, can insure the payment of $2000 to his family at his decease by the payment of $27.50 in cash, and an order on the Company for his dividend of $27.50 when it is made.

Dividends are made annually, and have been 50 per cent. several years, but must soon
increase, as the Company has over $2,000,000 000 net surplus. More than $600,000 was added from the profit of the last year's business.

The interest money alone received by the Company the past year was nearly $400,000.
Morally and legally every man having a family is bound to provide for them every comfort within his means available in case of his decease.

The Ladies are looking into the benefits
which are to be secured to themselves and their little ones by Life Insurance, more earnestly than ever. From the present indications, we would not be surprised if ere long these young ladies should come to a conclusion to make a life policy one condition in the marriage contract. Not to blame all would say, "Served him right."

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRI-TORS OF THE CELEBRATED
MACHINE-GRAINED
Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and
others in want of Painted Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins of the natural grains are molded
from the real wood, from which is impressed
a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface
a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity
and with natural and more artistic beauty, than
can possibly be created by the most skillful
hand in any of the old modes known. It copies nature exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and
more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call
and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Chamber Furniture.

WE are prepared to offer to dealers and others in want of Famed Chamber Furniture an entirely new and novel article in that line. Our work is done by a Patent Machine. By this invention the actual veins
and fibres of the natural grains are molded
from the real wood, from which is impressed
a perfect fac-simile of the original, thus reproducing upon any painted or bare wood surface
a greater variety of grains, with more rapidity
and with natural and more artistic beauty, than
can possibly be created by the most skillful
hand in any of the old modes known. It copies its texture exactly. It grains in oil, thereby giving an extra body of paint, which is not gained in the old method of graining. By this mode we are enabled to sell a handsome and
more durable set of Furniture, and at as low a price as can be bought in the city. Our Machine-grained Furniture, in spite of all opposition, is being rapidly introduced into all the States. Those in want would do well to call
and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

What We Want.

BY B. M. LAWRENCE.

True workers are wanted—the time is at hand,
Predicted by prophets and sages of light;
When Preachers of Progress must boldly demand,
That religion shall blend with reason and right.

True workers are wanted—from selfishness free,
In unity dwelling a brotherly band;
Sage Lawyers of Progress must let the world see,
The might of our motto—"United we Stand."

True workers are wanted—the discords which yield,
Every form of disease for which drugs are vain;
With Doctors of Progress may now all be healed,
By a power divine which comes down from heaven.

True workers are wanted—for warfare shall wage,
Between the old dogmas and truths that are new;
Brave Soldiers of Progress the good must engage,
To stand firm for freedom, and all that is true.

True workers are wanted—while women of worth,
Are moved by a power they cannot restrain;
To rescue earth's millions from bondage of earth,
Bright angels are aiding their rights to obtain.

True workers are wanted—for the time must come,
When passion and mammon their courses have won;
Then Outcasts of Progress will each have a home,
For the rich and the poor will "all become one."

True workers are wanted—the might to sustain,
Though the trust a treacherous kiss may deceive;
The Saviors of Progress have not died in vain, Proud high priests may rejoice but the truth will live.

True workers are wanted—the old wrong must die,
The fetters of fashion shall fall from her slaves;
Fair Freedom of Progress descends from high,
To rescue earth's millions from premature graves.

True workers are wanted—tobacco and rum,
Have robbed men of reason and ruled them too long;
Pure Temples of Progress we each must become,
That vice will diminish and virtue grow strong.

True workers are wanted—the land must be free,
No life is legal by mortal man given;
The Landlords by Progress will soon learn to see,
Land holders can't enter the kingdom of heaven.

True workers are wanted—thou must know,
The highest wisdom to thee it will give;
The Banner of Progress its light will bestow,
To solve thy life's lessons, and learn thee to live.

True workers are wanted—the truths we hold
dear,
As sermons on mountains so wise, great and good;
The Angels of Progress have brought us to light,
True hearts that are yearning for MAN'S BROTHERHOOD.

Scraps.

EARLY USE OF QUILLS IN WRITING. An anecdote relates that Theodor King of the Ostrogoths being so illiterate that he could not write even the initials of his name, was provided with a plate of gold through which letters were cut, and this being placed on the paper, when his signature was required, he traced the letters with a quill.

THE SPEED OF BIRDS. It is said that the speed of swallows, when emigrating, is not less than fifty miles an hour; so that when aided by the wind, they soon reach warmer latitudes. It has been calculated that the swallow can fly at the rate of ninety-two miles an hour, and several other tribes, one hundred and fifty miles an hour.

REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM. A friend who has been afflicted with rheumatism, says that he has received great relief from the use of the following remedy:
Take oakum, picked from new rope, and inclose it in red flannel, and wear it upon the part affected.

PURIFYING CISTERNS. A writer in one of the agricultural papers says the stagnant odorous water in cisterns, which sometimes becomes very annoying, may be remedied in a few hours by putting two pounds of caustic soda in the water.

MANNERS MAKE THE MAN. Manners are of more importance than laws. Upon them, in a great measure, the laws depend. The few touches we have there, now and then;
manners are what vex or soothe, corrupt or purify, exalt or debase, barbarize or refine us;
by a constant, steady, uniform, insensible operation, like that of the air we breathe.

FEAT OF THE WAR OF 1812. John Mann, of Randolph, (Mass.), who died on the 28th ult., drove a four-ox team from Boston to Richmond, (Va.) with a load of domestic goods, when our ports were blockaded by the British in 1812. He was the first ox team ever seen in Richmond.

HAY. It has been ascertained that well cured hay weighed in the field July 20, and then stored in the barn until February 20, had lost 27 1/2 per cent. of its weight. It is, therefore, better to sell hay in the field at fifteen dollars a ton, than from the barn at twenty dollars in midwinter.

Miscellaneous.

The Heroine of the St. Lawrence.

Many years ago when I was so small a boy as hardly to recollect it now, my brother and myself were placed on board one of the St.
Lawrence River steamers as cabin boys and waiters, with a view to become pilots when we were older. That was nearly fifty years ago, and boats were not fitted up in the style they are now, nor were good pilots a thing to be found every day. We had run up and down several times, when one morning, about ten o'clock, we stopped at Brockville to take on board, as usual, a government pilot to guide us down the river. It was late in the season, and we had a strong wind the night before, leaving the river rough, and our pilot had hard work to keep the boat in its proper track, while it brought us into Brockville two hours later than the usual time. The clouds overhead still looked cold, and the wind blew fresh and strong, when making all possible haste, we again put out of the harbor, and were soon bounding on our way.
Throughout the morning I noticed an anxious look on the Captain's face, which bespoke his uneasiness about the final termination of our journey.

We had a good many passengers on board,
and although we usually reached Montreal by four o'clock in the afternoon, we should be delayed till six, if not later. About ten miles this side of Lachine a storm of rain commenced, which rendered it almost impossible to guide the boat at all; while the rapids of that name, the most terrific in the whole river, were yet to be passed. The pilot was the best one on the route, but a man of passionate temper, with a peculiar dogged look. Between him and the ordinary boat pilot there existed an old grudge, which once or twice led to blows, when they came in contact with each other. That morning, when passing one of the higher falls, they stood together at the wheel, when, owing to the strong current of the water, and the almost exhausted strength of him who had guided us all the night, one spoke of the wheel slipped from his hands, and nearly caused an accident of a pretty serious nature.

This annoyed his companion, and hard words passed between them, since which time a sullen silence had been preserved.

When about two miles above the Lachine rapids some of the rigging sloft gave way, and the night pilot mounted the upper deck
with a ladder and attempted to make it fast.
The wind blew fiercely, and while exerting all his strength to stay the mischief, he lost his hold and fell, the ladder coming down directly upon the head of our government aid, wounding him pretty severely. Not pausing to look at the mischief, he seized the unfortunate man, and with almost superhuman strength, lifted him above the boat-railing. The other quickly guessing his meaning, and winding his arms around the neck of his companion, they fell together in the boiling flood below. We lowered the life-boats as quickly as possible; ropes were thrown out, and every effort put forth to save them—but in vain. They rose to the surface of the water still locked in each other's arms,
and then sank from our view forever.

The boat now rapidly rushed on, coming near the frightful rapids, while terror-struck faces were around us, at the thought that no master-hand was near to guide us through the dark passage below. The scene which we had just been called to witness, only made our situation more terrific, while wild and fearful eyes around us, bespoke the agonizing apprehension of the passengers and crew as we went plunging madly to destruction, scarcely half a mile from the gulf, whose dashing waves we could distinctly hear. The Captain had frankly told us of his inability to guide us through the perilous passage, while deck, gangway, and cabin were filled with men, women and children,
some of whom were praying, some weeping, others immensely crazy with an agony too intense for endurance. Women eagerly clutched their children, and husbands pressed their wives to their bosoms with the only hope of dying together. The Captain stood at the wheel, assisted by one of the passengers, vainly endeavoring to hold out to the last,
and guide her till every effort should prove fruitless; while, with strained eyes and looks of despair, they gazed through the almost blinding storm upon the craggy rocks, lifting high their gray, bare heads, out of the water, and upon which they expected every moment to be dashed to pieces.

Just as frenzy had begun to calm down into sober, earnest preparation for the doom which awaited them, there came out of the room a fair young creature, over whose head scarce sixteen summers had passed. She was of medium height, and fair as the lily of her Northern clime. She donned a dress of plain, black stuff, while the coat of one of the deceased pilots was buttoned tightly around her slight form. Her face was ashy pale as she mounted the stairway, and with her hair disheveled by the wind, she exclaimed, in a voice which rung clear as the notes of a bugle above the storm:

"I know something of this Lachine rapid,
and will use my best endeavors to guide you, although we have every thing of wind and water against us. Let two of you who are the strongest and most self-possessed stand by me at the wheel, while the rest invoke His aid who ever stilleth the tempest, to guard our life laden bark safely through the troubled waters."

As if in derision of her matchless courage,
the mad waves dashed higher while the thunder pealed a loud defiance to her words.
With pallid face and lips compressed she looked her station at the wheel, while two powerful men stood by her to aid her as far as possible. With a firm hand she raised the glass and swept the scene before her, then bidding them to have courage, the boat entered upon its fearful course as if conscious of the hand that guided its destiny. Her orders were given in clear, loud tones, while she stood proudly erect, her eyes brightened into a darker blue, till one would have fancied her the ruling spirit of the storm. The water dashed against the side of the boat, crowning her fair head with glittering drops;
yet she stood unbending, while not an eye in all that group but gazed with mingled awe and confidence upon that delicate form.—

Once again the wheel slipped from the grasp of him who held it, but a fair, jeweled hand arrested its progress, and staid the destruction which would otherwise have followed its swerve from duty. Onward sped the noble bark, and when darkness shut the last rock from view, a shout rose high above the storm for her who had so bravely guided us through the shadow of death.

She would receive no thanks for herself,
but bade us give thanks to Him whose voice ruleth the storm; she retired to her stateroom and was lost to view.

Around the cabin table that night about an hour before we entered the harbor of Montreal, we learned her history. She was the daughter of the merchant who owned the line of boats, one of which she had just saved from ruin. Her mother died when she was a child, and her father had yielded to her wishes, and allowed her to accompany him on the boat of which he was Captain. By degrees she became acquainted with every bend in the beautiful river, while calm and storm alike brought scenes of beauty to her eye.

She was now on her way to visit some friends in Quebec, where her father proposed joining her to spend the winter.

A gentleman artist sketched a likeness on a leaf of his portfolio, as she stood at the wheel, wrapped in the pilot's coat, with the glass in her hand; and the full length portrait still graces the gallery of arts in Montreal. Many a rough hand grasped the snowy fingers at parting, and many a blessing crowned her noble head.

A magnificent diamond bracelet, bearing upon an inside plate the name of the vessel and date of the occurrence, was presented to her about a week after her arrival in Quebec, by the passengers who were on board at the time, while loud and triumphant were praises borne to the conduct of that frail but fearless one who had braved the dangers before which stout hearts and strong forms had quailed.

"And what became of her afterward?" I inquired.

"She married an officer in Quebec, and her children still live there. One is a noble boy, or rather man now, and plows the ocean in one of the battle ships of England."

For the Patriot.

Western Correspondence.

ADRIAN, MICHIGAN, SEPT. 5th, 1865.

DEAR PATRIOT: As thoughts of home and absent friends come crowding thick and fast upon me, a desire to communicate some of the affairs and doings of my present abode occurred to me—and thinking, that perhaps, I might interest some of your readers, I concluded to make the attempt, although I am not accustomed to "write for the papers."

As for local news, there seems to be quite a dearth at the present. The excessive heat which we have experienced the past week has been almost intolerable; but, as the farmers observe, "it's good for the corn and potatoes;" so I presume we must come to their conclusion, and accept our destiny, even if it be a molting one.

For the past three weeks, I have been visiting in the country; not the country that we have at home—but real Western farms; here and there a frame house—but the majority built of logs. One can hardly form an impression of the comfort that is to be had in them, unless they judge for themselves by a fair trial. I never passed a week more pleasantly than while stopping in a log house;

plenty of every thing—and with that, contentment.

During my stay a picnic was got up, and I wish some of my little friends could have attended. The Sabbath Schools of three villages united—and each provided their own edibles. I was among the invited guests.

Our party started from the school house, which is used for church, town hall, and other like purposes. At the time specified, we stepped into our carriage, or rather wagon, drawn by four noble horses, gaily decked with flags and green boughs. We headed the procession—and after all were collected,
I was surprised to see the number; where they had all come from, I could not imagine;
for I did not see a half dozen houses within as many miles. But the day passed very pleasantly—and all, though nearly strangers, vied with each other in attention and sociability.

I am pleased with the absence here of reserve and formality, which characterizes our Eastern towns, and the neighborly feeling and desire to be friendly and agreeable, which seems to be the general disposition. But I am straying from my picnic; suffice it to say, that we returned none the worse for our day's adventure; rather fatigued, to be sure, but well satisfied.

Hunting and fishing were in vogue. Parties from the city came out daily; and "Round Lake" is quite a fashionable watering place.
But there are some difficulties in the way of fishing successfully here, as elsewhere. Many a tired angler, has ignobly retreated, after vainly endeavoring to coax the wary inhabitants of the water, and getting in return only a few bites—from mosquitoes—which by the way, are not so agreeable. In company with a cousin, I started one fine morning, very early, having donned a suit for the occasion, and we proceeded, fully determined to come back laden with spoils. After rowing some time, we anchored, and commenced operations. Pretty soon I found my line being carried away very suddenly, and I could not draw it back. "Hold on tight, you've got a big black bass!" were the words that greeted my ears; and by our united exertions we finally captured his majesty. I was delighted, but the thought broke my hook, or swallowed it, and I thought my sport was ended. Not quite, I found, for another was produced, and I, at my leisure examined the prize. It was one of the largest to be found in the Lake; weighed five pounds and a half. We remained until nearly dinner time; were very successful—then warm and hungry, started back for home and rest; upon our arrival,
I looked into the glass, and—what a looking viage. The sun had been experimenting upon my complexion; and had completely burned me. But I made the best of it; and although I still bear the marks, I comfort myself with the reflection that it might have been worse.

But as all things must end, so did my visit;
and I came back to this pleasant little city, refreshed in body and mind; ready to commence anew with the cares and business of the day.

The all absorbing theme here is the State Fair, which takes place the 19th, 20th, 21st and 22d of September. Every one is disposed to do his best on the occasion, and competition will be brisk. The grounds are splendidly laid out, and ample accommodations have been prepared. The citizens are anticipating a rich harvest from the visitors, and every thing seems to be rapidly rising. The farmers demand a high price; and if not complied with, keep back; so by that means, staple articles of food are at a pretty high standard at present; but this state of affairs cannot last long; for the crops are so extensive, and the season has been so favorable, that a decline is inevitable. Owing to the quantity of rain in July, the farmers made considerable ado about "grown wheat;" but careful inquiries have led me to form the conclusion, that it was not as bad as predicted.

No serious damage done, and the wheat crops are usually excellent. Potatoes are almost a drug in the market just now; they are daily refused. Sorghum is doing well, and so far buckwheat; so you can see we don't mean to starve in "this land of plenty."

A plan is on foot to build a monument in commemoration of the Michigan soldiers. It will probably be located in Detroit. At a meeting held there last week, the result was very satisfactory. Subscriptions were numerous, and some of them very generous.

As a general thing, the health of the city is very good. Some diseases peculiar to the climate are having a run; but nothing very serious. I miss the nice cool sea breezes, and the rocks and hills of New England.

But I must close this prolix epistle, and perhaps some other time I may try my hand again. Until then, adieu.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Sept. 16th, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

The New Penn's Hill Road.

On petition of Edward Potter and others, the County Commissioners have laid out a new highway between Quincy and Braintree. According to a plan and directions sent to the Selectmen of Quincy, we gather the following:—

It is to commence thirty-one feet southerly from the southeasterly corner of the Adams' old dwelling house, on the westerly side of Franklin street in Quincy, at land of Charles F. Adams; thence running south three hundred and two feet on land of said Adams; thence in the same course ten hundred and fifty-two feet on land of Harvey Field; thence in the same course one hundred and thirty-one feet on land of Charles F. Adams; thence running by an arc seven hundred and seventy-six feet on land of Charles F. Adams; thence running southerly on land of Charles F. Adams two hundred and twenty-nine feet; thence the same course eighteen hundred and fifty-eight feet on land of the heirs of Thomas B. Adams; thence the same course two hundred and fifteen feet on land of the heirs of Samuel Capen to or near the junction of Washington street and Granite street in Braintree.

The width of the road is to be sixty feet throughout; the travel to be worked thirty-six feet.

The whole is to be built according to plan, in a workmanlike manner, and said road to be well graded, dry and convenient for public travel, and is to be constructed in all respects to the reasonable acceptance of the County Commissioners. And it is determined by the County Commissioners that the inhabitants of the town of Quincy and Braintree, do severally within one year complete such portion of said highway as are within the limits of their respective towns.

The proprietors of land over which said highway is laid shall have the right to take off timber, wood and trees, and remove buildings, walls and fences, from said land, any time before the fifth day of October next. The Commissioners have determined the damages, occasioned by laying out said highway, as follows:—

To Charles F. Adams $700. To Thomas Adams guardian of the estate of Harvey Field $1500. To the heirs of Thomas Adams $500. To Widow Sarah B. C. Capen $75. To the heirs of Samuel Capen and Sarah B. C. Capen $125. Said sums are to be paid out of the County Treasury when the land over which said highway is laid shall have been entered upon and possession taken for the purpose of constructing the same.

INSTALLATION. On Sunday evening last, a large audience was present at the installation of Rev. S. T. Aldrich, as pastor of the Universalist church in this town. Rev. Dr. Miner, President of Tufts College, presided the sermon, and showed how pervasions in theology came from misconceptions of nature and a defective moral sense. The various interpretations of words, and understanding of language, arose from the temperaments and training of individuals. The idea of justice and right are fearfully perverted as shown in the apparently honest adherence to the late rebellion by professed Christian men, North and South.

The preacher also enlarged on the worldliness, ambition and cupidity of our day, which indicated a low tone of moral sentiment, and exhorted pastor and people to stand steadfast in the truth as it is in Jesus. The discourse was an hour in length, and though unwritten, was delivered with ease and elegance.

Rev. Mr. Chamber of Stoughton, gave the Charge and Right Hand of Fellowship, and Rev. Mr. Ballou of Boston, the Address to the People, both of whom offered admirable remarks. The singing by the Choir was excellent.

FALL GOODS. There is now a good opportunity offered our citizens to procure their fall clothing at reasonable prices. Mr. Dinegan as our readers will perceive by our advertising columns, has just received a very large stock of goods, of all shades and qualities, which he is prepared to make in his neat and skillful manner at low prices. Gents wishing nice, fashionable garments will find that Mr. Dinegan can make them to their taste. A good fit and the latest styles, can always be found at this store.

ACCIDENT. Mr. Joseph W. Lombard, of this town broke one of his ribs on Thursday last week. He was at the time fixing a window curtain, his foot slipped and he fell against the counter. We are happy to say, however, that he has so far recovered as to be able to attend to business.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, SEPT. 11, 1865.

To the Editor of the Patriot:—

As the first anniversary of the WEYMOUTH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY comes off in a few days, with unusual prestige of success, we deem it pertinent, under the circumstances, to introduce to your readers, by the popular President of said Society, some twenty-two years since, a robust, active and energetic young man, from Canada, came to dwell with us. For some score of months, a boot-crimper; next, unaided—solitary and alone—cartailed by want of capital, he became a manufacturer, and by early rising and midnight toil, self-denial and hard knocks—he turned out one case per day. On the streets he is often seen with sole-leather upon his back and boots upon his arm. Slowly and gradually he rises—advances, ascends. Selects the best stock the market affords; employs the most artistic and tasteful mechanics, and ere long, is known in Boston, as one of the most model boot manufacturers in Norfolk County, as his old patrons and customers, Messrs. Alexander Strong & Co., Pearl street, Boston, will abundantly testify.

Some ten years since, he erected in the heart of our village a manufacturing warehouse, which surpassed in dimensions, symmetry and magnificence of exterior, any in this locality. Five years since he erected a palatial palace on our Village Square—his residence—stately and gorgeous enough for the Tycoon of Japan, and of splendor and attractions sufficient to charm any crown prince of Asia or Europe. In the year (A. D.) 1864, his Internal Revenue Income was some thirty-one thousand dollars ($31,000). Without further prelude, flanked by such progressive influences, we appear upon the rostrum and introduce

JOHN S. FOGG, Esq.

President of the Weymouth Ag. Society. President Fogg in person is about five feet ten inches—neither stout or slim—but compact and well built; has the air and presence of a gentleman; features handsome—his eyes are blue, and as unsearchable as the III. Napoleon; age about forty-four.

Whatever Mr. F. touches in the financial world, there is success certain to perch. Our Village looms up in cottages and stores, through his indefatigable exertions and influence. Charitable, and a true Christian, he seeks to make his friends and neighbors participants of the munificent store whereat Providence has installed him as steward.

At the approaching Fair, whoever may have occasion to approach President Fogg, may be assured of courteous attention. Our photographic miniatures will continue. KEOKUCK.

PANORAMA. The "Great Washington Panorama of the War," is to be exhibited at the Town Hall, in this place, on Monday and Tuesday evenings next. These series of paintings come to us with the highest commendations of the public press of the Western States, where they have been exhibited to large audiences. By to course of reading can a knowledge of the events of the war be so readily gained as by an examination of these gorgeous pictures, which are fraught with peculiar interest, evincing pleasant and thrilling events connected with the life of the soldier, and the impression they leave on the mind are more lasting. The lecture which accompanies the exhibition is alone worth the price of admission. The success of such an entertainment depends much upon the manner in which it is conducted. This audience must not be wearied by long and tedious details, and this fact is happily kept in view by the lecturer, Mr. O. S. NIXE, who is a young man of good address, and a pleasant speaker. The opening scene, gives a beautiful and truthful view of Charleston. The view of Fort Sumter at sunset, and the evacuation of Fort Moultrie by Gen. Anderson and his brave band, is said to be particularly fine. We have not space to mention the many fine views in this series of paintings, but would advise all to go and see for themselves.

AN ENTERTAINMENT will be given on Tuesday afternoon especially for children, and by no course of study, can a child obtain so clear an idea of the rebellion, as by witnessing this series of pictures of our battlefields.

HINGHAM CATTLE SHOW. Many of our citizens have in former years called upon us to learn the time of the Hingham Exhibition; this year they will be saved that trouble, as they can find full particulars advertised in our columns. The fairs at Hingham have been so well conducted, that those in attendance have spoken highly in their praise, and from all appearances the one now announced will equal if not surpass any in former times. Let those who can attend, and they will be well satisfied that their time and money have been well spent.

A RARE TREAT. Fruit in this vicinity is very scarce. Seldom have we seen or had less than this season. A rich treat, was ours, however, one day the present week. Mr. Henry Littlefield left a basket of choice pears and apples at our door; for which we cannot help returning our thanks; for they filled the hearts of our little ones with joy, and the whole house rung with gladness. Such benefactors are rare, and are deserving our feeble thanks.

A HORSE belonging to Capt. Lewis Bass died suddenly on Tuesday last. Mr. Bass was going to the Point with a lot of hay, and when nearly opposite Mr. Abercrombie's store his horse stopped, and after a moment's rest, he started, went to the top of the hill, when he fell dead.

HOW THE MONEY COMES IN. The receipts of Internal Revenue, on Monday reached the enormous sum of four millions, two hundred thousand dollars, exceeding by seventeen hundred and sixty thousand dollars the aggregate of any previous day. Such a rush of greenbacks, after the favorable statement of the public debt just put forth by the Secretary, will be the cause of universal content, his much-talked-of National Bankruptcy in charge, now is the time to make it manifest.—North Bridgewater Gazette.

The Trial of Wirz.

The trial of the infamous wretch who presided over and revelled in the horrors of the prison pen at Andersonville, drags its slow and weary length along, revealing scenes of brutality and revolting cruelty, which find their fitting parallel in the inhuman barbarities practiced amid the persecutions of other centuries. The evidence already in, is sufficiently overwhelming to send the criminal to a gallows a dozen times, and the court would not sit another day, were it not for the purpose of the Government to reveal to the world the atrocious and diabolical spirit and policy of the men with whom we have been contending during the past four years, and especially to show that the starving of our prisoners was a deliberate scheme, which had the assent of the highest Confederate authorities.

The testimony of an ex-Confederate Military Inspector, Col. Chandler, presented last Saturday is most conclusive on this, and prove that while Wirz gave full play to his fiendish natures, Jeff. Davis, Lee and the other chief spirits of the rebellion, gave their entire sanction to all the heinous devices which were contrived to outrage and torture their wretched victims. They were repeatedly informed by their own officers of the frightful mortality among the inmates of the prison, of the neglect of the sick and dying, and of the daily mockery of their sufferings and of the abusive treatment of the living and dead. So horror struck was Col. Chandler with what he saw within the stockade that he did not hesitate to plead urgently, on his own behalf, for a change in the administration of the prison. What was the result? Wirz, the very hell-hound of Andersonville, was promoted to the supervision of all the prisons in the Confederacy.—N. Bridgewater Gazette.

DELEGATES TO REPUBLICAN CONVENTIONS. At a meeting of the Republicans of Quincy, held at the Lyceum Room, on Monday eve, last, the following persons were elected to attend the Conventions named:—

State Convention. Francis M. Johnson, Henry H. Faxon, Charles Marsh, William S. Morton, Jacob F. Eaton, Joseph W. Robertson, Henry Barker.

Norfolk County Convention. Whitcomb Porter, E. Granville Pratt, Charles A. Howland, John Hardwick, John Glover, Edmund B. Taylor, Edwin B. Pratt.

BARGAINS! In these times when high prices appears to be the general rule, it is pleasing to know that there is one place where articles are sold cheap. It will certainly give one pleasure to read the advertisement of Mr. Lombard in another column. The prices are so low, compared with those asked by most dealers, that we are afraid his stock will be disposed of before many will have an opportunity of buying. All-wool socks only 40 cents? Why, we inquired the prices in the city the other day, and they asked sixty-five, and all other things in the same proportion.

PRESENTATION. It appears by the following interesting notice, which we copy from the Hingham Journal, that our townsman Mr. Cass, has been presented with a substantial present which he in our estimation richly deserved:—

As the "Rose Standish" was plunging her way through the blue waters on Thursday last week, on her first trip towards the "Hub," having on board as usual, quite a large party of "heavy men," they proceeded to surround Mr. Cass, the Clerk of the boat. They ordered him to "stand," and seeing no way of escape, he at once stood still as a mic. One of the party, W. F. Davis, Esq., then advanced, and presenting—not a pistol—but a 7-30 U. S. Bond, of the value of $100, urged it upon the acceptance of Mr. Cass, on a very neat and appropriate speech. Mr. Cass entered into "bond" to keep the "piece" of paper with which he had been invested, and expressed his determination in a few well chosen remarks as follows:—

GENTLEMEN:—I am surprised, and am sorry to say I am wholly unprepared for this occasion. Gentlemen, if my conduct as Clerk of this steamer has been satisfactory to you, to the travelling community and to my employers, I am highly pleased, and the present bestowed upon me will long be remembered and duly appreciated. Gentlemen you will please accept my sincere thanks.

The secret of this whole matter is that Mr. Cass has a host of friends, and during the past season, by his urbanity of manners and gentlemanly attentions, he has greatly increased the number of those who appreciate his services and desired to make an expression of that appreciation in some tangible form.

TEMPERANCE. The meeting of the citizens called last week by L. S. Richards to inaugurate some movements in the cause of Temperance, chose a Committee to whom the whole matter was referred. The meeting adjourned to meet at the Lyceum Hall next Tuesday evening at 7 1/2 o'clock to hear the report of the Committee. It is hoped that all interested in the cause will be present, for business of importance will come before the meeting.

SUDDEN DEATH. The sudden death of Mr. Truman A. Huntress, on Saturday morning last, threw a gloom over our quiet village. It appears that he went to his barn, which is only a few rods from the house, to feed his horse, and started to return; when about half way to the house he fell, and without uttering a single word, almost instantly expired. Mr. Huntress has been troubled with the cholera morbus, the past summer, but had recovered and expressed to his brother the day before his death that he felt better than he had for many months. He has lived at Hough's Neck for many years, and is widely known in this and the adjoining towns. He leaves a large and pleasant family and many relatives to mourn their sudden bereavement.

SCHOOL TEACHERS. Mr. A. B. Adams, formerly of the Adams School, in this town, has been promoted as Principal of the High School, and Mr. J. W. Armstrong, recently from one of the Milford Schools, has been elected to the vacancy in the Adams Grammar.

Mr. C. W. Carter, who was elected Principal of the Washington Grammar School, near the close of the last term, still remains, and Miss Dora A. French, late of the Crane School, has been placed in the Washington Grammar, as Assistant in place of Miss Lizzie R. Clements, resigned. Mrs. Smith of Germantown, has been placed in charge of the Crane School. Mr. W. E. Eaton is Principal of the Coddington School, and Miss Emma A. French, formerly from the Washington Primary No. 2, has succeeded Miss Louisa Burrell as Assistant in the Coddington Grammar—Miss Burrell having resigned during the summer vacation. The vacancy in the Washington Primary No. 2, has been filled by Miss Susie G. Baxter, formerly of the same school. The vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss M. A. Davis in Willard Primary, No. 3, has been filled by Miss Eliza Sheehan. Mr. E. P. Howe, late of our High School, has received an appointment to the High School, at Jamaica Plain, in place of Mr. Hagar, resigned—and has entered upon his duties.

Up to this hour on Friday 10-40, no resignation has been received except as above.

JURORS. Messrs. Abram M. Alpough and John A. Billings have been drawn as Petit Jurors for the September term of the Superior Court for Norfolk County.

NEWSPAPERS. The Abington Standard, having been purchased by Messrs. Thomas S. Pratt & Co., has been removed to East Abington and enlarged. In its introductory on the 2d inst, it says, "that the people of Abington have failed to give the paper that editorial pecuniary support, that its value as an educational institution deserves." We doubt not but this is too true. We are sorry to say that it is too often the case that a country newspaper is obliged to stop its publication for want of that generous patronage which the rural publications must have from their townspeople, to enable them to stand against the constant pressure from without. An instance of this kind has occurred in this County the past week. The Stoughton Sentinel, a fine local hebdomad, has stopped for want of support, which could easily have been given by its citizens. They will soon begin to feel its loss, and wish that they had bestowed more favors upon it.

We are happy to say that the citizens of Quincy do encourage their local paper. Never, we believe, has the PATRIOT received a better patronage than at the present time. For which they have our thanks, and we hope from week to week in a measure to repay.—The result of our labors we leave with our patrons to decide.

His store, next to Metropolitan Hotel, is 25 feet front, 220 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. KIDNEYS, CATARRH OF THE BLADDER, STRANGURY OR PAINFUL URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful of a Helmbold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Coleus and Juniper Berries, selected with great care, prepared in water and according to rules of PHARMACY AND CHEMISTRY.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded.

A DIURETIC Is that which acts upon the kidneys.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu ACTS GENTLY.

Is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its actions.

FOR THE SATISFACTION OF ALL,
See Medical Properties contained in Dispensary of the U. S., of which the following is a correct copy:

"Buchu.—Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Mucoid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Diseases of the Prostate, and Retention or the Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy."

FROM THE LARGEST MANUFACTURING CHEMIST IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. Wm. WEIGHTMAN,
(Firm of Powers & Weightman.)
Manufacturing Chemist
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]
We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 28 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT

To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.
The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE, PURE and MAJESTIC—Bearing Faith for its Basis, Indubitable for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

New Skirt For 1865-6.

The Great Invention of the Age in HOOP SKIRTS,
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent Duplex
Elliptic or Double Spring Skirt.

THIS INVENTION consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the stiffest, elastic, durable and durable spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be given to use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin dress.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great Convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt, will at once understand that she will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The House corrects two 2 ply double twisted thread, and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Skirt Hoop Skirts. The bottom rods on every skirt are also Double Steel and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, steps, &c., &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegantly corded tapes, and are the best quality in every port, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical of all kinds of PRODUCTIVE LABOR.

WEST'S, BRADLEY & CAREY, Proprietors of the invention, and Sole Manufacturers, 57 Chambers, and 79 & 81 Reade Sts., New York.

For sale in all first-class stores in this City, and throughout the United States and Canada, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America, and the West Indies.

For the Patriot.

Monatiquot.

BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

Monatiquot! Thy winding stream

That through green meadows makes its way,

Reflecting Sol's enlivening beam

And sparkling beneath his fervid ray.

I love on thy green banks to roam

Where once the Indian mother smiled,

And happy in her quiet home

To ramble with her tawny child.

In thee she bathed the forest born,

And taught him how to swim the wave,

The wild flowers from thy banks were torn

For wreaths to deck her infant brave.

The light came on thy fair breast

She launched it, and taught the sturdy lad,

With straining arms, and swelling chest,

To paddle like his warrior dad.

And here the Indian taught his son

The berries in his net to snare,

Or with his bow through woods to run,

To slay the wolf, and hunt the bear.

The white flat found his hatchet then,

The bone his hook, the reed his dart,

And often won amidst the glen

Are found the relics of his art.

And here upon thy quiet breast

The sea bird shelter'd from the storm;

And here she built her sedgy nest

And came her frosted wings to warm.

How changed the scene—Monatiquot!

The teeming waters roll the same,

But vanish'd now the Indian's boat,

And far away the Indian's game.

The white man tramples on the graves

Where warriors laid their Chiefdom down,

And o'er thy gently gliding waves

The railroad and the factory frown.

Scraps.

JUMBLES. One pound of butter, one pound of sugar, four eggs, one pound and a quarter of flour, half a gill of rose-water. Beat the butter and sugar to a cream, whisk the eggs, and add them to the butter and sugar, then the rose-water; lastly, stir the flour lightly through the other ingredients, roll it into round slips the thickness of your little finger. Form it into rings the size of half a dollar. Place them on tins about an inch apart, and bake them in a moderate oven. When cold, sift sugar over them.

A French editor gives the following amusing description of the effect of an advertisement: "The first time a man sees an advertisement he takes no notice of it; the second time he looks at the name; the third time he looks at the price; the fourth time he reads it; the fifth time he speaks of it to his wife; the sixth time he buys."

The more we know the less we say. At death a man arrives at immense knowledge, and doesn't open his mouth.

Ma said an intelligent, thoughtful boy, I don't think Solomon ever knew as they say he was. Why, my dear, what could he have not that into your head? Asked the astonished mother. Because the Bible says he slept with his fathers, and I think that if he had been so rich, he would have had a bed of his own.

Mrs. Maria Child is severe on ladies' fashions. In a letter to the Independent, she speaks of girls with "hennepin" in their skirts, and a rimpled pair of straw with a feather in it on their heads! The waterfalls, she says, looks like a cabbage in a net tricked out with beads and wampum.

SUICIDE. "Susan," said a faithless swain to his betrothed, I have changed my mind; I shan't marry you. Villainous, wasn't it? And what do you think was the result? — Suey sighed!

HUBBUB. I love my dear hub though I do have a row with him now and then, said Mrs. Sharp to a lady friend. Yes, my dear, was the reply, you love your hub, no doubt, but you are always ready for another hub hub.

It is not a matter of epicureanism says Henry Ward Beecher, that a man should be dainty concerning the food he eats. On the contrary, we hold that a civilized man ought to be civilized in his cookery.

One of our contemporaries says he got a horse given to him. He forgot to add the word whipping.

A crusty old bachelor says that Adam's wife was called Eve because, when she appeared, one man's day's happiness was drawing to a close.

A lady that would please herself in marrying was warned that her intended, although a good sort of a man, was very singular. Well, replied the lady, if he is very much unlike other men, he is much more likely to be a good husband.

Unquestionably deafness is generally a calamity. In the company of some people, however, it is decidedly a blessing.

There are people who are disagreeable with great merit; and others who, with great faults are agreeable.

A lady who sings in the choir of a certain church in New York, having been laughed at for marrying a very small man, remarked that she had always found short men the easiest to get along with.

An exchange says—If you would keep your children in health, give them plenty of fresh air. This is all well enough; but now-a-days children put on so many airs of their own that it is almost impossible to give them a fresh one every day.

Constant occupation prevents temptation.

Miscellaneous.

My Plain Lover.

I was a coquette. Many a lover's heart I had lacerated by refusing his offer of marriage, after I had lured him on to declaration. My last victim was James Fraser. He was a tall, awkward, homely, ungainly man, but his heart was true as steel. I respected him highly, and felt pained when I witnessed his anguish at my rejection of him. But the fact was, I had fallen in love with Captain Elliot, who had been unremitting in his devotion to me.

Mr. James Fraser warned me against Elliot; but I charged him with jealousy, and took his warning as an insult.

A few days afterward Elliot and I were engaged, and my dream of romantic love seemed to be in a fair way of realization. I had a week of happiness. Many have not got so much in a life-time. Many awake from the bright, short dream, to find themselves in life long darkness and bondage, from which there is no escape. Thank God, I was not to be so miserable as they.

My mother was a widow in good circumstances, but having very bad health. She was also of an easy, listless, credulous nature, hating trouble, and willing to take things just as they presented themselves. She therefore made no inquiries about Captain Elliot, but fondly believed that in as much as he was Captain he must necessarily be a man of honor and also, especially as he had served in the Crimean and India wars, and won medals. His regiment was quartered in our neighborhood, and he had the reputation of being one of the wealthiest, as he was certainly one of the handsomest officers in it.

I remember well the day we became engaged. He was on duty, but managed to ride over to our house in his uniform, and while we were walking in the garden he made the tender avowal. I referred him to mamma. He hastened to her, returned in three minutes, and led me into her presence to receive the assurance that the maternal consent had been readily and freely given.

My dear mother hated trouble, and she moreover loved me tenderly, so she was well pleased to find a husband presenting himself in a form and manner so eligible for her beloved and only daughter.

Well, a week passed delightfully, as I have said, and at the expiration of this time there might have been seen an equestrian party winding through Devonshire woods and quiet country roads. Elliot and I led the cavalcade, I rode my beautiful brown Bess. Captain Elliot was mounted on a handsome black horse that had been sent him from London. Following us were a boy of girls and their cavaliers; among them was tall, awkward and silent James Fraser. His presence had marred all the pleasure of my ride, and I was glad to be in advance of them all, that I might not see him.

And so we rode on through the woods, and I listened, well pleased, to the low but animated words of the gallant Elliot, who wished himself a knight, and me a "fair lady" of the olden time, that he might go forth to do battle and compel all men to recognize the claims of his peerless love. Very eloquent he spoke of the inspiration of love, of the brave deeds and perilous exploits it had promoted, wishing again and again that he might proclaim and maintain his love before the world. It pleased me to listen to this and believe it sincere, though I surely had no wish to put my lover to such a test.

A shot suddenly rang through the woods, and a wounded bird, darting past, fluttered and fell at the feet of brown Bess. With a bound and a spring that nearly unseated me, she was off.

Struggling to regain my seat, I had no power to check her, and even as she flew the fear and madness of the moment grew upon her. I could only cling breathlessly to the mane and bridle, and wonder helplessly where this mad gallop was to end. She swerved from a passing wagon, and turned into a path that led to the river. In the sudden movement the reins had been torn from my hands and I could not restrain them. I clung to the mane and closed my eyes, that I might not behold the fate that awaited me. How sweet was life in those precious moments that I thought my last! How all its joys, its affection, its last crowning love rose up before me! I thought of the pang that would rend Elliot's heart, as he saw me lying mangled and dead; and then the thought would come, if he were pursuing and trying to save me, even as he said at the risk of life and limb.

I remembered no more. I felt a sudden shock, a fearful rushing through the air, and knew no more until days afterward, I woke to a faint remembrance of life in my chamber at home.

I never saw Captain Elliot again. The last words I ever heard from him were those of kindly daring. The last action of his life in connection with mine, was to follow in the train of frightened youths who rode after me, contemplate this disaster from afar, and as soon as he saw me lifted from the shallow bed of the river, into which I had been thrown when my frightened horse stopped suddenly on its banks, to ride hastily off. That evening he sent to make enquiries, and learning that I was severely, but it was hoped not fatally injured, he henceforth contented himself with such tidings of my condition and improvement as might be gained from mere rumor. At last it was known that I would never recover certainly from the effect of my injury, and that day Capt. Elliot departed suddenly from the neighborhood. He made no attempt to see me, nor sent me any farewell. When I was once more abroad, and beginning, though with much unalloyed bitterness, to learn the lesson of patience and resignation that awaited me, I received a letter from him, in which he merely said that he presumed my own judgment had taught me that, in my altered circumstances, our engagement must come to an end! But to satisfy his own sense of honor he wrote to say that while entertaining the highest respect for me, he desired a formal renunciation of my claim. Writing on the bottom of the letter, "LET IT BE AS YOU WISH," I returned it to him at once, and thus ended my brief dream of a romantic wedding.

I have heard ere this of Elliot's cowardly conduct on that day; but now it first became known to me that he had rescued me from that imminent death. And then I learned that James Fraser, his arm already broken by the jerk with which brown Bess tore away from him as he caught at her bridle, had ridden after me, and been the first to lift me from the water. Many times daily he made inquiries concerning me; his had been the hand that had sent the rare flowers that had decked my room; it was the lips that breathed words of comfort and hope to my poor mother; his were the books that I read during the days of convalescence; and his, now, the arm that supported me as slowly and painfully I paced the garden walks.

I have been his wife for many a year. I have forgotten that he is not handsome—or rather he is so beautiful to me, because I see his grand and loving spirit shining through his plain features, and animating his awkward figure. I have long since laid aside as utterly untenable, my theory that beautiful spirits dwell only in lovely bodies. It may be a providential compensation that in denying physical perfection, the soul is not dwarfed or marred by petty vanity, or love of the world's praise.—English Magazine.

For the Patriot.

United States Steamer New Hampshire

PORT ROYAL, (S. C.), SEPT. 13, 1865.

Dear Patriot: It is now a long time since you and I have had a talk together; but better late than never; and so now, I will try and give you what little news there is in the sunny South, as it is called; and sunny it is—at least you would think so, if you had been here the last two or three months; it was not enough to roast the —, (well I won't say who, for fear some of your genteel readers will be shocked at my being so profane.) Only think of it; seven hundred of us poor mortals penned up here, under a burning sun, in one of Uncle Sam's wooden worlds, and two hundred and fifty of them gentlemen of color! Is it not enough to try men's souls? The Lord knows, it has tried the fat out of our bodies long ago—and what we are kept here for, nobody can tell; for there is nothing for us to do, and the expenses of this ship on the government are between $900 and $1,000 a day. Here is a dead waste of money, for which some one ought to be accountable; not only is it a great expense, but it will be the ruin of many young men; who will acquire habits, by such an indolent life, that will unfit them for work in all future time. I will give you the routine of our daily duty on board of the Line-of-Battle Ship New Hampshire: First, all hands are piped at five o'clock in the morning; if it is Monday, we wash clothes and then scrub the deck down with sand; every thing is got through with at seven bells—that is, half past seven—when all hands are piped to breakfast; after that, we have till half past eight to smoke—then all hands are piped again to clean 'bright work,' fore and aft; the next thing is to 'spread awning,' and at two bells, (or nine o'clock,) the drum beats all hands to quarters, which lasts about fifteen minutes, and then a retreat is beat, and there is nothing more to do till dinner time, except boat duty, which is light; at twelve o'clock, we have dinner, and from that time, until half past five you can do as you please, when we have supper; after supper, the boats are hoisted up, the awnings are furled, and then all hands go to quarters again; at sundown, 'old glory' is lowered from the peak to be run up again the next morning; at eight o'clock you hear the shrill whistle of the boatswain and his Mates, 'All hands stand by your hammocks!' they collect four or five deep along the rail; the men in the netting call out the number of the hammock that comes first, passes it to its owner, and away he goes and slings it up in his billy, eighteen inches by eight feet; in this, our floating home, the watch is set at eight o'clock, and all hands smoke, talk, sing songs, dance, and do just what they please until nine o'clock, when all hands are piped down, lights put out, and every thing that was five minutes before like a pantomime, is as still as a Quaker meeting. I have thus given

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, Sept. 23d, 1865.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

PLEASANT INTERRUPTION. We learn this morning that our village pastors were busy at work in his study last Saturday night finishing a discourse for the next morning, he was interrupted by a parishioner, who, apologizing for calling at that hour, left a large basket of most luscious fruit, with an envelope. On opening it, there was found a fifty dollar greenback, from the donor of the fruit.

We congratulate friend T., in receiving continued proofs of appreciation, sympathy and regard from those to whom he ministers. Such things we are glad to record, for they do credit not merely to parish and pastor, but to the town, which is honored by the presence of such large hearted givers.

Since penning the above, we regret to learn of the death of a little boy of Mr. T's. Thus are mingled the lights and shadows of life. Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth.

FIRE AT EAST BRAINTREE. About half past nine o'clock, on Tuesday evening last, a fire broke out in the building known as the Carpet Factory, occupied by H. A. Stetson, as a manufacturer of machinery; also by Mr. Armstrong, last manufacturer. The building was entirely consumed with all the machinery; also the building adjoining, known as Welsh's Mills, containing machinery for the manufacture of chocolate, and a grain mill, and one other building used for the manufacture of willow baskets. A two story dwelling house on the opposite side of the street, formerly belonging to the estate of Amos Stetson was partially burned. An engine from Weymouth, and three from this town, and rendered timely assistance in preventing an extensive conflagration.

Mr. Stetson had a partial insurance on his machinery of about $4000. The buildings were owned by E. L. White, on which there is no insurance. No insurance on the dwelling house. The loss in buildings is estimated at about $10,000; on machinery of Mr. Stetson about $8000 or $10,000; the damage to the house $500.

Fire in the Woods. Braintree has also suffered severely with other places, north of Boston—Malden, South Reading, Lynn, Wilmington and Tewksbury—by the destructive fires which have been raging in the woods of late. In the vicinity of Great Pond, in that town, a hundred acres have been burnt over; and so threatening had become its ravages on Sunday last, about four hundred persons were engaged battling the element—their encroachments had endangered the dwelling houses.

UNDER THE HAMMER. That beautiful residence, lately improved by Mr. Caleb Packard, on Hancock street, in this town, will be sold at public auction on Tuesday next. We have but few locations which offers such rare inducements for those who wish to secure a pleasant and desirable residence. Centrally situated, on the main thoroughfare with dwelling, in good repair; out-houses, never failing spring of water, and garden under the best of culture. Read the advertisement, and don't fail to visit the sale.

ADVERTISING. This branch of our business is unusually good, at this time, as our readers will undoubtedly notice by the crowded state of our columns. The first two columns on the next page, which our patrons should read carefully, we received from our new and popular advertising agents, Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. of Boston. This firm is composed of energetic young men, who from former experience and determined zeal, appear to be expressly adapted to the business. Although it is but six or eight months since we became acquainted with them, we have received large collections of advertisements at good prices, and what is best of all we have received the cash promptly according to agreement. For this reason we hope our friends will continue their career as prosperously as they have commenced, and that we shall come in for a share of their favors.

CUSHMAN & BROOKS—90, 92, and 94, Tremont street, Boston, have opened the Fall campaign, in the dry goods line, with an enterprise and rush, unprecedented in the annals of the business world. Their store is daily thronged with eager customers, who have been attracted thither, by the large and excellent quality of the goods, and the unusually low prices at which they are offered. Reader, when you visit the city give them a call.

REMARKABLE CASE. A case of death recently occurred at Bellevue Hospital, where a man had swallowed his teeth, and on making a post mortem examination the physician, found the masticators deeply imbedded in the heart. The heart and teeth may be seen preserved in alcohol, at Bellevue.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS. Don't fail to read the advertisement of Messrs. Shepard, Norwell & Co., 22 and 24 Winter street, Boston. Their stock of goods is large; selected with care from the most approved manufacturing sources; of the latest patterns, and have been purchased on such terms, as enables them to sell at greatly reduced prices. We say don't fail to read the advertisement, and make a visit.

Photographic Miniatures—No. 2.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, SEPT. 19th, 1865.

We wish it understood, that when we cater for the public, our delineations will be of those who have procured a front seat in the amphitheatre of popular esteem, by sterling, redeeming traits of character. In this progressive age, handsome, isolated persons, scarce ever attract the attention of the million. Those who are pronounced pretty, elegant, fine-looking, are individuals of calibre, who have made their official mark, more in tip-top circles, and have accumulated an independent fortune. We desire not to be anti-mathematized as a blockhead for expending upon phiz's that are not intrenched in mortgages and railroad scrip, and scientifically barraged with Government "740s." We deem these introductory remarks to the point, inasmuch as in our extended acquaintance in old Norfolk, we fail to remember a case where an individual with ample means—subsequently shattered—pennilessly spending—gone under, whose photograph would bring on "exchange" not over eight cents on the hundred—and the hammer would fly rapid at such knock-down figure! Now permit us to pass from this Village to East Weymouth, where the Weymouth Iron Company's vast operations are situated.

Hush! behold that venerable and portly gentleman, just emerging from the Post office. Observe the erect form, the elastic step and dignified air, of one of the "Old School." Three score and ten, points him out as an old landmark. Seventy years ends the probation of most men; but this person presents front as one just in manhood's prime. Forty years since, we saw him at a regimental parade, acting as Quarter Master, and pronounced him the best horseman on the field.

When it required moral courage to be a Democrat, he with four others in Weymouth, cast their votes for General Andrew Jackson. He is rather opposed to "isms;" had no charity for the old anti-masonic tornado, that was said to turn over and bury under, poor Morgan of New York; could not see the numerous revelations illustrated by Rev. Moses Thatcher, in any "taking" light; looked with a suspicious eye upon the "Free Soil" party; never was a convert to Charles Sumner's theory, "north of Mason and Dixon's line;" eschewed Parker Pillsbury's utopian ethics, during the Know Nothing whirlpool, and "Dark Lantern" advent; we are pretty certain he never trusted out and jumped into that popular Juggernaut of the moment—"the Wagon."

Having now brought our photographic apparatus into position, with a suitable focus, we have the pleasure to announce our distinguished fellow-townsmen,

LOVELL BICKNELL, Esq.

When the war with England, in 1812, was declared, our friend served as volunteer to defend the country's flag. For a series of years was Treasurer of our Town, the duties of which he performed with marked ability, and to general satisfaction. During the administration of President Pierce and Buchanan, was Deputy Inspector of Quincy and Dorchester; and at the present time, holds the responsible and honorable office of M. W. Grand Steward of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Massachusetts Free and Accepted Masons, in this town. During the early and active period of life, Mr. Bicknell had an eye to a "rainy day," and advanced years; was vigilant, industrious, economical and far-seeing—the result of which was, as he cornered his half a century, in a pecuniary point of view, was "independent." His land titles, scattered all around us, do not happen to produce much income to the United States Revenue, never fear, his sagacity will weather all monied shoals and rapids; whatever may befall others, and will vouch, that under any and all circumstances, Lovell Bicknell, will continue opulent, act the gentleman; and when his heart daily conveys his worldly possessions will turn up emphatically "solid." Our Photographs will continue.

OBITUARY.

Passed on from her home and that of her daughter, (Mrs. A. J. Kenison, of Quincy), Mrs. Sally Kidder, aged eighty-nine years and ten months. Retaining her faculties almost to the last hour, her lamp of life went out to be re-lighted on "the other side" by angel hands. For more than half a century a Unitarian, she maintained an abiding faith in the quickening presence of the departed, and her last years were without a cloud of doubt. Her memory, active and vigorous to the last, was rich with reminiscences of the past. An aunt of our late Vice President, Hannibal Hamlin, she possessed the stern, inflexible loyalty and patriotism that has always been a heritage of the family—and her brilliant eye would flash with new fire as she read of the movements of our brave boys in the field, while her hands were ever active for their comfort. Even, gentle, calm in her disposition, age only seemed to increase her goodness, and as she passed down into "the stream of death," the dark waves rolled over her, and the affectionate mother, the true counsellor, the valued friend, and the aged patriot, was hid from sight. But we know she still lives; her youth renewed, to become one of the many glorified ones, who, though invisible, are ever guiding us through our earthly journey.

On to the beauty of the summer land, From the worn casket did she pass away; Surrounded by a bright Angelic hand, Her spirit parted from its useless clay.

The clouds rolled back, the farther shore appeared, Its banks all blooming with celestial flowers; She crossed, she lauded—all that she had feared, Fled like the shadows after morning showers.

NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO. Doubtless there is no better place in Boston to obtain Carpets of domestic or foreign manufacture than at the New England Carpet Company's store 75 Hanover street. Every steamer brings them the latest designs from Europe. Our friends will do well to give them a call. See their advertisement.

DAVID WOODBURN. An interesting narrative of a Mountain Missionary, published by Henry Hoyt, in elegant style, with spirited engravings, and calculated to inspire the young with a desire to do good.

An "Unadulterated" Grocer.

To the Editor of the Patriot:—

Will you or any friend have the kindness to direct me to a grocery in town where rum or its most disrespectful associates—strong beer, ale and the like—is not peddled out, (or given away, as some style it,) to the ruin of our young men about us. That the stores in general of late have become in part "groceries," is a fact I deem too true. Let the parent, brother and sister, all, having the slightest interest in the welfare of our young, awake,—for to purchase the smallest trifle in the line of groceries, or sought else, from stores dealing in the slightest degree in intoxicating drinks, is keeping alive the groggeries, and every purchaser stands responsible before God and man for the intemperance resulting from the sale of liquors therefrom. Let every one look about and patronize no longer any store dealing in ale, strong beer, rum, whiskey and the like. Temperance is the demand of the hour; and as soon allow your child to frequent a "low grogery" as a grocery where "fomented liquors" of any description are found. The more respectable the place, the greater the temptation.

LINEN MANUFACTURES. From the census report of manufactures now approaching completion the following extracts are taken, exhibiting the total manufacture of linen goods in the United States for 1860; 10 establishments; $638,797, capital invested; cost of raw material, $39,770; hands employed, 528—251 male, 277 female; cost of labor, $113,048; annual value of product $639,570.

MICHIGAN claims to be the second State in the Union in the amount of iron ore. Two hundred and forty-eight thousand tons of iron ore were shipped from Marquette the past year, and 25,000 tons retained for the use of furnaces located in that region—making a total production of 273,000 tons of ore—an annual amount only exceeded by Pennsylvania in 1860—that State having mined 1,706,476 tons; Ohio then ranking next, and mining 238,790.

ENTERPRISE IN THE SOUTHWEST. One of the largest and finest rolling machines in the United States is already in operation in Chattanooga, Tennessee, which is daily turning out the best quality of railroad iron. A blast furnace is in contemplation, and a copper rolling mill of $1,000,000 capital is soon to be put up in the neighborhood. A large blast furnace will be commenced in the fall on the Tennessee River above Chattanooga. Several coal companies are only waiting for machinery to commence operations in different localities around the place. The coal mines are being reworked and new ones opened.

CHOICE MEMORIALS. Attractive reminiscences of childhood, youth, college and professional life, with incidents of travel, suggestive of striking and profitable truth. 13 Cornhill, Boston.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The population of Massachusetts has increased about 45,000 in the past five years.

Com. Rogers says that with the Dictator and Araratian, he can thrash the whole British fleet.

The Suez canal was opened on the 17th ult., and a vessel laden with coal passed from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea.

The ship Art Union, built at Newburyport in 1850, has been purchased by the State government for a school ship, to be used in connection with the Massachusetts, which is full to overflowing.

In about two-thirds of the towns of Massachusetts there has been a decrease in population since 1860. It is only in manufacturing places that there has been an increase.

The shoe business of New England numbers 75,000 employees, and the value of its productions is rising $54,000,000.

Immense droves of beavers are now on their way from Texas to New Orleans.

The government intends soon to publish a record of the names of all Union prisoners who died at Andersonville, together with their regiments and place of residence. The number is upward of fourteen thousand.

In Louisiana, the rice crop is being rapidly cut and prepared for market.

There has not been so severe a drought in Mass., as at the present, since 1854.

A foreigner who saw the parade of the 54th (colored) regiment on Boston Common, recently, was heard to innocently remark that the men appeared a good deal sunburnt.

Oysters are to be very plenty this season, and the reason is, that along the shores of Virginia are vast beds of the bivalves that have lain undisturbed during the last four years, with nothing to do but to grow large and get fat.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful a day of Helmbold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs and Juniper Berries, selected with great care, prepared in vacuo and according to rules of PHARMACY AND CHEMISTRY.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded.

A DIURETIC

Is that which acts upon the kidneys.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu ACTS GENTLY.

Is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its actions.

FOR THE SATISFACTION OF ALL.
See Medical Properties contained in Dispensary of the U. S., of which the following is a correct copy:

"Buchu. — Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Discharges of the Prostate, and Retention of the Urine, from its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy."

FROM THE LARGEST

MANUFACTURING CHEMIST

IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business, where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise.

Wm. WEIGHTMAN,
(Firm of Powers & Weightman.)
Manufacturing Chemist
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phila. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]
We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 28 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT

To various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates.
The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE, PURE AND MAJESTIC—having Fact for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

New Skirt For 1865-6.

The Great Invention of the Age in
HOOP SKIRTS,
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent Duplex
Elliptic (or Double) Spring Skirt.

THIS INVENTION Consists of Duplex Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable fabric ever used. They resist bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful Shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, or Promenades and House Dresses, as the Skirt is folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin dress.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great Convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread, and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom buttons on every Skirt are also Double Steel, twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the ribs when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c. &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegantly corded tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

WEST'S, BRADLEY & CAREY, Proprietors of the United States, Canada, and Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America, and the West Indies.

For sale in all first class stores in this City, and throughout the United States, Canada, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America, and the West Indies.

The Singer SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A Family Sewing Machine

Is fast gaining a world wide reputation.

It is beyond doubt the
BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felling, Tucking, Gathering, Gussing, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for a great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known. Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and chastest manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.

It is absolutely necessary to see the Family Machine in operation, so as to judge of its great capacity and beauty.

It is fast becoming as popular for family sewing as our Manufacturing machines are for manufacturing purposes.

The Branch Offices are well supplied with silk, twist, thread, needles, oil, &c., of the very best quality.

Quincy, Sept. 16.

On the Death of a Husband.

Husband dear, thou'st gone forever
From this world of sin and woe;
Gone where death no more can sever
Hearts, whose fond affections glow.

Yes, thou'st gone! I am not dreaming,
Time and absence prove it true;
Yet, within my heart is burning
Hope, to meet again with you.

Yes, thou'st gone—thy conflict's ended—
No more pain, or toil, or care;
No more fears with hopes are blended,
Gone, the Christian's rest to share.

Gone from earth, so fraught with sadness,
Where dark waters flow amain;
Where few hearts are cheered with gladness,
Free from sorrow, grief and pain.

Now I am sad and lone and weary—
Of my earthly all bereft;
Yet the blessed hope doth cheer me,
I the loved one all shall greet.

When this earth is robed in beauty,
And the holy ransomed throng
Shall unite, to sing thy praises,
I, too, hope to join the song.

Then, dear husband, I shall greet thee,
Not in death, and grave clothes drear;
Not in sorrow shall I meet thee,
As when last I saw thee here.

But with glory all resplendent,
Thou wilt then arise and shine;
With the ransomed, glorious millions,
And in sweetest concert join.

In scribbling praise and glory
To the Father and the Son,
And the blessed Holy Spirit,
One in Three, and Three in One.

MARRIAGE AND WHISKEY.—A Highlander, under the influence of whiskey, once went on a very hot day to be married. The services having commenced, the bridegroom was asked—

"Are you willing to take this woman to be your wedded wife?"

"Yes," he replied, wiping large drops of perspiration from his steaming face, "yes if I can get a drink!"

A few days since, one of the learned counsels deemed it necessary to shake the testimony of a Mr. Butterworth by impeaching his veracity. The witness being called to the stand, the lawyer commenced—

"Do you know Mr. Butterworth?"

"Yes."

"What is Butterworth?"

"Two and twopence a pound, although I have paid as high as—"

"That will do, sir. You can take your seat."

Little Eddie's mamma gave a tea party;
among other guests present was a clergyman,
who at table was requested to ask a blessing.
Bending over his plate he performed the service, little E. — hearing the Divine blessing invoked for the first time. As soon as the amen was said, little Eddie rose and shouted

"Mamma, mamma, what did Mr. M — say all that to his plate for?"

We may silently observe things we need not speak of; in this way we learn many a profitable lesson without the cost of imprudence.

Some person whom Quin had offended, met him one day in the street, and stopped him.

"Mr. Quin," said he, "I understand that you have been taking away my name."

"What have I said, sir?" "You called me a scoundrel, sir!" "Oh, then keep your name, sir," said Quin, and walked on.

The horse is not an affectionate animal;
he doesn't seem to care about his master much.

We have seen one attached to a wagon,
though.

It is a question for the consideration of the medical faculty, whether patients suffering from a deficiency of iron in the blood, might not be benefited by the use of steel punches
as an habitual beverage.

The Boston Post thinks that Mr. and Mrs.
Wales are giving themselves "hears."

RELIABLE. Female correspondents in Europe are thought more reliable, as they never miss the mails, and are never tight except when lazed.

A lady owes it to herself to be well-informed on almost every subject; she need not be profoundly learned on any—except those which belong to the domestic circle,
and she can hardly know too much about them.

A man should know when to laugh or smile in company. It shows much more stupidity to be grave at a good thing than to be merry at a bad one.

A Temperance lecturer, descending on the essential purifying qualities of cold water remarked, as a knock-down argument:—"When the world had become so corrupt that the Lord would do nothing with it. He was obliged to give it a thorough washing in cold water. Yes, replied a toper, but it killed every darned critter on the face of the earth."

PATRIOT SUPPLEMENT.

Working his Passage.

A tall, awkward looking chap, just from the Green Mountains of Vermont, came on board one of the splendid North river boats at Albany. His curiosity was greatly excited at once, and he commenced "peekin," as he called it, into every nook and corner on the boat. The captain's office, the engine room, the barber's shop—all underwent his inspection; and then he went on deck, and stood looking in amazement at the lever beams, the chimneys, and the various "fixin's," till at last he caught sight of the bell. This was the crowning wonder, and he viewed it from every position, walked round it, got down upon his knees and looked up into it and exclaimed:

Wall, raly, this beats the bell on our meetin' house, a great sight!

By this time the attention of the captain and several of the passengers was attracted to this genius.

How much would you ask to let a feller ring this bell?

You may ring it for a dollar, sir, said the captain.

Wall, it's a bargain, all fair, and agreed, and no backin' eout.

It's a bargain, sir, said the captain.

Our hero went deliberately and brought a seat, and took hold of the bell rope, and having arranged everything to his satisfaction, commenced ringing, slowly at first, and gradually faster and faster, till everybody on board thought the boat was on fire, and rushed on deck, screaming with alarm.

There stood the captain, and there sat the "Varmounter," ringing away, first slow, then fast, and then two or three taps at a time. The passengers began to expostulate; the captain said it was a bargain. But the passengers became urgent that the "infernal clangor" should be stopped. All the while there sat our hero undisturbed, ringing away more ways than a cockney chime-ringer ever dreamed of. At last the captain began to think it time to stop the simpleton; but his answer was,—

A fair bargain, and no backin' eout, and he rang away for dear life.

Well, said the captain, what will you take to stop?

Well, cap'n I guess I shan't lose nothin', if I take five dollars and a free passage to New York, but not one cent less.

Well, walk down to the office, and get your money and passage ticket, said the captain.

A woman on Long Island gave the census man the names of twenty of her children, and said she couldn't just remember the names of two or three more.

EARLY MARRIAGE. As a specimen of early marriage, none is more remarkable than that of one of the Holkar sons at Indore lately. The bridegroom was only six years old, and the bride three years old. The head ornaments of one of the elephants was made of pure gold. A salute of two hundred and ten guns announced to the people the union of the happy pair.

SCHOOL BOOKS. Among the school books used in France, is one entirely unknown in this country, consisting of fac similes of letters written by business men, eminent people, etc., intended to teach children the art of reading writing, of which there is almost universal ignorance in America. Every variety of hand is selected, beginning with the best, and gradually proceeding to scrawls, which puzzle printers and "blind letters" men in post offices.

LARGEST

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmhold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. Wm. WEIGHTMAN,

Manufacturing Chemists

Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[From the Phil'a. Evening Bulletin, March 10th.]

We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmhold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 23 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,

And knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE, PURE and MAJESTIC—having Fact for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

MANUFACTURE OF BOOTS AND SHOES IN NEW ENGLAND. The last census reports that in the manufacture of boots and shoes, New England is represented in the following proportion;—Number of establishments, 2,438; capital invested, $10,977,113; cost of material used, $27,189,916; male hands employed, 52,007, and females, 22,282; cost of labor, $17,499,136; annual value of products $54,815,948.

A CURIOUS SNAKE was recently found at Lee, says the Springfield Republican. It was nearly four feet in length, about the size of a man's finger, and shaped like a whip lash; and on close examination the whole body was found to be composed of small worms about half an inch in length, with large black heads and semi-transparent body. On separating them into fragments they would immediately reform into the snake shape and crawl slowly off. One or two other similar snakes have recently been seen in that vicinity.

A LARGE LIVING CARGO. Fifteen hundred and twenty-six steerage passengers came across the Atlantic on the British steamship Queen, which arrived at New York recently. This is the largest cargo of humanity that has ever arrived in any one vessel.

NEGRO ENTERPRISE. The Vicksburg Journal says that nearly ten thousand acres of land have been leased to colored people, in the vicinity of that place the present year, and that most of it is in process of successful cultivation. There are about two hundred and fifty or three hundred of these lessors, most of whom have formed partnerships with Northern men, to procure the means of carrying on their enterprises.

The Leavenworth Conservative proclaims a great dearth of competent teachers in that city and throughout Kansas, and calls upon eastern teachers to move to the rescue.

REVENUE. The revenue derived by the government from all sources, last month, was about fifty-seven million of dollars. The receipts from customs amounted to twelve millions. The internal revenue now brings in about two millions per day, and on Monday of last week the receipts from this source were four millions.

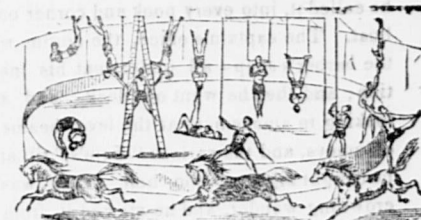

Strikes being in fashion in France, the bachelors of Marseilles, to the number of four thousand, between the ages of twenty and thirty, have held a meeting, and entered into an agreement not to ask any young woman in marriage until a complete change shall have taken place in the manner of living and particularly in the dress of the fairer sex. The young men insist on greater simplicity in every respect, and a return of the more modest habits of a century or two ago.

A VERY STRANGE FISH. A Queensland paper says that a large fish called a grouper, was caught off the coast there. It was 7 feet long, 6 feet in circumference at its thickest part, and its head weighed eighty pounds. When opened there were found in its stomach two broken bottles, a quart pot, a preserved milk tin, seven medium-sized crabs, a piece of earthenware triangular in shape and three inches in length, encrusted with oyster shells, a sheep's head, some mutton rind, beef bones, and some loose oyster shells. The spine of a skate was imbedded in the grouper's liver.

Reports received at the Department of Agriculture warrant the statement that the potato crop this season will be one of the largest ever grown in this country.

The height of an iceberg seen late in July, could not have been less than 90 feet, and as there are 8 feet of ice below the water for every foot above, total height must have been 810 feet.

GRAND FREE EXHIBITION

OF THE GYMNASTIC MIRACLE

AERONAUTIC-OSCILLATION!

FLYING IN THE AIR!

BY THE INTREPID PANCRASTIST,

SIGNOR FERDINAND,

The "Wonder of the World!"

THIS extraordinary gratuitous display of Sensational Gymnastic Feats will afford lovers of the marvelous a treat EXTRA-VA-GANTLY SUPERB and INE-FA-BLY BEAU-TIFUL. The peerless Gymnast, in the execution of this has attained the highest sublimities of his vocation; and his UNEXAMPLED DARING and SKILL form a Picturesque Spectacle—the most magnificent ever given to the human eye to contemplate.

Messrs. STONE & ROSSTON designed this remarkable Free Exhibition of Aerial Flights for a GRAND FEATURE of their Interior Entertainments; but the erection of the pillars and platform occupied so much valuable time, and required so great a space, that it was found very inconvenient and quite impossible to give it to their patrons without a long interruption of the brilliant Arenic Performances, and notwithstanding the enormous expense attending the production of this Gymnastic Marvel, Messrs. STONE & ROSSTON prefer to present it as a FREE OFFERING, rather than the Public should be deprived of witnessing the most gigantic and absolutely startling demonstrations of physical vigor and agility ever displayed by man.

The exciting nature of these prodigious and novel Flights absorbed the attention and amazed the inhabitants of the principal cities of Europe, and the Press of that country teemed with laudatory eulogiums of the unequalled feats accomplished by Sig. FERDINAND.

This splendid GRATUITOUS EXHIBITION will be given adjacent to the

STONE & ROSSTON CIRCUS PAVILION,

AT ONE O'CLOCK, P. M.

Upon a huge Platform, placed on elevated pillars, enabling every spectator to obtain a complete view of this TRIUMPH OF MODERN GYMNASTICS. The public can gain only a very faint idea from the various Pictorial Scenes of this stupendous display of its immense attractiveness and hazardous nature. It is THE CULMINATING GLORY OF PANCRASTIC ART and THE grandest success of progressive talent known in history, yielding a distinction subordinate to no event recorded in the annals of Popular Amusement.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Ladies and persons naturally nervous and timid, entertaining fears of accident to the fearless Pancratist, are respectfully informed that, in case SIG. FERDINAND should fall from his giddy eminence, novel arrangements are made by the use of india-rubber mattresses and springs in the platform to save him from serious injury. But he generally succeeds, with a polished grace and lustrous skill that ignores all peril, in achieving results undeniably amazing, causing the fascinated populace to applaud with enthusiastic frenzy and colossal shouts of admiration, so intensely captivating are the singular and majestic performances of

THE CHAMPION OF ATHLETES!
